FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1905.

Next Tuesday is St. Valentine's day and if you get a bad one blame your only enemy.

Extremely cold and stormy weather has prevailed throughout the east during the past few weeks and Southern Oregon has been basking in balmy sunshine and enjoying warm spring showers such as Oregon is noted for. The farmers are plowing these days in the valley and on the warm hillsides and it is hard to imagine that it is midwinter.

An editor can give columns in his paper in praise of persons of his town and nobody even takes the trouble to say thank you, says the North Yamhill Record. The editor consoles himself by thinking the articles are overlooked. But let him say something that is not pleasing to certain individuals or make a mistake, and he soon finds out that his "flings" are not overlooked. An editor has to resort to some means to ascertain whether or not his paper is read. So watch out!

The latest wonder in the agricultural world is the seedless, coreless apple that has been successfully propagated by Mr. John F. Spencer, of Grand Junction, Colorado, who believed that the seedless apple, like the seedless orange, was a possibility. After several years' experimental research he succeeded in producing five trees that bore seedless, coreless, wormless apples, and from this little group there has budded two thousand more trees, which at present constitute the entire seedless apple stock of the world; and from these two-thousand trees all the rest of the world must be supplied. Wonders will certainly never cease in this progressive age of the old world.

There are a great many people in Jacksonville and surrounding country who make a practice of sending to catalogue houses or patronizing the merchants of neighboring towns for even the common necessities of life which could just as well be purchased of our home merchants who keep a good line of nearly everything at reasonable prices. This is a mighty bad habit and one that should be broken off by all loyal Jacksonville people who really desire to see their town go ahead and become once more one of the foremost of the Southern Oregon towns. We do not refer to instances where it is found necessary to purchase goods elsewhere, our merchants not having the same in stock. You should at least make sure that you can't get of the home merchant what you want before buying it elsewhere and not make it a practice of doing all of your buying away from home. Stand up for Jacksonville, first, last and all the time.

MONEY FOR BOYS

Boys—at least one in every town, large or small, in the Oregon country—can earn money, and earn it easily, selling THE DAILY and SUNDAY JOURNAL. No money is required to make the start, and only the ability to rustle is needed. To any boy who will try the plan we will send 10 copies of THE SUNDAY JOURNAL, to be sold at 8 cents each. After that all papers that are required will be delivered to him by mail or express at wholesale prices, and he becomes a "full fledged newspaper dealer." You can start any time, and if successful handling THE SUNDAY JOURNAL, then orders can be sent in for THE DAILY JOURNAL.

THE SUNDAY JOURNAL contains ALL THE NEWS, and many special features of interest to men and women, and, besides, has all the children's comic pages carried by the big Sunday papers of the east.

JOURNAL boys are making as much as $2 to $5 a week in small towns in the northwest. Don't you want to try it?

$25 IN CASH
