FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1905.

George Washington had a birthday this week and the court house and post-office rested.

There is but a small per cent of the people who know how to make a success of their own business, but they all know how to run a newspaper.

The Ashland Tribune recently installed a Simplex typesetting machine which now takes the place of the compositors who have drawn their pay regularly since that paper was established. This adds much to the appearance of the paper and is doubtless somewhat of a saving to the proprietor, yet it is hard on the compositors who are thus thrown out of employment and must try their hand at something else.

Lawrence T. Harris, of Eugene, one of the most promising young attorneys in the state of Oregon and one of the finest young men of our acquaintance, was recently appointed District Judge by the governor for the new judicial district formed by the recent legislature and of which Lane county is a part. Governor Chamberlain's selection was a good one and demonstrates the fact that he is our governor first and a democrat afterwards.

A bill has recently been introduced into the Iowa legislature prohibiting the Christian Science healers from practicing in that state and making the offence punishable by imprisonment, but the advocates of the bill have agreed to withdraw it providing the Christian Science healers succeed in curing the old door-keeper of deafness with which he has been afflicted for so many years, thus demonstrating to the incredulous that there is something in it. And now, should the old man never regain his hearing, what will be the result? The Iowa legislature must be "from Missouri."

SOUTH AFRICAN BOERS LEAVING THEIR HOMES.

Events that happen in our own time need the perspective of years before their historical worth can be appraised and appreciated. Some day history will make of the extinguished Transvaal republic a second Poland, but we who know of the heroic and unequal struggle of the Boers to save their fatherland from extinction only through the press dispatches at the time, can hardly even yet grasp the full tragic significance of that war and its aftermath.

The news from Pretoria that the Boers are irreconcilable, so far as British dominion of their country is concerned, and will soon practically all have moved away and left the land to the conqueror will strike the sympathetic thinker as a story of a nation's fate sadder than the exile of the Acadians. The Pretoria dispatch in question says most of the remaining Boers in the Transvaal are shortly to begin a grand trek across the land of veldt and kopje to find asylum in German East Africa. The commission sent by the recent Boer convention at Pretoria to view the grassy uplands between Mounts Killimanjaro and Meru has returned and formally reported them admirably adapted to cattle grazing and agriculture. The new country, which is practically terra incognita to white eyes, contains between 50,000 and 60,000 square miles, or from 32,000,000 to 38,000,000 acres. This will give the herd-keeping burghers, with their patriarchal habits, plenty of room and solitude, and it is understood that Emperor William, of Germany, whose famous telegram to Paul Kruger indicated that he took a lively interest in these admirable Dutch folk is making special effort for them. Boer families have emigrated to the United States, Mexico, South America and other parts of the world.

No doubt the decimated and impoverished Boers would be happier where they can lead their old life out of sight of the hated British gold hunter and Tommy Atkins, too, but they will not be happy long in German Africa if the new land they move upon hides in its arid breast the gold and diamonds that proved the curse of their old home and brought to pass the destruction of the Transvaal republic. The Germans are quite so lustful of gold and diamonds as the British, and once let them find them and there will be an end of the Boer dream of peace.

The departure of the Boers from the Transvaal and Orange river colonies will leave the new governmental owners free to work out their plans unhampered by a disloyal and unassimilative element of population, and England will be able to reimburse herself many times over for the treasure spent in conquering the Boer patriots in arms. England has her booty in the shape of the rich mines of the Rand, and she will work every vein to exhaustion.

But the moral of it all is full of unspeakable pathos. Some day the muse of history will brush away a tear to write the tragic story of the dead South African republic—if Clio feels what she writes. —Astorian.

CROUP

Begins with the symptoms of a common cold, there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, (the child will cry for it) and at the first sign of a croupy cough apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment to the throat.

Mrs. A. Vliet New Castle, Colo., writes March 19, 1902: I think Ballard's Horehound Syrup a wonderful remedy, and so pleasant to take. Sold by City Drug Store.

STARTLING BUT TRUE.

People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have warded it off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia." W. D. Wilcox, Logan New York. Sold by City Drug Store.

THE SUNDAY JOURNAL

MONEY FOR BOYS

Boys—at least one in every town, large or small, in the Oregon country—can earn money, and earn it easily, selling THE DAILY and SUNDAY JOURNAL. No money is required to make the start, and only the ability to rustle is needed. To any boy who will try the plan we will send 10 copies of THE SUNDAY JOURNAL, to be sold at 8 cents each. After that all papers that are required will be delivered to him by mail or express at wholesale prices, and he becomes a "full fledged newspaper dealer." You can start any time, and if successful handling THE SUNDAY JOURNAL, then orders can be sent in for THE DAILY JOURNAL.

THE SUNDAY JOURNAL contains ALL THE NEWS, and many special features of interest to men and women, and besides, has all the children's comic pages carried by the big Sunday papers of the east.

JOURNAL boys are making as much as $5 to $6 a week in small towns in the northwest. Don't you want to try it?

$25 IN CASH

as extra prizes, will be divided monthly, in addition to the regular profits, among those JOURNAL boys who do the best work—who increase their orders the largest percentage. In this way the boys in the smaller places will have as much chance to earn this extra money as those in the larger towns. Get in THE JOURNAL procession: THE JOURNAL is a winner!
