electing nigger delegates in the southern states to give to the administration of postal business the careful and efficient consideration its importance demands. A telegram to the Oregon delegation would produce results and bring about a change that is imperatively needed in the mail schedule for this county.

Fred Liskey, charged with mayhem on the person of Ira McCall, was released from custody of the sheriff yesterday on $300 bail, furnished by his mother and brother. The case will be tried at the regular June term of court.

Auction

Auction. To the public: Being desirous of closing out at once, we have decided to dispose of the balance of our stock at auction. The sale will commence Friday, January 31st, with J. N. Dennis as auctioneer, and will continue until every article in our store is sold, including fixtures, etc. This is not a bargain sale nor a mere reduction in prices. It is the offering of our stock to the people of Klamath county at your prices. Remember the big auction sale starts on Friday, January 31. Goods sold in lots also. Private sales every forenoon. Auction sale every afternoon and evening. L. JACOBS & Co.

Furs Wanted

Her Topic of Conversation

He says he does not like Marie. And on that fact such changes rings. I've heard him often say that she forever talks of foolish things. He's not so wrong, it seems to me. Though other subjects she doth skim, When or I meet the fair Marie she talks at wondrous length of him! —Brooklyn Life.

"The Store That Saves You Money"

"HELLO! MAY I ASK A QUESTION?" this daily died away when a tall Irishman in the rear of the crowd yelled: "Hello! May I ask a question?" "Certainly!" responded Mr. Landis. "What in thunder have you got to say about the places the Democrats came from when you have a lobster who hails from Oyster Bay?"

Why He Climbed

Max Goldberger, author of "The Land of Unlimited Possibility," is a firm believer in America's future and has modeled all Germany to his opinion. "Mr. Goldberger made a thorough study of our dodging his visit here," said a Milwaukee banker. "At a dinner that I gave him he expressed the greatest confidence in our financial, social and political stability.

"He said that everything pointed upward, and the signs of prosperity were as easy to read in America as the signs of something else were easy to read in Heinz Wienerschnitzel.

"Heinz Wienerschnitzel, he explained, with a smile, was awakened by his wife in the dead of night.

"Heinz! Heinz!" she whimpered, "wake up! There's a burglar downstairs! I hear him!"

"Heinz was out of bed in an instant. "Hist!" he said.

"And slipping on shoes and trousers, he stole softly from the room.

"Some time passed. The wife, listening intently, heard nothing. Anxiously overcame her at last. She crept to the stairway, leaned over the balustrade and called:

"Heinz!" "Well, what is it?" her husband's voice replied. It came not from below, but from above.

"What on earth," said Mrs. Wienerschnitzel, "are you doing up in the attic?"

"Why," said Heinz, "didn't you say the burglar was downstairs?"

Phonographic Proof

Lincoln Beachy, the well known balloonist, was talking in Toledo about Henry Farman's recent marvelous flight with his aeroplane in Paris.

"The aeroplane will some day take the air," he said. "Modern invention makes this probable, particularly the invention of motors that are at once very light and very powerful.

"What a useful thing modern invention is," said Mr. Beachy, with a laugh. "I know, for instance, a Toledo man who started the phonograph going suddenly the other night.

"His wife looked up from her book. "What kind of a record is that?" she cried. "It sounds like a dog fight in a sawmill."

"It is your own record," said the husband triumphantly. "I set the machine on you last night in your sleep. Now maybe you'll believe that you snore."

The Political Orator

There is little telling what some men will say when making nonflattering speeches in political conventions, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Bill Irwin, chief clerk in the secretary of state's office, who knows more anecdotes probably than any other man in the state, tells one concerning a nominating speech by George Klempeter, an attorney at Carrollton.

"Gentlemen," he began, "Alexander the Great conquered the world and wept because there were no more worlds to conquer. Caesar had his Brutus and Charles I. his Cromwell. Napoleon overran Europe, remapped Asia, divorced his beloved wife, Josephine, and died an exile upon the lonely shores of St. Helena. Therefore, gentlemen, I nominate Sam Clark for prosecuting attorney."

Don'ts For Stout Women

Don't wear checks, large plaids or polka dots.
Don't expect to look slim in white or light colored gowns.
Don't wear frills.
Don't wear short skirts.
Don't expect to look comfortable in tight shoes.
Don't imagine that you can wear high, close collars and have a good complexion.

Save Salt Bags

Save all your salt bags. They not only make nice jelly bags, but several put together and stitched on the machine make good dish cloths or wash cloths.

Keep a pair of scissors and a waste paper receptacle in the kitchen; also a box for pieces of string. They will prove their use very frequently.

A good method of preventing pen nibs from corroding is that of placing a few nails in the inkstand before this is filled with ink.
