Fighting for Freedom

cue on the floor, the end of one being stained with blood.

R. G. Gillett, special policeman, testified that he was called to the Klamath bar on the evening of the fight, that Corpron told him that Johnson had hit Schmidt and that he and Petersteiner chased him out of the saloon and that Johnson ran into a tree and injured his eye. Petersteiner corroborated Corpron's statement. He also testified as to seeing the broken cue and its condition. He and Jameson placed Johnson in jail, had no trouble with him, continually complaining of his head.

On cross examination he stated that Corpron and Rich had bathed Johnson's head and bandaged his eye.

Mrs. Viola Page was called next and testified she was on her way to the Presbyterian church, she heard a scuffling, the door opened and three men came out, heard one man say "Run over a man will you," another say "I'll stab him" the third say, "Don't you've knocked his eye out." Then she saw someone pull a man onto the sidewalk, the later protesting against returning to the saloon and saying "You've killed me."

Jesse Hart was recalled. Testified that in conversation with Corpron Xmas morning he stated that he thought Johnson had either fallen on the cue or jabbed into it as he was going out of the door.

E. E. Jamison, policeman, was the next witness, testified he was notified that there had been a fight at the Klamath Bar; he went there and saw a broken cue; took Johnson to jail on orders of Dr. Maston, who stated that was the place for him; Johnson complained continually about his head.

Cross examination was very brief and not important.

C. C. Low was next called and testified as to receiving the broken cue and turning it over to the sheriff.

While others are exerting every possible influence to land the Federal plum he holds, United States Attorney Bristol continues to appear in the Federal Court as Government Prosecutor and to look after such business as properly requires his official attention. In other words, he is attending to his official duties and quietly observing the fray participated in by those who are scrambling to succeed him in the office. In the meantime Mr. Bristol is following his "invariable rule" and declines to discuss any phase of the scramble among the contestants for the office, although intimating that he may have a statement to make when his successor has been nominated, confirmed and has qualified for the place.

In order that the war department may fully appreciate the strong sentiment of the people of the entire Pacific coast in favor of permanently maintaining a fleet of at least six modern battleships in these waters, various commercial bodies of Oregon, Washington and this state will be asked to pass resolutions to that effect and forward copies to the authorities at Washington.
