SHORT STORIES.

Of all callings the writer's shows the greatest mortality, 23 per 1,000.

The Connecticut supreme court will shortly put gowns on the reporter and clerk.

Shower baths will be used by the Cleveland police to sober up drunks before trial.

Between Jan. 1 and Nov. 1, 1907, the fire loss of the United States was $180,705,300 compared with $424,400,200 in the same ten months of 1906.

A father and mother left their baby on a street car in Cleveland. The child rode to the end of the line and was cared for till the frantic father arrived.

The Lackawanna Railroad company has issued an order to the clerks at Scranton, Pa., that they must not sneeze on their books, as tuberculosis may be transmitted.

Fire recently destroyed the house in the town of East Peoria, Ill., where the prima donna Emma Abbott first sang. Recently the building was used for a dwelling, but it was formerly a schoolhouse.

A girl was so interested at a dance at Riverside, N. J., that she did not know that her arm had been broken by a fall on the floor. A surgeon said it was the worst fractured elbow he ever treated.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Florence Roberts is playing "Zira" on the road, and she is doing well.

Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon are reported to be doing well in their new play, "Bridge."

Frederick Paulding has written a play, "The Great Question," in which Jessie Bonstelle will appear.

Madge Lessing has one of the leading roles in "The Prince of Pilsen," now being produced in Paris.

William A. Brady is to produce a new political play, called "The Intruder," by Thompson Buchanan.

Grace Van Studdiford, Camille D'Arville and Helen Bertram are some of the singers now appearing in vaudeville.

Harry B. Smith has been engaged to write the book for the new musical play in which Sam Bernard will be the star after the expiration of his contract with Charles Frohman.

Lillian Albertson, the stately beauty who attracted much attention as the governess in "The Silver Girl," is to be the star of "Paid in Full," which was originally intended for Annie Russell. Ralph Delmore and Hattie Russell will be in the cast.

TALES THEY TELL.

Secretary Shields of the water board in New Orleans has a special that delights to catch bugs and take them to the yard for the chickens to eat.

A Sturgeon (Mo.) man says he sent his overalls to a laundry, forgetting to remove his watch. The watch, he declares, went through the wringer and continues to keep good time.

Mrs. Scholler of Manayunk, Pa., bought a life size marble statue of Venus, which was placed in the parlor. When her husband came home late at night he thought the statue was a burglar, and Venus was smashed.

A Greensfield (Mo.) citizen says that when his dog saw two preachers approaching his house he trotted around the corner and returned with two plump chickens, which he deposited near the door and then went to sleep.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Panels of very deep tucks are inserted at the bottom of evening gowns. The plain portion beneath the tucks shows embroidery designs.

Braid is seen everywhere on street and house costumes alike. Boutache and the flat silk braid of plain weave are preferred to more fancy kinds.

The return of the tailored shirt waist—and its return is assured—bespeaks for the trotteur skirt the severest simplicity, as anything else naturally would be out of keeping.

Shaded satin and velvet have been revived and are being used for trimmings on cloths, as also are cords formed of silk and wound into fanciful border and other effects. In black this latter idea is particularly pleasing.—New York Post.

Britain's Old Age Pension.
 A millionaire will walk for the pleasure of saving a cab fare; any woman would spend her last shilling on a taximeter because there is no point in saving one's last shilling. That is the British workman's answer to the critics who advise him to save up his own old age pension.—London Chronicle.

If your pipes freeze up, call on Zim
