Needed to Marry.

The modern bachelor is by no means so black as he is painted. He is simply one of those exceptional men who have been born without the genius for matrimony. To marry at all, a man requires inspiration; to marry well, aspiration, and to marry foolishly, desperation. None of these qualities has been vouchsafed to the singular being who deliberately and of malice pretense leads the single life.—Madame.

A Man of Principals.

Not long ago in a crowded subway train the superintendent of schools of New York arose and gave his seat to Miss Blank, head of an east side school.

"I am sorry to have you get up," she said, smiling.

"Don't mention it," replied the superintendent politely. "I always stand up for my principals."—Circle.

His Distinction.

The following occurred to a distinguished but modest divine who had undertaken the duty of a brother clergyman at an English church: "I am come," said he, addressing the silk gowned vergor, "to take Canon Blank's place this morning."

"Pray, sir," replied the official pompously, "are you the 'man' who is to read the prayers or the 'gentleman' who is to deliver the sermon?"

Explicatives.

How hopeless it is to render one nation's explicatives in another language is curiously illustrated in an English-German and German-English dictionary, where "Dornerwetter" is translated "Zounds!" while "Zounds!" on the other hand, is rendered in the English-German part by "Totztausend!" and "Sapperment!" "Totztausend!" again is translated "The deuce!" and "Good gracious!"

Battle of the Sea of Japan.

In the battle of the Sea of Japan the Russians had thirty-five battleships, cruisers and torpedo boats. Of these twenty-one were sunk, five captured and nine escaped. The Russian loss in men was 4,000 in killed and wounded and 7,000 prisoners. The Japanese lost three torpedo boats and had one battleship badly damaged. Their loss in killed and wounded was 654.

The Sting in the Text.

An English paper tells of a clergyman who had two curates, with the order of whom he was always at variance. One day he announced to
