If the customs officials succeed in settling the question that comes from Cuba as to whether turtles are reptiles or not, they will probably be in a good frame of mind for tackling the question as to whether clam digging is fishing or agriculture.

Advertisers should bear in mind that THE HERALD is conceded to be the leading paper in Klamath Falls. Two-hundred and eight papers, a gain of twenty, in the past month, are now being delivered to the homes of Klamath Falls citizens. We are determined to increase this number to 500 before the summer is over. If you are not a subscriber we can show you why you should be.

What is the matter with having a fish hatchery established in Klamath? There would be no harm in trying. Pressure should be brought to bear on the Oregon Fish Commission to induce them to do something for this section. Klamath can now boast of having the greatest fishing streams on the coast and this reputation will bring thousands of sportsmen to this section, with the result that the streams will be depleted of fish if something isn't done at once to perpetuate the finny tribe.

At last a genius has been born. He has invented a comb that will not fall from a woman's hair. No matter what the provocation is or how mused up the fair ones crinoline, the comb, like the star spangled banner, is still there. The frizzes may catch on Willie's airtight studs or in his society pin, but that precious comb sticks to its work like an organ grinder. Unexpected company may come, ma or pa may drop in almost unannounced verily the comb keepeth its own secret and doth its mission well.
