The general alarm will be sounded by the blowing of ten rapid strokes of the bell, followed by the number of the district in which the fire is located, which will be rung three times. When the distress is represented by more than one alarm, as No. 24, after giving the general alarm the bell will be tapped twice, then a slight pause, followed by four rings with a longer pause, and then repeated twice more before sounding the general alarm again.

GENTLEMEN:—Having received the nomination of the Republican party for the office of sheriff, I wish to express to you my appreciation of your efforts in my behalf. I feel the more grateful, knowing as I do, that it was the people

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, GENERAL LAND OFFICE, Washington, D. C. March 27, 1908. NOTICE OF RESTORATION OF PUBLIC LANDS TO SETTLEMENT AND ENTRY.—Notice is hereby given that the acting Secretary of the Interior has issued departmental order of withdrawal in so far as the same affects the withdrawal for irrigation purposes under the act of June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388) for use in connection with the Klamath Project, Oregon, of the following described lands in the State of Oregon, and by his authority such lands are not to be subject to withdrawal, reserved or appropriated, will be subject to settlement under the public land laws of the United States on and after June 25, 1908, but shall not be subject to entry, filing, or selection until July 20, 1908, at the United States land office at Lakeview, Oregon.
It is the policy of the department that no person will be permitted to acquire any right whatsoever under any settlement or occupation begun after February 15, 1908 and prior to June 20, 1908, all such settlements or occupations being forbidden; and that no person shall be permitted to acquire any right what-so-ever under any settlement or occupation begun after June 20, 1908, at the United States land office at Lakeview, Oregon.

A FEAT IN PHOTOGRAPHY.

Daring Descent to Get a View of an Opprey's Nest.

Now commenced my work, and I descended on my rope to terrace after terrace, forcing my way through thick rows of prickly pear, a most painful operation. And now we found that there was nobody below to signal us where the nest lay. The inevitable result was that after descending more than 100 feet I had to signal to be hailed up again, always through the prickly pear. Again did I descend, and again did I fail to find the nest.
On the third occasion I reached a recess in the great cliff, whence, after unbending my rope and securing it to a bush for obvious reasons, I made a cast along a ledge to the south and reached a point which I identified as being not far from the nest as seen from below. So I retraced my steps and, regaining my rope, was hailed up for a third time. During this operation I passed a ledge where a peregrine falcon was nesting. The old female swept close around with shrill cries and eventually alighted on the sandy shelf of rock within a few feet of me and, with outspread wings and every feather standing on end, lowered her head and screamed furiously.
I have no doubt I was close to her young, but I had more serious work in hand, and so I left her alone.

I now made my fourth and last descent and found myself immediately over the nest, but before I could go down to it the party handling the rope had to work their way down toward me, since the rope was too short. Finally I reached the nest, an enormous mass of big sticks measuring more than five feet across and doubtless the result of many years' work. In it were two eggs much incubated. By standing on a ledge close to the nest and pressing the camera between my body and the face of the cliff I was able to take some long time exposures with fairly good results. It was near sunset, and the cliff was in deep shadow, which did not facilitate my task. Between the shaly nature of the cliff, the slippery terraces covered with loose soil and stones and the detestable prickly pears I never had a more unpleasant or arduous task on a cliff before. But I have lived to endure worse experiences, although not so painfully protracted as were these.

My very curt entry in my diary summarizes the whole job thus: "Bad shale cliffs, vertical and dangerous. Height over sea, 100 feet. Top of cliff, 310 feet. The worst bit of rope work I ever did."

With regard to the prickly pears, it was many months before the last of the poisonous spines I had collected in various parts of my body consented to come out, and then only after first fer-tering—London Saturday Review.

Bacteria in Butter.

"Bacteriologists have shown us that ordinary butter is swarming with germs," declares Good Health. "A single teaspoonful of milk generally contains from 2,000,000 to 10,000,000 germs.
The number may even be much larger than this. In the removal of cream from the milk the germs are taken with it, and in the process of churning the germs are collected with the fat, so in the butter we have the concentration of a large part of the germs contained in the milk from which the butter was derived. So in a pound of butter derived from twenty plats of milk the number of bacteria must be almost beyond estimate. A brief computation will show that the number of bacteria contained in a pound of butter might easily reach the enormous sum of five to ten billions."

A Touch of Vanity.
On Nov. 25—St. Catherine's day—French girls who have passed their twenty-fifth birthday and are unmarried wear a little cap made of fine muslin, the symbol of maidhood. As the day approaches the millinery shops show these caps in great quantities, and their manufacture by young girls is always accompanied by jokes at the expense of old maids; but, strange to relate, these caps, because they are becoming to all, are worn on St. Catherine's day by young girls as well as by old maids.

Where It Doesn't Apply.
"Slow and sure," remarked the man with the quotation habit, "is a good motto."

"But," protested the thoughtful thinker, "there is one thing that can never be slow and sure."
"What's that?" queried the quotation dispenser.

"A watch," replied the t. t.—Kansas City Independent.

An Interesting Item

The Klamath Falls Military Band needs a piano. Just a piano won't do, it must be a good one. To stand the rough usage of dance work and as a club-room instrument, and still be musical enough to meet the severe requirements of solo and vocal accompaniment work, it must be strictly high grade in every particular.
Now we can't afford to pay the retail price of such an instrument, and after corresponding with several leading piano houses on the coast, ten per cent discount was the best I could get. Now I have been in the music business several years, both as a dealer and piano tuner, and I know something about the prices and values of pianos. I know that we can afford the highest grade instrument made if we can only get the benefit of wholesale prices. After considerable correspondence with manufacturers I finally have been fortunate enough to secure the agency for Klamath county for the Baldwin piano, and there isn't a better piano made than the Baldwin.
It is necessary, however, for me to buy four pianos in order to get the benefit of the wholesale price.

Now here's the point: I'm not going into the piano business, I've something else to do; but if there are four people in Klamath County who want a first grade piano at the price usually asked for a cheap stencil instrument, here is an opportunity you'll never see again in a lifetime. People don't usually sell pianos for fun, and ordinarily you'll pay the agent a profit of two hundred to five hundred dollars. I ask no profit whatever and I shall sell only the four pianos necessary to secure the wholesale price.
This is strictly a cash proposition manufacturers don't sell at wholesale on installments. Now if you know of anyone in Klamath County who is in a position to appreciate such an opportunity, you will confer a favor on the band by referring them to me.
