

Get the Essence of Satisfaction

By Dealing with a Strictly Reliable House

When it's Jewelry, Watch Repairing, Optical Work or kindred lines you want, come to the Leading Establishment in those particular lines, where you get your money back if you are not satisfied. Our reputation is pretty good, too, as the old saying serves as proof, "Imitation is the Sincerest Flattery," so it don't make me mad to have others copy the simple and upright business methods I am using.

Concert

Music lovers are promised a rare treat on Thursday evening, May 7, at the opera house, through the announcement of a concert by Mrs. Jessie Brock Morgan and Miss Leta Nickerson, under the auspices of and with the assistance of the Klamath Falls Military Band. Both ladies are well known as musicians of exceptional ability, and they will be ably supported by the concert work of the band. The recent organization of a club, the large and complete library of music, and several years hard work under adverse circumstances entitle the organization to the full support of the city and its people.

Summons

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Klamath County.

John Koontz plaintiff, vs. Amanda Ella Koontz defendant, suit in equity for divorce.

In the name of the state of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before Saturday, June 13th, 1908, being the last day prescribed in the order for publication of this summons, the first publication of which being on Saturday, May 2nd, 1908, and if you fail so to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, filed herein, to-wit: for a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant.

This summons is served by publication in the Evening Herald, by order of Hon. Henry L. Benson, Judge of the Circuit Court for the first judicial district of Oregon, dated May 1st, 1908, which order requires summons to be published once a week for six consecutive weeks from the 1st day of May, 1908.

A. L. LEAVITT,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

Don't Be Afraid

IF THERE is sickness in the house, even the most severe sickness, and you are compelled to get a doctor, don't be afraid to bring that doctor's prescription to our store to have it filled.

IT MAKES no difference to us who the doctor is. It makes no difference how complicated the prescription is which he writes. It makes no difference how much he desires the prescription to be filled exactly as it is written. It makes no difference how much he wishes the ingredients used in the prescription to be pure.

ALL WE SAY is "don't be afraid to bring the prescription here."

IT MAKES no difference whose prescription blank your doctor uses in writing the prescription, you have the privilege of taking that prescription to any store you prefer. We absolutely guarantee to you, satisfaction if you bring your prescription to us.

WE GUARANTEE that under no consideration, or for no necessary inducement will we allow a single prescription to go out of our store except it is exactly as the doctor writes it, and that it is filled with the highest quality ingredients which can be supplied to us.

"The Store that Saves You Money"

To Get Them All Clean.

Norah, the "green" cook, poked her head in at the dining room door.

"Please, ma'am," she asked, "an' how will I be knowin' when the puddin' is cooked?"

"Stick a knife into it," said her mistress, recalling the cookbook instructions. "If the knife comes out clean, the puddin' is ready to serve."

"Yis, ma'am."

"And, oh, Norah!" The mistress had an afterthought. "If the knife does come out clean you might stick all the rest of the knives into the puddin'."—Everybody's Magazine.

An African Critic.

Under the heading "Printed as Received," a South African journal publishes a report written by a native of a convert given by the Paumotu native choir at the Wesleyan church, Koffyfontein. In his report the contributor says, "Among the choir Miss Nora Moncho was the best singer, and her cheeks were like an apple, her mouth was like a cellar, her eyes were like an owl's at night, her hair was soft and curly, her ears were like shamrock flowers, but she looked like a crane, and her name was Jane."

Hanging Pictures Dangerous.

"Railroad casualties receive such wide publicity," said an insurance man recently, "that there is a common belief on the part of the public that one is more liable to accidents while traveling than when living the simple life in the confines of his home. As a matter of cold fact, statistics show that accident insurance companies pay more losses to people who get injured in their own homes or on their premises than they do to people hurt in railway accidents. Insurance companies pay more money to people who get hurt hanging pictures or taking stoves apart than they do to the victims of head-on collisions. It sounds strange, but it's the truth."—Kansas City Journal.

Auction Sale

A. Arnold will sell at public auction on Saturday, May 9th, at 1 p. m., at the Bird Looney place, near the tunnel, the following items:

Two wagons, harness, one plow, two harrows, all kinds of household goods and other articles. Terms cash.

Klamath Falls Public Library

The Klamath Falls Public Library is open every afternoon from 2 to 5:30 o'clock and each evening from 6:30 to 10 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Cause of "Rain" in Moving Pictures.

Moving picture films are generally spoiled long before their life of usefulness should end because of the "rain" which blots out the clearness. This injury comes from the constant winding and unwinding of the film through the machine at the rate of a foot a second, forming static electricity. The electricity attracts all the particles of dust and dirt floating in the atmosphere to the film, and is pulling the film up tight these particles scratch, hence the "rain."—Popular Mechanics.

Mamma's Kiss.

This pretty child story is from the French.

A mother tells her little girl that because she has been naughty she will not kiss her for a week. Before many days have gone by the child's lips begin to ache so for her mother's kiss that she begs her not to punish her any more.

The mother says: "No, my dear, I told you that I should not kiss you, and I must keep my word."

"But, mamma, mamma," says the girl, "would it be breaking your word if you should kiss me just one tonight when I'm asleep?"

Owen Meredith.

Owen Meredith rested his face on "Lucie," but could never be induced to contradict the charges of plagiarism that were made in connection with "What's the Use?" he said, "If I say these people will believe there is something in them. If I say nothing at all the book will be read and the charge ignored or forgotten." He was part of the poem, and in the circle of his intimate friends often quoted passages from it and described the circumstances under which these lines were written.

A Danger Avoided.

It was a wise young man who passed before he answered the widow who had asked him to guess her age. "You must have some idea about it," he said, with what was intended for a arch sideway glance.

"I have several ideas," he stammered with a smile. "The only trouble is that I hesitate whether to make you ten years younger on account of your looks or ten years older on account of your brains."

Then, while the widow smiled and blushed, he took a graceful but quick leave.

To clean marble take two parts of soda, one of pumice and one of oil of turpentine. Rub with a brush with water. Rub this on the marble, not forgetting to add some "white grease," and wash off with salt water. Finish with clean cold water and a soft cloth.

The Service

you obtain from your clothing is two-fold. There is style service and the service defined by the durability of the garments. The one is a matter of taste and the other a matter of quality.

The patrons of this store have learned that we safeguard them on both kinds of service, and in addition to this we endeavor to give them at all times the very best personal service possible. Your good will and patronage are our existence, and we shall endeavor to merit them—now and always.

The moment we have a dissatisfied customer we expect to close our store, unless it is a man who thinks so little of his money that will purchase something that does not please him and neglect to tell us about it. If you buy anything in this store and it disappoints you in any way, shape or manner, come and tell us about it; we are here to make it right.
