

DIVIDE THE FORESTS

Interior Department Provides For Many Small Divisions

PLACES LAND CLOSE TO PEOPLE

Various Districts Will Be Known as National Forests and Each Division Will Be Under Supervision of a Chief Forester With Local Headquarters

Numerous changes are being made in the forest reserves of the Nation and these changes will become effective after July 1st. The lands set aside for forests will no longer be known as reserves, but as the National Forests. The district to which this section belongs is known as the Sixth and comprises Oregon, Washington and Alaska. Acting Inspector W. H. B. Kent, of this district, is now going over the territory on official business and left here this morning for Udena from where he will go to Silver Lake and then to the timber belt that was restored to entry last Fall. He states that the National Forests are being divided into small units so as to have the man in charge of the forest close to the people who are interested in that particular part of it. These new divisions will become effective on the first of July, and the forests in the Eastern part of Oregon will be divided about as follows:

Crater National Forest, with C. J. Beck of Medford in charge, includes the forests south of the Rogue-Umpqua divide; the Umpqua forest includes the land between the Rogue-Umpqua divide and the middle fork of the Willamette river, and S. C. Barrum, with headquarters at Roseburg has charge of it; the area between the middle fork of the Willamette and the Santiam wagon road is the Cascade forest, with C. R. Seitz of Eugene in charge; between the Santiam road and the Columbia river is the Oregon forest, with T. S. Sharrard of Portland in charge; the portion of the present Fremont reserve south of the McCarty Ranch, near Silver Lake, will be the Fremont forest with Guy Ingram of Lakeview in charge; north of the McCarty ranch and east of the Deschutes river will be known as the Deschutes forest with A. S. Ireland of Prineville in charge; Numerous other divisions will be made in other parts of the state, but those mentioned are the ones more closely related to this part of the state. These divisions become effective the first of July and the chief foresters mentioned will have charge of the various divisions and will be on the ground so that they can be reached by the people who use the National Forests. The name was changed from forest reserve to National Forests in order to avoid confusion with the various Indian reservations. The Department intends that the people shall use the forests, but the reservations are for the certain people or Indian tribes only. The forest service will be made much stronger by the new method of handling the vast area of land embraced, as the party having direct charge will be on the ground to attend to all matters pertaining to the government forests.

Visit High Street

The city council, Mayor B. St. Geo. Bishop, Project Engineer Murphy and a number of the property owners along West High street went over the right of way asked for by the government for a conduit for the Keno canal. The various features of the work were explained to the council by the engineers and the property owners were also given an opportunity to express their opinions on the matter. The council has not decided on the action it will take but it is safe to presume that if the property owners express a willingness that the franchise for the right of way for the conduit be granted then the city will not hesitate in the passage of the ordinance. The entire matter seems to be held up because the government wants the privilege of building the conduit of wood, while the property owners insist on cement.

Cement Sidewalk

The Hot Springs Improvement Company is now completing arrangements for the construction of several thousand feet of cement sidewalks in the Hot Springs addition. It is expected that within a few weeks the work will be under way. The announcement of this improvement was made by the company last year.

REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

LESLIE M. SHAW OF IOWA.

REV. CANTRELL REPLIES TO DR. HAMILTON'S STATEMENT

EDITOR, EVENING HERALD:—In last evening's Herald is an article with the caption, "Dr. Hamilton Refutes Assertion of Rev. Cantrell." Now this refutation happens to be a confirmation. These are my words used Monday night, speaking of the value of property and the cheapness of life, I said: "A man has an accident. There is a premature powder explosion, blinding his eyes and mangling his hand. He is brought miles to a physician. He comes with flint in his eyes. The physician at the door asks him, are there nails in your shoes? He wants to protect the linoleum on his floor!"

I did not mention Dr. Hamilton's name. I did not say that he refused the man admission to his house, I did not even say that he kept him waiting. My point was that a physician thought of his linoleum and such like things at such a time.

But Dr. Hamilton says that the linoleum belonged to Mrs. Maston and Mr. Edwards says that he was "not kept waiting more than five seconds." This squares the whole thing. It was considerate all around. Touchingly considerate. Linoleum, I am told, comes high here in the West, and it is worth five seconds of a man's agency at any time to save a hallway linoleum from hob-nailed shoes.

Regretfully,
EDWARD ADAMS CANTRELL.

Seeds for Experimenting

W. H. Heileman, who has been carrying on extensive improvements in connection with his other work, says that all of the things that he has planted are doing well as can be expected. He has a small amount of alfalfa seed on hand which he will give to parties who wish to experiment with it. He has enough of this to sow about four half acre patches. He also has about 20 pounds of sugar beet seeds which he will give to persons who will use it for experimental purposes.

Private Line Installed

W. H. Heileman, in charge of the operation and maintenance of the irrigation system, has just completed the installation of a private telephone line along the line of the canal. About every mile or two he has put up a telephone which is for the use of the farmers for all business in connection with irrigation matters. The instruments used are built for this purpose and are in an iron box and are so equipped that they will withstand the elements. This system enables Mr Heileman to keep in close touch with all parts of the system and is also a great convenience for the farmers as it saves them many miles of travel to get certain information needed in connection with irrigation.

Long Time Coming

Twenty-three years ago last month Ernest Applegate wrote a letter to Miss Jennie Grubb at Klamath Falls. The letter was mailed at Bonanza in 1885 and reached its destination after being in Uncle Sam's care a little more than 23 years, in which time it traveled the distance of 25 miles. The recipient of the letter is now Mrs. Geo. R. Huhn, and the letter was from her cousin and told of a number of their childish plans.

The postmark on the letter showed that it arrived at the Klamath Falls postoffice last night, and it is quite evident that Bonanza is just coming out of a Rip Van Winkle nap.

Rumor Not Confirmed

The rumor was current today that D. W. Murphy and one or two other employees of the Reclamation Service had been transferred or else had resigned from the service. The Herald learns from a reliable source that some new men are expected in the Service, but on inquiry of Mr. Murphy it is learned that he is aware of no change in the Service and that the personnel of the office force on the Klamath project will not be changed for sometime at least.

Consolation Party

W. J. Brennan, who is temporarily a bachelor while Mrs. Brennan is taking in the sights of the city, summoned a number of his fellow creatures who are in a similar fix and also a few others to his rooms last night to condole with him in his single cussedness. They talked, ate, smoked and maybe drank in an attempt to forget their afflictions. Those who participated in the sorrow drowning affair were G. Heitkemper, Jr., E. B. Hall, C. H. Underwood and Geo. Brandenburg, all of whose wives are

Manager E. T. Abbott, of the Klamath Lake railroad, announces another change in the operation of the trains over that road. The new schedule becomes effective on next Sunday. The mail will leave Pokegama at 11 a. m. and will arrive at Thrall at 1:30 p. m. It will leave Thrall at 3 p. m. and will arrive at Pokegama at 5:30 p. m. Heretofore the mail arrived at Pokegama about 11 a. m. and at this city about 5 o'clock in the evening. Under the new schedule it will arrive here about midnight. However, an effort is being made to have the service changed to the Weed route before the new service on the Klamath Lake road goes into effect. This change of route has been pending for some time and it will be made as soon as all of the interested parties have had a chance to present their arguments pro and con. A petition signed by the people of this city showed that it is the wish that the mail be transferred to the Dorris route at the earliest possible time, and the orders to make the change have been expected for several days.

After next Sunday passengers, freight and express will be transported over the Klamath Lake railroad only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and on the other days of the week the mail will be carried by gasoline motor. One or two passengers can usually be carried on the motor, but the company does not agree to carry anything but the mail.
