NEWSPAPER LAW OF OREGON.—Section 2008 of the laws of Oregon provides that whenever any person controlling a newspaper shall mail such newspaper to any person in this State without first receiving an order therefor, such newspaper shall be deemed to be a gift, and no debt or obligation shall accrue against such person, whether said newspaper is received by the person to whom it is sent or not.

TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1908.

The anti-Taft publicity bureau issued a "prophecy" declaring the Taftites' claims misleading. The statement asserts that Taft has only 300 pledged delegates, instead of 584, and thus the war goes on.

Senator Platt has made the positive announcement that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself at the expiration of his term a year from next March. "I am winding up my public career," said the Senator, with a deep note of sadness, "and I cannot tell you with what regret I shall retire to private life. But it is decreed."

Senator Bourne expects to attend the Chicago convention, but says he does not know at present whether he will go to Chicago prior to the day of the opening. Senator Fulton expects to remain in Washington until the time the convention opens. Representatives Ellis and Hawley will remain a few days after the session closes then return home.

A distinguished honor was conferred upon Governor Chamberlain last Thursday evening, when he was chosen as the representative of the Portland lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks to attend the meeting of the grand lodge, which meets in Dallas, Texas, the week of July 12. At present Governor Chamberlain holds no official position in the lodge.

Just now there appears to be little doubt but that it is Senator Cake of Oregon. Once the campaign started it was speedily seen that the oft-boasted personal popularity of George the governor was not so almighty stout as it once was. Various things that some folks have known about our chief executive have come to light, and a lot of folks are today doubtful if George was such a whale of a man after all.

Chairman Sherman of the Republican congressional committee to come east this fall and campaign in New England and other Atlantic states. He has not given an answer, as his duties may prevent his acceptance. His friends regard the invitation as a decided compliment. Mr. Hawley will go home as soon as adjournment takes place. He will not attend the Chicago convention.

Unlike the house committee, the senate committee on the District of Columbia is favorable to prohibition for the national capital. This fact was developed in a hearing just given by the committee on pending anti-liquor bills. No prohibition measure is pending before the senate committee, the house committee not yet having acted upon that measure. The senate committee is considering two new excise bills, one prepared by the anti-saloon league and the other by the commissioners of the district.

An article published in El Constitucion, Castro's official organ, declares that the real cause of the trouble between Venezuela and the United States is the desire of the administration to force a disagreement so that President Roosevelt may be re-elected. If there had been trouble with Japan, it says, "the President would not have retired. If trouble with Venezuela reaches an acute stage Roosevelt would remain in the president's chair."

Power in the hands of the postmaster general to censor the press and to throw out of mails any paper whose editorials he did not like, is the effect of the amendment of the postoffice appropriation bill as "fixed" in the conference committee, where it has been hanging fire for several days. "Any matter which, in the judgement of the postmaster general, incites to arson, murder or assassination," is, according to the proposed amendment, to be interpreted by the postmaster general as placing a paper in the same class as those printing matter which is "indecent."

"Shy on Relatives."
"Poor man, have you no brothers, sisters, cousins or nieces?"
"None at all."
"No aunts or uncles?"
"Come to think of it, I have an uncle."
"Is he kind to you?"
"Oh, very! He lets me store my overcoat with him every summer."

Life.
When life is young
And joy is brave
We give it torques
Near in a cave
Essays to hide
The vital thing
Both far and wide
We gladness fling
When life is old
And love is kind
The path we hold
With grief's combined
Then hermits we
And vainly yearn
For joy and glee
To make return.

The Timid Lion.
A lion tamer over his midnight supper talked shop.
"The timid lion is the only one I fear," he said. "The fierce, pug-nacious lion is my joy. What a show he gives the people for their money! Growing hideously, wrinkling his great face in dreadful snarls, gnashing his teeth and threatening to strike me with his paw, he goes through his tricks, and the audience is held in a delicious suspense, half hoping, half fearing, that maybe the big brute will chew me up before their eyes."
"Yes, the fierce lion assures a fine, attractive turn. But the timid one!"
"The timid lion, just when you want to give your best show, will whimper with terror at the crack of the whip and slink off to the farthest corner of the cage and, turning its back to you, lie down and bury its face in its paws. Gehenna!"
"But, say, do you know what I've been known to do? I've been known to dope up timid lions. Yes, sir. Doped them up till they were maniacal. That's dangerous too. Batty, like that, they might do for you."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.
