KLAMATH FALLS, WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 1, 1908

Bryan's nomination is as good as made. There never was a surer thing in politics. The democratic national convention will be composed of 1,008 delegates. Of these Bryan and his friends count upon having at least 750 and they say the number may run over 800. This estimate does not include the uninstructed New York delegation which will be led to Denver by Murphy and Conners. The number necessary for nominating is 672. Delegates instructed for Bryan number 484 and those pledged to him 67, a total of 551. That leaves 121, the number required to make the necessary two-thirds to be secured from the uninstructed. The Bryanites declare that the needed 121 and more than 100 to spare are safely in camp.

Friends of Governor Johnson of Minnesota and Judge Gray of Deleware are fighting on valorously in the face of the landslide. In fact they declare "there ain't no landslide." They look for comfort in the failure of Bryan to get 672 instructed delegates. They call attention to the fact that his friends everywhere were urged to have delegates instructed, and so they claim, the 484 that have such instructions [illegible] the full measure of Bryan's [illegible]

Governor Johnson's forces are particularly active. The governor is blessed with a circle of friends willing to work and fight and make sacrifices for him. They were first to open headquarters in Denver. They raised his banner, sounded the battlecry and swooped into the fray as though there could be none other than a victorious finish. It is probably true, as has been stated, not only this convention is in mind, but they are looking forward to 1912. For Gray there has been less of a stir, but his friends declare that his name will go before the convention.

An entrance such as no other World's Fair ever had for its gaiety boulevard has been planned for the Pay Streak at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, which will be held at Seattle in 1909. Totem poles and a modern adaptation of the architectural style of China and Japan will constitute the principal features of the entrance.

The Pay Streak is the name of the amusement avenue of the Pacific World's Fair, corresponding to the Midway at Chicago, the Pike at St Louis, the Trail at [illegible] the Warpath at Jamestown. The [illegible] Streak will be in the form [illegible] of the ous totem poles. [illegible] avenue. At night [illegible] mouths will be illuminated [illegible] will produce an odd effect. [illegible] be a grand archway of a [illegible] Chinese architecture.

[illegible] baseball league in the world has been [illegible] Chicago. The first game of the series will be played between a team composed entirely of Chinese and a team composed of Italians. There are four teams in the league. One is composed of Chinese, one of Italians and one of Hebrews. The fourth team is known as the "all nations club," and comprises a Jew, Swede, Irishman, Italian, Chinaman, Spaniard, Japanese, Frenchman and negro.

The Sultan of Turkey, anxious to win the esteem of the American public, has conferred on Mrs. Roosevelt and Ethel, wife and daughter of the President, the decoration of the Grand Cordon of Chefaka. This decoration is of the highest grade in Turkey and is reserved for special favorites of the Sultan,
