Humor and Philosophy
 By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THE MODERN AGRICULTURIST.

Once on a time the jesters found
 A most engaging charm
 About the man who read a book
 To find out how to farm.
 But now the college graduate
 Goes forth to show them how
 To mix up soil and seeds and such
 And educate the cow.

The man who found out how to farm
 By working at his trade
 Don't stack up with the farmers who
 By colleges are made.
 He may produce a large crop;
 But then, he doesn't know
 What chemicals by nature mixed
 Induced the grain to grow.

It isn't all in plucking hay
 Or wrestling with the plow
 That makes a man succeed or fail
 In farming ventures now
 In knowing how to thwart the bug
 That feasts upon his crop
 He may be leading half the time
 And still come out on top.

Yes, science, with a kindly hand,
 Has dipped into the game
 To show the modern farmers how
 They beat the soil may tame.
 And now the oldest son comes home
 From college primed to show
 His father how to run the place
 The way that it should go.

Didn't Match.

"Have you tried the new restaurant?"
 "Yes."
 "How is it?"
 "Well, it would be all right if its eggs were as fresh as its waitresses."

Adequate Punishment.

"You heard how he imposed on society."
 "No."
 "Well, he used to be a waiter, and having learned good manners at that profession, he passed himself off as a duke."
 "I suppose society was furious when it found him out."
 "It was wild."
 "Was anything ever done to punish him for it?"
 "Yes; he was expelled from the waiters' union."

Absent Treatment.

Preserve me from the candid man
 Who tells me to my face
 With frankness raw exactly what
 He thinks about my case.

If he must worry over my sins
 And of my faults keep track,
 I'd much prefer to have him do
 His worst behind my back.

What Did He Mean?

"You say you are compelled to sing by your parents?"
 "Yes."
 "You shouldn't."
 "Why?"
 "Because you have no voice in the matter."

Useless Alone.

"Are you going to spend the summer at the seashore?"
 "No; I fear I wouldn't enjoy myself."
 "Why not?"
 "Well, I haven't anything to spend but the summer."

Defined.

"What is a spendthrift?"
 "A commercial institution."
 "A what?"
 "A clearing house for the securities and funds of the family."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A steady job and a strict boss may be one way of saving the youth of our country that said youth may not appreciate until it doubles its years.

The conversation method of approaching the matrimonial question may be intellectual, but it does not commend itself to the average girl nearly so strongly as the theater and automobile way.

Sometimes it is really disappointing and depressing when people just naturally fall to live down to the dead level we have mapped out for them.

The less some people think of us the more unholy glee we feel.

Many a man who can't talk much makes a big hit at keeping still.

The thirst for knowledge that most boys feel is not the sort that the teacher of the public school keeps on tap.

Winter cannot always be with us, but in some portions of the globe he seems to be trying to see how close he can come to it and still be safe.

Strive not to be prejudiced, but if you can't help it don't let it interfere with your side.

Many a man makes a bluff, while many another is made by a bluff.

Occasionally a man is washed upon the shores of matrimony by a woman's tears.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It is all very well for you to ask that mother wake and call you early, but who do you expect to call mother?

Most "Merry Widow" hats owe all their jauntness to the widowed tresses under them.

A statesman of the strenuous and big stick type on being retired would make an ideal baseball fan.

A woman who is capable of marrying a man ought to be capable of making him support her, and she generally is.

Fully as important as knowing who to know is knowing who not to know.

A plumber never seems to plumb very rapidly, but somehow his bill soon gets plumb full of dollars.

Our little eccentricities are borne patiently by our friends and ridiculed by our enemies, while we are entirely unaware of their existence.

A man who can't find an excuse to go a fishing these days hasn't enough originality to stand off the assessor.

It always seems as if housecleaning time and homely women all come together in a bunch.

The Difference.
 When you meet a pretty girl
 Life seems, oh, so sunny,
 And you take her all around,
 Throwing out your money.
 When she coolly turns you down
 Life seems, oh, so shady,
 For you never thought she was
 That kind of a lady.

With a smile that melts the heart
 And a manner winning,
 She appears upon the scene.
 That is the beginning.
 As you follow her around
 All your cares diminish,
 But they grow again when she
 Hands you down your finish.

Love at first sight, you are sure,
 Fits the symptoms thrilling,
 Quite describes your cup of joy.
 That is more than spilling,
 But you feel as though you'd lost
 Home and friends and mother
 When she says that you can be
 Just her big stepbrother.

Love is all right when it takes
 And when both are willing,
 But when she says "Nix" it more
 Painful is than killing.
 When things smoothly run along
 It's like milk and honey,
 But an interruption is
 Worse than losing money.

Conclusive.
 IF YOU DIDN'T WANT
 A MAN WHY DID YOU
 MARRY ME?

"Are women fond of jokes, I wonder."
 "They must be."
 "Why?"
 "Just look at the sort of man some of them marry."

No Mistake at the Main Office.
 "Marriages are made in heaven, you know."
 "Yes, but not for home consumption."
 "Why, what do you mean?"
 "They are shipped to this planet, and sometimes the pairs get uncoupled in the transfer."

Came Down For a Change.
 "You know some people claim we are descended from monkeys."
 "Yes."
 "Well, the latest is we descended from trees."
 "That is nothing. Probably we had ascended them first looking for coconuts."

Reason He Asked.
 "He asked me to go out and have a drink with him."
 "Did you go?"
 "No; I told him I wasn't drinking anything now."
 "Yes; I had just told him that before he asked you."

Not For Him.
 Rich Young Man—Want a Job?
 Poor Boy—What is it like?
 R. Y. M.—Go along with me and take all the advice that my friends want to give me.
 P. B.—Chase yourself.

Queer.
 "He is a downright good fellow."
 "How can that be?"
 "Why?"
 "I've always thought him an upright man."

Cheerful.
 "But can a doctor help him?"
 "Oh, yes! He can hold out hope to him as long as his money holds out."

What They Did to Him.

"Why did Napoleon hate the English?" once asked an instructor in history in a public school of Cincinnati, to which question no immediate reply was offered by any pupil.
 "I'm sure somebody knows," said the teacher hopefully, scanning the faces before her.
 "I think I kin tell, mum," finally ventured a dirty faced lad in the rear of the room. "He hated the English because they made him live an' die all by himself on the rock of St. Helena."
 —Harper's Weekly.

So Gallant.
 "You know," said the fair patient, "when I met you at the shore last summer it never occurred to me that you were a doctor of medicine."
 "No?" replied the young physician
 "And when did you find it out?"
 "Not until papa called you in to attend me."
 "Ah! But then I became a doctor of divinity."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Strawberry Shortcake.
 Dew of dawn on hills of dream—
 Beaten egg and lots of cream!
 Breath of bloom from vales of sweet—
 Taste the flavor while you eat!
 Layers of snow and bars of gold
 In between them, crushed or rolled,
 Berries from the vines that run
 To the reddening of the sun!
 Gods, upon Olympus height,
 Cross your hands and take a bite.
 —Baltimore Sun.

MILLS ADDITION LOTS are Advancing in Value

When blocks in Mills Addition were offered at bargain prices a number of shrewd investors bought; since that time values have increased materially.

These Lots are Bargain Buys at present prices, and there is every reason to anticipate an advance in prices. Remember these lots are FIFTY feet in width and ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY FEET deep—more than double the area of most town lots offered to investors.
