BRIEF MENTION

Roy Taber is in the city from Dorris. Merrill. Property is reasonable.

County Judge J. B. Griffith is on the sick list today.

For your Sunday dinner try the Houston Dining Room.

H. E. Peltz has returned from a visit at San Francisco.

Did you see those 10c straw hats at the Deal?

The new Houston Dining Room is patronized by the elite and good liver.

Capt. J. M. McIntire went to Teeters Landing today.

For general house cleaning and chimney sweeping call on Webb & Mongold. Phone 393.

For several days the number of incoming passengers has been far in advance of the number going out.

Winters has a complete line of Edison phonographs and all of the latest records.

The Deal has the cheapest camping outfit in town.

Commissioner W. A. Walker has started for his home near Bly after being in attendance for several days at the session of the county court.

For the best rig in town call at the Mammoth Stables. H. W. Straw, Proprietor.

Merrill. The town without a boom.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo P. Harris are in the city from Rhyolite, Nev., and it is their intention to locate here if they find conditions favorable.

Just in at Winters—A large shipment of records for the Edison phonographs.

Several of the Klamath Falls baseball boys liked Lake county so well that they decided to remain there and work through haying. They experienced no difficulty in getting jobs.

Get your sewing machines and supplies at Muller's, who will save you money. Cor. 6th and Main.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Mitchell and son and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Mitchell left this morning for Wood river valley where they will camp out for a few weeks.

They are swell and down to date—they have the quality and are useful—some new things at McHattan's.

Mrs. F. L. Wright left this morning for Grants Pass, where she will visit for a few weeks, returning here in time for the opening of the Summer music school which gives its concert on the evening of July 22nd.

Jim Boyd is in the city today on his way to his home at Bly. He has just returned from a trip through Rogue river valley and he thinks conditions are better in this county than any place that he visited. He and other parties had taken a bunch of horses to Crescent city.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Heitkemper, Jr., and son leave in the morning for Spring creek where they will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Martin, Jr., for a few days. They will be taken as far as the Williamson river bridge by St. Geo. Bishop in his fine launch.

Parties returning from Spring creek state that the resort is well patronized by parties from various cities on the Coast. Most of the private camping grounds are occupied and all of the boats on the river are in use whenever fishing is good. Several families from this city are now at the resort.

Next Wednesday occurs the special election called for the purpose of submitting to the people of Merrill the new charter. Every citizen should make it a point to examine this proposed charter and go to the polls prepared to cast an intelligent vote for or against it.—Merrill Record.

Awaiting the Result

Most of the saloonmen of this city are not making any disposition of their fixtures and stocks that they have on hand, but are awaiting the decision of Judge Benson on the writ of review case. The judge will return from Spring creek tonight but he will not render his decision until Monday or at least not until he has had ample time to consider fully the authorities he sent for on the question involved. In the meantime the liquor dealers of this city are on the anxious seat.

SOCIETY EVENTS OF THE WEEK

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Joseph G. Pierce entertained a number of her lady friends at Bridge, at her home on Conger Avenue.

Mrs. Richard Shores Smith entertained the Ladies Bridge Club at her home on Evans Heights, Wednesday afternoon. Her sister Miss Hendricks and Miss Moran, of Eugene, were the guests of honor.

Mrs. G. Heitkemper and Mrs. W. J. Brennan entertained at the former's home on Friday afternoon. 500 was the game played.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Alex Martin, Jr., entertained the ladies of the Midsummer 500 club and their husbands and gentlemen friends. Mr. and Mrs. George Smith were guests of honor. Music and cards furnished the evenings entertainment. A delicious luncheon was served during the evening.

Miss Helen Hogue entertained a large company of guests last evening at cards, in honor of her brother's wife, Mrs. C. Edward Hogue, of San Francisco, who is visiting at the Hogue home.

Miss Ruby S. Hillis and Miss Helen Hogue will entertain a number of young people this evening at cards, at the home of Miss Hogue.

Upper Lake Notes

Three of the steamers were at the dock this morning. The Eagle was the last to arrive, bringing 25 tons of sand from Wood river.

The Hornet has arrived from Odessa, bringing 100,000 feet of lumber for the Long Lake Lumber Co.

The steamer Mazama returned late last night from a trip up Wood river. She brought in several passengers and considerable freight.

The steamer Eagle broke one of her rudders on the last trip and arrived at the dock in a crippled condition.

Baseball Team Returns

The Klamath Falls baseball team returned this noon from Lakeview. The boys report a hot, dry trip coming and going, but they had a good time while the tournament lasted. The accommodations at Lakeview were not the best and the boys were forced to shift for themselves to find places to eat and sleep. They say that Pine Creek and Cedarville, instead of contesting for second and third moneys split the two purses, each team taking $20.

To All Music Lovers

6-8 and Still Growing

L. E. Reed, a telegraph operator, who has been assisting in the office at Keswick, has returned to his home at Ashland. All along the line he attracted attention because of his height.

Reed is six feet eight inches tall, and is of spare build. He is only 19 years of age, and is still growing at the rate of an inch a year, he says. He is sure that he will reach seven feet by the time he quits growing.

The tallest people Reed met had to look up to him. He is of a bashful turn of mind and was made really uncomfortable by the stare of those who viewed him in the light of a freak.

A Fair Jury.

In a suit some years ago between father and son before an Indiana justice of the peace the sextet comprising the jury came in after three hours' deliberation with the following impartial verdict: "We, the jury, agree to find judgment for neither plaintiff nor defendant and find that each pay half the costs." It is said the verdict struck every one as being so unusually fair that even the parties to the action were satisfied.—Case and Comment.

Foiled.

Lazy Lewis—I was told dat de farmer wot lives on dat hill paid his hands jst de same whedder dey worked er not, so I went an' hired 'em. Tired Thomas—Den youse played off sick. I reckon? Lazy Lewis—Yep, an' at de end of de month I found dat he never paid nobody nothin' nohow.—Chicago News.

Broke the Charm.

"Well, you are a good little boy. Are you usually as quiet as this?" "No fear, but mother's going to give me a clockwork engine if I don't say anything about your dreadful red nose!"—London Opinion.

In the Fog.

Townee—So you were in London, eh? How did you find the weather there? Browns—I didn't have to find it. It came and hunted me up and surrounded me in chunks.—Philadelphia Press.

A London Joke.

Walter (who has just served up some soup)—Looks uncommonly like rain, sir. Diner—Yes, by Jove, and tastes like it too! Bring me some thick soup.—London Tatler.

Now Sandy Fooled Sandy.

An old gentleman in a village not far from Glasgow breakfasted every morning on porridge and in order to save fuel cooked a whole week's supply every Saturday. One Friday morning the staff seemed very cold and very salt, and he felt he must abandon the struggle to eat it. But his stubborn nature forbade such a thought, so he fetched the whisky from the cupboard, poured out a glass and placed it before him on the table.

"Now, Sandy," said he, "if ye get that porridge ye'll have that whisky, if ye don't ye won't."

He stuck again at the last spoonful, but, keeping his eye steadily on the glass of whisky, he made a bold, brave effort and got it down. Then he slowly and carefully poured back the whisky into the bottle, with a broad grin, as he said to himself, "Sandy, my lad, I did ye that time, ye said fule!"—Dunbar Advertiser.

One Hair Astray.

A guest at a certain fashionable hotel recently had a growth. He carried it to the proprietor.

"Look here," he said, "things around here are just about as rotten as they make them. When I went to lunch today I found hair in the ice cream, hair in the honey and hair in the apple sauce. Now, what do ye think o' that? Is that a good hotel?"

"Well," replied the genial proprietor, "I can explain the hair in the ice cream. That likely came from the shaving of the bar. And I suppose that the hair in the honey came off the comb. But I don't understand about the hair in the apple sauce. I thought those apples myself, and they were every one Bald-wins."—Columbus Dispatch.

Reverent, Though Drunk.

The large majority of Russians of the orthodox faith will not pass a church or shrine in the street without uncovering their heads and crossing themselves. Travelers have seen intoxicated men who were staggered along observe this ceremony, and in the case of those who were too helplessly fuddled to walk home the friend or relative who has accompanied a tipsy companion in a sledge or dray has, while holding him in the vehicle with one hand, performed for him the sign of the cross with the other while passing a sacred place.—London Chronicle.

The Turning Point.

There is a time in every man's education that envy is ignorance, that imitation is suicide, that he must take himself for better, for worse, as his portion; that, though the wide universe is full of good, no kernel of goodness can come to him but through his fall bestowal on that plot of ground given him to till.—Emerson.

Nothing Substantial.

"Mr. Rocky had nothing but praise for your work for him before the congressional committee," said the lobbyist. "Yes," replied the lobbyist, "nothing but praise."—Philadelphia Press.
