Harriman Meets With the People

known them years ago. Mr. Harriman was looking exceptionally well and appeared to be in a happy mood even if he had just undergone a rather hard trip. He stated that he was pleased to meet the people and it is certain that the people of Klamath were pleased to meet him, and those who were fortunate to meet the greatest railroad man of the day now have a much higher opinion of E. H. Harriman than they had before they met him.

Left for Pelican Bay.

The party, consisting of E. H. Harriman, his two sons, Averell and Roland, and Major Burnham, of the English army who was in Africa during the recent trouble, and Messrs. No Chance to Save.
I don't believe, as has been said,
That "a dollar saved is a dollar made."
For a dollar saved today tomorrow'd
Be pretty certain to be borrowed.
—Catholic Standard and Times.

On a Level.
"How many girls have proposed to you this year, Tom?"
"About as many as the good resolutions you have kept this year, Dick."
—Baltimore American.

To Be Consistent.
"I hate a liar!" Packeniff cried.
Said Brightly, "Then 'twould seem
You really ought to try and hide
Your lack of self esteem."
—Philadelphia Press.

The Universal Appeal.
Manager—I want a drama of human interest.
Author—Then why not dramatize a spring cleaning?—Baltimore American.

If He Is Truthful.
Full many a hunter, on my word,
Will boast, but should 'twould seem
He'll say he never hits a bird,
But often hits a flask.
—Philadelphia Ledger.

Something Sweet.
Clementine—if you should dare to kiss me I should say, "Oh, sugar!"
Clarance—And I guess I'd say the same.—Detroit Tribune.

The Moth's Appetite.
The buson moth we wonder at,
It certainly seems droll
That it should grow so very fat
And simply eat a hole.
—New York Times.

A Bore.
A bore is a man who talks about his own motor car when you want to talk about yours.—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Orator's Advantage.
"An epigram!" they shout with glee
When some old truth he glosses o'er.
If it were said by you or me
'Twould be a chestnut—nothing more.
—Washington Star.

Daise Far Niente.
Ex—Did you ever see an Indian idol?
Wy—I never saw one any other way.—
Cleveland Leader.

The Gist of the Argument.
When politicians start the fight
They always sing the same old song.
"Our candidate is wholly right
And yours is absolutely wrong."
—St. Louis Republic.
