KLAMATH FALLS, THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 27, 1908

THE RAMBLER.

I had to laugh last evening shortly after the Herald made its appearance on the streets. One of the real estate men whose name was mentioned to me in the conversation on the dock went into the air when he read the article. He was in favor of riding the "curb-stoners" out of town on a rail. He thought, however, that the Herald was in poor business publishing such articles, for they had a tendency to hurt the town. He then proceeded to rip the paper up the back in more ways than one, and knowing the facts as I did, it was amusing in the extreme. This gentleman had better keep his clothes on or he may see his name in print if you will publish it.

I was present yesterday afternoon when the Carnival Committee presented their subscription list to one of the business men and after the two gentlemen took their departure, I listened with interest to the comments made on the matter. One of the men said:

"One would naturally think that I would dislike to place my name on that list, but I am glad of the opportunity. This movement is a good one and I hope that it will result in the street carnival feature being a permanent addition to the county fair each year. We have had no attractions in this city during the past year. It is the least the people of Klamath Falls can do to offer some slight means of enjoyment for the people from the country. They expect it and ought to have it and the organization or individual who assists in anything of that kind ought to have the cordial support of the business men of the town, for they are the people who directly benefit from their work."

This is quite in contrast with what I heard an hour or so later. "There comes a damned subscription list, I'll bet." He was not disappointed for it was the Carnival Committee. Now this fellow did go down for a small amount, and he will benefit more than any other name that was on the list up to that time. He groused around to the two committees as if he was making them a present. One would think that they were the ones to be benefited instead of himself. That brings to mind past events. A couple of years ago it was not difficult to go out and raise a thousand or two dollars without anyone making a kick. It was so easy that there was a craze along that line. Naturally the business men got tired. Then came the row over the collection and distribution of one of the funds. That was the climax and it was a good one, for it cleared the atmosphere, gave the business men a rest, set the precedent for the publication of all subscriptions and a public accounting of the expenditures. The kick referred to was the only one that the finance committee got in their trip yesterday and it probably will be the only one they will get. The business men realize that everything is going to be open and above board; that they will get a square deal; that something ought to be held this year and they are ready to pay the fiddler.

I see by the papers that Coos Bay is going to have to wait for its railroad until Central Oregon has been accommodated. That brings to mind the presence in our county of Mr. Harriman. His being here has already resulted in much benefit for Klamath county and is going to result in a great deal more, provided the people here do not lose their lead. I was talking some months ago with a gentleman who resided in the same town wherein Mr. Harriman has his home in the East. I have forgotten the name of the place. He told me that when Mr. Harriman first went there that some of the people lost their heads and began to believe that the presence of the Wizard meant millions to them. They annoyed him with their attentions and pestered him in many ways. The result was that it was quietly given out that if he was not let alone he would find some place else to live in. And he meant it, too. Now it would not surprise me if the same thing happened here. I have seen many evidences of this same pestering going on here. Because Mr. Harriman is a man of means, a national figure, is no reason why he should be encroached upon. He should be treated with the same kindly consideration that anyone else receives when visiting this county. He should be let alone and be permitted to get as much enjoyment out of his vacation as it is possible for one man to get out of one thing. If he wants anything he will ask for it; then give it to him, but until then let him rest in peace.

WE'VE GOT A TELEPHONE.

We've got a telephone at last. And wife is quite content. She says the news comes in so fast. She hasn't spent a cent. For literature of any kind?—She hears the neighbors tell So much of things that're going on. She listens for that bell. And, when some one begins to talk, She takes receiver down. And then she knows how everything is going on in town.

I'd like to use the phone sometimes And get the price of grain, And call the Weather Bureau up. And learn when it will rain. But all the women on our line Have got so much to say, I wait and wait, while other men Are drawing in their hay. And then I say a word or two And wish that telephone Was anywhere but in my house, Or I'd a line alone.

Successful Performance.

The Godfrey family have given two very successful performances in Quincy. The entertainments given by the combination are pronounced to be among the best that have been given in Quincy during the past year. The acrobatic and other performances of the Godfrey children elicited much applause, and the serpentine dance by Mrs. Godfrey was one of the most attractive features that have been witnessed in the hall. Indeed, her performance exceeded anything of the kind it has been the privilege of this community to see. In acrobatic feats, Mr. Godfrey always has pleased, and his appearance in Quincy this time has been no exception to the rule.—Quincy Bulletin.

MILLS ADDITION LOTS are Advancing in Value

When blocks in Mills Addition were offered at bargain prices a number of shrewd investors bought; since that time values have increased materially.

These Lots are Bargain Buys at present prices, and there is every reason to anticipate an advance in prices. Remember these lots are FIFTY feet in width and ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY FEET deep—more than double the area of most town lots offered to investors.
