Sells Klamath Fruit for Seattle Fair

EXPENSE TO SHIP

Excellent Varieties of Hardier Fruits Could Be Obtained Here

While Klamath county's crop of fruit will not be as extensive this year as in seasons past, some very excellent varieties of the hardier fruits are being grown in some of the more favored districts. An opportunity is given this section for some very effective advertising at small expense. Exhibits at the Alaska-Yukon Exposition at Seattle next year. All the expenses of shipping, storing and displaying the fruit will be borne by the Oregon Commission, and Klamath county should take advantage of this opportunity to be represented. The following letter received by County Inspector Stearns from W. K. Manning, of the State Board of Horticulture, explains the matter thoroughly.

Portland, Oregon, August 25, 1908.

The State of Oregon must make a magnificent fruit exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle next year. We as fruit growers must not allow it to be said that any other district can excel or even equal us, and in order to accomplish the desired result there must be a close work along the line.

The apple exhibit must be gathered this fall and put in cold storage. The Oregon Commission is building a cold storage plant in the basement of the Oregon Building at Seattle, so all fruit destined for exhibit can be stored there and stored.

President Wehrung of the Oregon Commission has asked me to assist in gathering this fruit, hence this letter to you as County Inspector asking your help. You are familiar with the conditions in your county and know where the best fruit is to be had and also the people who will be most likely to assist in the matter.

The Commission will pay all the freight charges and store the fruit at the proper time, giving to each county, locality, fruit growers, union or individual donating the fruit, full credit for the same. This will enable any grower or association to make an exhibit and do some effective advertising at very small expense.

"Will you kindly take up this matter at once in your county? Submit it to any fruit growers union you may have, to your Commercial bodies and to as many individuals as possible. Secure the aid of your newspapers and make every effort to secure an exhibit that will be a credit to your county.

"All fruits intended for exhibit should be packed with paper wrappers and cardboard, and rushed into cold storage just as quickly as possible—this is of supreme importance.

"Please notify M. D. Wisdam, Secretary, on or before September 15th about what you can do and he will give you full instructions regarding shipping. Every box must be marked plainly with the grower's name and address and name of variety.

"No better work for horticulture than this can be done; the success of this part of your county exhibit will depend upon your efforts, and I believe your County Court will allow your expenses for the time necessary if you present the matter properly to it."

MANNING SELLS TO HEAVLIN & BARNES

A. J. Manning, who has been in the confectionery business in this city for seven years, yesterday sold out to Dean Heavlin and J. H. Barnes. The new proprietors are both well known in this city and county, and expect to increase the stock and make a number of improvements in the business.

Mr. Manning has agreed to remain in the store for three months, when he expects to go to Nevada to engage in the horse and stock business.

MR. HARRIMAN AND FAMILY DELIGHTED WITH THEIR VISIT

The Railroad Magnate Leaves His Pelican Bay Mountain Home

LOOKS ROBUST AND IN EXCELLENT HEALTH

Plans for Route Through Central Oregon Not Fully Developed—Work on California Northeastern Ordered Rushed to Give City Water Connection

E. H. Harriman came down from his summer home this morning in his private launch and was driven to the Southern Pacific headquarters, arriving there shortly after noon. He left almost immediately after luncheon and was taken down the river in the launch Lucetta.

A representative of the Herald, who called upon Mr. Harriman shortly before his departure, was greeted in a most friendly manner by the railroad magnate. Mr. Harriman was asked if he would consent to make a statement as to railroad building through Central Oregon. In reply he said: "There is nothing that I can give out at this time, but developments will soon show. What is now being done can be readily seen by looking at the work being done."

In reply to further questions Mr. Harriman stated that plans for the Central Oregon route and the Coos Bay road were not fully developed yet. The California Northeastern railroad will be rushed, so that Klamath Falls can have water connection right away. In the words of Mr. Harriman the "rest of the road will be built intelligently."

Delighted With Visit.

In speaking of his stay at Pelican Bay, Mr. Harriman was enthusiastic and said that he had a most enjoyable time, and that his entire family were delighted with their visit. "At this time," he said, "no definite plans had been made for the future improvements at Pelican Bay." It has been reported that agents of Mr. Harriman have been securing options on several thousand acres in the immediate vicinity of his resort, for the purpose of building a city on the lake, but Mr. Harriman would not deny or affirm the reports.

Wants To Come Back.

When he was asked if he would return next year, Mr. Harriman said: "Next year is a long way off, but nothing would please me better than to come back again next summer."

In Excellent Health.

Mr. Harriman is quite a different looking man than on his arrival here. The mountain breezes, combined with the out of door exercise on horseback and rowing on the lake, has put new life into his being and he looks as if he had lost five to ten years of his age. He has a nice healthy color in his face and has taken on considerable flesh. It is safe to say that on his return to the heat of the East, he will wish many times for just one of the cool evenings at the Klamath lake home.

After leaving Weed in his private car, Mr. Harriman will go north, making his first stop at Medford, where he has agreed to spend a few hours as the guest of the local commercial club, take an automobile ride with the Medfordites and give them a little talk.

From Medford the Harriman train will proceed to Eugene, where the distinguished railroad magnate will again be entertained by the business men of the university town.

Albany "boosters" will next give Mr. Harriman the glad hand, he having already accepted their invitation to stop over for a little while. From there he will proceed to Portland for a consultation with General Manager J. P. O'Brien, who has been finishing the work, started by Mr. Kruttschnitt, of making a thorough investigation of the Company's lines in Oregon.

PETITION TO INCORPORATE.

Town of Dorris May Change Its Name To Klamath Pass.

A dispatch from Dorris says that a petition has been prepared and is being circulated among the property owners and others in that town asking that an election be called by the Board of Supervisors for the purpose of voting on the proposition of incorporating the town of Dorris. The petition will go before the Supervisors at the regular meeting on October 5th, but whether it will be acted upon at that session or not is not known.

There is a proposition on foot in connection with the incorporation movement, and it is nothing less than a plan to change the name of the town at the same time that it is incorporated. Some are proposing that the old name of the place, Klamath Pass, be selected.

The town now has a population of something more than 500, and continues to grow.

SHEEP ARE DECREASING.

Lake County's Chief Wealth Producer Reduced Over Half.

Estimates made by the sheepmen of Lake County show there has been a big decrease in the number of sheep in the county in the past two years. It is estimated that in 1906 not less than 500,000 sheep were run on the range of that county, but this year there are less than 200,000. This decrease has cut down the revenue of the county and has forced many of the former wool growers out of the business. The things that have contributed to the reduction are that range has been scarce since the creation of the forest reserves, that the price of wool has gone down, the high prices of carcasses last year, and the fact that many of the lands of the county that have heretofore been open to the sheepmen have been leased and closed to the wool growers, adding to the scarcity of the range caused by the reserves, on which the number of sheep are limited so that the grass is protected. The chief wealth of Lake county has heretofore been in the wool and mutton industry, but there will be a big decrease in the income from this line this year.

An Unlucky Family.

Major Carter, of Ashland, met with a painful accident last Thursday on Beaver Creek in this county, and his wounds may even yet prove very serious. He had arrived only a day or two before the accident at the prospect he had been employed to do some work on, coming direct from the deathbed of his brother Ernest at Klamath Falls, when in some manner not learned, a number of caps exploded. Both of his legs were badly lacerated. He was taken to his home in Ashland, and at last accounts was doing well.—Yreka Journal.

The staff of teachers for the city schools is now complete. The last two vacancies were filled yesterday. Miss Baker, of Kansas, who has been in the county for some time, has been secured to teach the Third grade. The Fifth grade will be filled by Miss Dona Bell, who has been teaching in the Medford schools.

HARRISON GETS FORTY AND COSTS

Al Harrison, charged with petty larceny, was found guilty in the Police Court and he was fined $40 and costs by Judge Leavitt. The costs amounted to $18.70. Allen Sloan recovered the pair of boots and blankets, which were stolen, but the other articles are missing.

It is claimed that Harrison has his Second Hand Store full of old junk and articles of every conceivable description, which it is believed have mostly been purchased for small sums from young boys of the city. It is alleged that many of the articles have been stolen or picked up and taken to the store and sold. The police will investigate the matter and if any evidence can be obtained of his dealing with boys under age, complaint will be made.

NOT ENOUGH FOR QUORUM

Only Few Present at Water Meeting

LACKED 362 VOTES

There Was No Business of Importance to Come Before Stockholders

The adjourned meeting of the Water Users Association, which was called for 2 o'clock this afternoon, was very brief. Vice-President Rueck called the meeting to order, and upon the roll being called it was found that they lacked 362 votes of having a quorum. The meeting adjourned without any discussion.

Everyone present seemed to feel satisfied with the result of the gathering. There was really no business of importance to come before the meeting. One of the Bonanza stockholders expressed the feeling of the land owners in the Upper country when he said: "I am glad that we had no meeting. We have been working four years to get them to start on the Upper Project, and now that they have commenced, we do not want anything done that might stop the work. All we want is to have them keep on working."

J. P. Churchill arrived in the city last night from Yreka, to attend the meeting of the Water Users Association, and to look after other business matters. He was accompanied by his brother-in-law, J. T. Wheeler, an attorney of Rawhide, Nevada, and Dr. C. A. Larson, of Yreka, who are anxious to see the Klamath country.

The first run of ocean salmon up the Klamath River has reached Keno, a number of the fish being caught there yesterday. Several of the salmon were sent to parties in this city and are in fine shape. They are good eating at this season of the year.
