KLAMATH FALLS, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1908.

WANT ESPERANTO TAUGHT IN OREGON.

(Telegram.)
 Resolutions have been adopted by the Rose City Esperanto Club requesting Representative-elect Charles J. McDonald to introduce a measure in the Legislature to have Esperanto taught in the Oregon University and various high schools. The club re-organized for the fall last evening by electing the following officers: Dr. Dela B. Howard, president; Miss Ielma Desmond, vice-president; C. B. McDonald, secretary, and Professor John Hughes, treasurer.

Dr. Howard will leave today for the East, and will visit the universities of Ohio and Pennsylvania, where it is reported. Esperanto is taught as an optional study. The International Congress of Esperanto at Dresden emphasized the importance of the international auxiliary language, and the United States government sent Major B. F. Staub as official representative. The utility of Esperanto was thoroughly tested when an audience consisting of people from 35 nations, representing 50 languages and dialects, attended a dramatic performance in Esperanto.

Several hundred Portland people are interested in the Esperanto movement, among them Rev. James H. Black and Professor C. C. Halzel. The latter intends giving Esperanto a place in the curriculum of subjects to be taught in the military school at Delaura Beach. In a letter to John Fairchild, who will organize a class in Corvallis, Professor Halzel, now in Germany, writes:

"I wish to call attention to the fact that the rapidly spreading use of Esperanto in European cities can be made of immense benefit to tourists. Esperanto is now commonly spoken and understood in Paris, where it is extensively used in the shops, hotels and restaurants. If you were to sail for Europe tomorrow with an Esperanto textbook in your suitcase, you could acquire enough of the language during the course of the voyage to be of real use to you in Paris or Brussels."

The following data on Esperanto appears in an article by Jackson K. Fairchild in the O. A. C. college paper:

"Esperanto has now over 40 periodicals, one published in the United States, and is being studied by millions of people in 35 nations. In the United States there are 75 organized Esperanto clubs. In states, Illinois ranks first. As to cities, Chicago first, then New York, Boston and San Francisco. The Esperantists of the United States are using every effort to bring the fifth international congress to this country in 1909, and those in Seattle are endeavoring to bring it there during the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. The most immediate use one can find to repay them for study is in correspondence. Within a short time the student will be able to write letters and cards to 'samidanno' (fellow thinkers) all over the world and to secure a great deal of pleasure and profit from the correspondence. This is no idle dream as the writer has several cards from Europe to show for it.

"Esperanto is not artificial. It is an assorting, putting in order, a harmonization of English, French, and Spanish languages, with a very little Russian, some German, with a Latin foundation. Wherever possible, words already familiar to the people of three or four nations were selected, but when no common elements could be found, the roots were selected, with a view to their adaptability, at the same time dividing the selection among the nations, so as to make the language about equally easy for all to learn."

GANDERBONE'S FORECAST FOR OCTOBER.

(Copyright 1908 by C. H. Rieth.)
 October is from the Latin octo, meaning eight. It was the eighth month on the old Roman calendar. This brought oysters in at the end of August, when they had to be candied like eggs, and the Oyster Trust always cornered the supply in cold storage. But Rome, like every other nation, had a reformer not too often for reasonable profits in business, and when Numa Pompilius came into power in 713 B. C., he made October the tenth month and busted the Oyster Trust. He was idolized by a grateful populace, and was only relinquished to private life in his later days that he might gratify his desire to hunt big game in Africa.

Now Taft was enjoying
 An aeroplane flight,
 And skimming around
 Like the man-swallow Wright,
 When who should appear,
 Holding fast to his hat
 And sailing the sky.
 But the man from the Platte.

Said fat Bill to Platte Bill,
 "Now, isn't this great?"
 Said Bryan, "You bet—
 Is my rudder on straight?"
 And the wind coming up
 With a slight show of bluster,
 They both skidded off
 Through the air belly buster.
 And while they were flying
 About a mile high,
 The Roosevelt entry
 Emitting a cry:
 And Bryan, supposing
 He'd dropped from the race,
 Slowed up with a horrified
 Look on his face.

But Taft was just floating—
 "My motor's gone out!"
 Now, hand me a match
 When you next come about!"
 But Bryan just laughed.
 And he said, "My dear speeder,
 Remember that I
 Am the great matchless leader."

The pink mudguards of Sunny Jim will catch the frost descending, and turn a fine autumnal red, with the burning sumac blending; the frost will thin out Mr. Kern's elaborate chin thicket, and each of these hair-bearing tails will go some on his ticket.

The frost will paint the sassafras a deep and glowing red, and the farm hand will resume his howl for blankets on his bed. The plant exuded phosphorus will gossamer the air, the stiff rheumatic will put on his wind-proof underwear, the southward moving ducks will quack upon the reeded lakes, and man will line himself inside with buttered flannel cakes.

The women will parade beneath the big sky-scraper hats, and guy lines strung to steady them will anchor in their rats; and every time the wind blows brisk, with many screams and squeals, they'll all turn turtle and will fan the azure with their heels.

The poor hay fever patient will return from his retreat, and every time his nose goes off and honks upon the street, we'll scramble for the nearest curb as fast as we can dart, believing that his lusty sneeze is some ski-doodle cart.

The candidate will press his suit and tell little jokes while he is handing out cigars they name for famous folks; and notwithstanding all the harm this sort of smoke has done us, we'll all wait up again and try his deadly Mrs. Guinness.

After the 26th October will be under the influence of the zodiacal Scorpio the crustacean. Persons born in Scorpio are lobsters, and are mostly actors and baseball players. They have remarkable foresight. Among other things, they can tell when the hired girl is going to quit, and always give her notice first.
