THE KLAMATH IRRIGATION
PROJECT.
By W. H. Helleman,
U. S. Reclamation Service.

The Klamath Project has sufficiently progressed in the building of its irrigation system to invite settlement in a large way. The lands of this project were largely in private ownership before the time the Reclamation Service began its comprehensive scheme of irrigation development.
Previous to the entrance of the government into this field, two small private irrigation districts existed on the project and the nucleus for farm settlement and town building was already established. Upon the advent of the Reclamation Service, adjustment was made of existing water rights in the district, and land in private ownership was subscribed to the project, in accordance with the terms of the Reclamation Act. At the present time there is but little land in the project open to homestead entry, and establishing a home generally entails the purchase of land from the present owner. The purchase of land in private ownership under a government project may be considered by many settlers as having material advantage over homestead entry on public land, as, for instance, the more rapid requirement of title, though the water right obligations are the same in both cases. A person purchasing land from a private owner at once establishes sufficient title to obtain some credit at the local stores.
Such a condition is not possible in homesteading.

Towns.
Klamath Falls is at present the principal town in the basin, and is the county seat of Klamath County.
It is a town of 2500 inhabitants, has a number of substantial homes, and is well located, having on one side the Link River with its water-power possibilities, and a lake frontage on both Ewauna and Upper Klamath lakes. Numerous additions have been platted to the older portion of the town. Several hot springs issue in or near the town limits, and an adequate water supply for municipal and domestic use is derived from pure cold springs located within the city limits.

The town is supplied with electric lights, a fire protection department, and telephone systems. For irrigation uses a government canal occupies one of the higher terraces of the town and furnishes adequate water supply for lawns and gardens. The town is in greater part naturally drained, being built in fact, on a series of slopes which reach down to its lake and river frontages.
Klamath Falls has excellent common schools and churches. The primary school of the town is a new native sand-stone building, completed in 1906 at a cost of over $25,000.
The County High School building is built of brick and native stone. It was completed in 1905 at a cost of about $10,000, and is large enough for a number of years in the future.
Several churches are represented, among them being the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Catholic and Christian Science. All of these except the Christian Science own buildings.
Among the fraternal orders established may be mentioned Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Woodmen and Workmen, with ladies' auxiliaries to several of these.
Klamath Falls is destined to become a town of several thousand inhabitants. It has abundant and cheap power for the running of mills, and is surrounded by excellent agricultural areas. The lumber business is at present the principal industry, the town having two mills of material size. The town is a gateway by which the great timber belt to the north may easily be reached. The rugged mountains and natural wonderland of the Crater Lake region contiguous to Klamath Falls bespeak for it a more than general commercial growth. The district undoubtedly will rapidly develop into one of numerous summer resorts abounding in all the attractions such places commonly require.
Scattered over the project area are the towns of Merrill, Keno, Bonanza, and Dairy. The town of Merrill is second in size in the district. This town is situated in the Tule Lake valley, 20 miles from Klamath Falls.
Merrill has a fine frame school building, church, brick bank building, a flour mill, creamery and other town necessities. A transmission line is building to this town to furnish electric light and other power.
The town of Bonanza is at the junction of Youna and Langell Valleys, 22 miles from Klamath Falls and about the same distance from Merrill.
Bonanza has a number of wonderful pure, cold springs in the center of the town; it has a $15,000 brick school building, church, bank, flour mill run by electric power, creamery, business houses, and is installing an electric lighting system.
The other towns at present are in most instances small centers of trade.
Some of them have mills, excellent schools and places of worship, and are awaiting only the larger development which must follow the development of irrigation.
