KLAMATH FALLS, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1908.

THE UNKNOWN QUANTITY.

Possibility of Bryan's election is admitted. It is admitted, always, when he is a candidate. Because it is admitted that every person who may be dissatisfied for any reason, or for no reason, may vote for Bryan. Even the man who is dissatisfied with himself will vote for Bryan. To this sort the candidacy of Bryan always appeals, with peculiar force.

The election next month will not be decided by the business vote or industrial vote, commonly called the independent vote, but by the vote that is dissatisfied with itself. The really independent and substantial vote of the country is divided; but the majority of it supports Taft. Bryan's play is for the votes of those who, since they haven't much energy or efficiency or foresight, and want to work as little as possible and to fly as far as they can from the competition of those of their own class who set a high pace, feel and declare that they "haven't a fair show." To this sort of people the effort of Bryan's whole campaign is directed. Partisan spirit and the name of the party will get for him, he knows, the bulk of his votes. His play is for these others.

He expects help from the labor unions. Some help he will get from them. They, too, have members of varying degrees of efficiency and purpose. Then every labor union has members of radical and revolutionary disposition. In every crisis and on every important occasion, these come to the front. The more quiet members do not care to contend with them. Just now it is advertised that the labor unions of Portland are soon to hold a Bryan or anti-Taft meeting. These are the extremists. Needless to say, they can't control the union labor vote. The solid element of union labor does not commit itself to effort through partisan politics. But the element that is violent and rash often tries to do so—much to the injury in the long run of the cause of union labor. The "agitator" sort, in union labor or out of it, doubtless will now support Bryan. Indeed, it always has. But the rational and steady element of labor, whether in the unions or out of it, never has. There are no men more steady of purpose or careful of judgment than the majority of the men who constitute the labor unions. But in times of radical action and in revolutionary times, the aggressive minority is always at the front, with loudest noise. On these Bryan now depends, as always heretofore. Hope springs eternal in the Bryan breast. It hangs chiefly on appeal to those who are dissatisfied with themselves, and attribute their lack of success to their assumption that society somehow is unfriendly to them, and "that the party in power" doesn't give them a chance. These and such like, it will always be necessary to contend with, till the end of time.

The result of observations of double stars made from 1839 to 1907 at the observatory at Cambridge, England, will soon be published in book form.

You know, of course, after this suggestion, why it is that Roosevelt is clamoring so hard for more ships for the navy. No? Well, confidentially, it's because he wants to send them out to meet the vessels of other nations, and establish friend-ships.

A Kansas editor says this story is told on one of their local teachers. She drew a picture on the board, picturing the eruption of a volcano with fiery colored crayon. She then asked the youngsters what it looked like. One little towhead yelled: "It looks like h—l."

A new form of imposition on the government has been discovered. Uncle Sam has been paying non-reservation schools $167 annually for each Indian that they enrolled. It was a sort of subsidy. Now it appears that agents of certain schools are kidnaping Indian children in order to get the government bonus. The government was therefore called upon to protect the Indian against that which it had previously encouraged as being of benefit to him.

More than 100,000,000 lobsters were propagated and set free by the Fish Commission last year, with the result that the price was cut almost in half.

Spare time is lean time. Happiness stops longest where love is lost.

Worry is waste; it builds many useless bridges. The parlor match will not always light the kitchen fire. Some men go forth at night to work; others to be worked.

Suspicion is a magnifying glass through which jealousy strains its eyes.

Michael Callahan, a section boss for the Southern railroad in the little town of Ludlow, Ky., has a keen Gaelic wit. One warm afternoon while walking along the railroad tracks he found a section hand placidly sleeping beside the rails. Callahan looked disgustedly at the delinquent for a full minute and then remarked: "Slape on, ye lazy spalpeen, slape on, fur as long as you slape you've got a job. But when you wake up you ain't got none."

Bishop Head of the African Methodist Episcopal church is touring the country urging negroes to go to Africa. He says they have no future as a race in this country while in the French province of Senegal, the republic of Liberia, and the British provinces of Sierra Leone and Lagos, unparalleled opportunities await them. If the Bishop's plan should be adopted the result would probably be that the United States would keep the undesirable element of negroes and lose the honest, energetic, industrious class.

A man can run a store without advertising and he can wink at a pretty girl in the dark—but what's the use.

Fine Suits for Autumn and Winter Wear

THE NEW SUITS ARE HERE AND WE BELIEVE THAT WHEN YOU SEE THEM YOU WILL AGREE WITH US IN SAYING THAT THEY ARE THE ACME OF PERFECTION IN TAILORING. THE NEW PATTERNS AND COLORINGS ARE AMONGST THE MOST HANDSOME AND ATTRACTIVE WE HAVE BROUGHT TO THIS CITY, AND THE STYLES ARE FINER AND BETTER THAN USUAL.

While the fabrics are largely in the nature of novelties, they are far removed from the freakish fads which some people have been trying to force on the public. We draw a distinct line between freak clothing and desirable novelties.

FRIEND MADE CLOTHES MAKE FRIENDS: We've never heard of a man who didn't feel better satisfied with these garments than any he could obtain elsewhere. Did you ever stop to consider that a nice shoulder in a sack coat couldn't make the vest and trousers good. Some people go to buy a suit—try on the coat, and pay their good money—they've been educated to buy that way. We put the vest and trousers on and fit you from heel to collar. If it isn't right in the store it won't be any better when you get it home. It must be right or you can't have it from us.
