SCENE FROM "A MAN'S BROKEN PROMISE," AT THE OPERA HOUSE, BY ECKHARDT'S IDEALS NEXT WEEK.

ECKHARDT'S IDEALS NEXT ATTRACTION.

Well Known Repertoire Company to Open Week's Engagement at Opera House Monday Night.

This company will begin a week's engagement at the Opera House on next Monday night October 12th, in some of the strongest repertoire plays ever produced in the state.

The company will be seen Monday in their opening performance, "The Village Schoolmaster." This is one of the funniest comedies ever written. Mr. Orral Humphrey, in the leading role as the Schoolmaster, Nolan Crane Miss Virginia Duncan, as Hellen Gray in the leading female role. Mr. Oliver Eckhardt, as Toby Tompkins, the comedy part.

One of the bills during the week will be Oliver J. Eckhardt's production of "A Man's Broken Promise," a new play by Lillian Mortimer, the authoress of "No Mother to Guide Her." This statement is no doubt a welcome one to Miss Mortimer's many admirers. This remarkably clever woman's play always tell a story of intense heart interest, enlivened by plenty of clean, healthy comedy and moreover they unobtrusively instill a lesson of strong human significance.

The play deals with the effects of Jane Oakland to induce Simon Burt to right the bitter wrong he has dealt her, and give herself and her innocent child the name and protection of which he has basely defrauded them. Mr Burt has left them to starve in a safed room in the heartless city, while he returns to his country home meaning to wed the daughter of a wealthy neighbor, Ruth Rivers, for whom he has a wild infatuation. Jim Lyons, a former companion of the smooth-tongued scoundrel, but who has repudiated him and his evil ways tries to force Burt into doing his duty, but is struck down and is locked with Jane in a small shed which Simon then fires, leaving the two to perish in the flames. Turnips, a comical, quick witted little character who Mr. Burt has taken from the poorhouse gives the alarm and they are saved through the heroism of Clifford Sanford, Ruth's sweetheart. Simon then abducts his child intending to put her out of the way forever, once more his plans miscarry, and he at last meets his just deserts, being shot by his mother in order to save him from perishing in the electric chair at the hands of justice.

The vaudeville between acts is well worth the price of admission, to say nothing of the splendid play, which never fails to receive the highest of praise wherever it has been presented.

Reserved seats 75 cents. Seats on sale at Klamath Bakery. General admission, 50 cents.

The doors open at 7:45, curtain rises at 8:30 sharp. There will be nobody seated while the curtain is up.

SUMMONS.

Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, in and for Klamath County.

Elnora F. Boggs, Plaintiff, vs. Edward F. Boggs, Defendant. Summons.

To Edward F. Boggs, Defendant: In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the 16th day of November, 1908, being the last day prescribed in the order for the publication of this summons, the first publication of which being on Friday, the 2nd day of October, 1908, and if you fail to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint filed herein, to-wit:

That a decree be entered herein, in favor of plaintiff and against defendant, dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between plaintiff and defendant, and for such other relief as may be meet to equity.

This summons is served by publication in the Evening Herald, a daily newspaper of general circulation, published in Klamath County, State of Oregon, by order of the Hon. George Noland, Judge of the Circuit Court for the first Judicial District of said State, under date of October 1, 1908, which order requires summons to be published for six successive weeks, commencing on the 2nd day of October, 1908, and ending on the 16th day of November, 1908.
