MAZAMA STILL UNDER WATER.

J. B. C. Taylor, one of the owners of the Mazama which capsized on the Upper Lake, is in the city today. Mr. Taylor says that no attempt has been made yet to raise the steamer on account of the continued high winds. The boat is lying in only five feet of water and it will not be difficult to raise it. A crew will go up this afternoon or tomorrow to commence work. The cause of the capsizing of the steamer was due to the big surge which was in tow. The water off Eagle Point is very shallow and the wind made it very choppy. As the boat was tugging about, the barge which was tied to the side was forced underneath and raised one side of the boat sufficient to cause it to take water. As the waves receded it left one side caught in the barge and the boat filled and went down. 19
