CROOK COUNTY TO HAVE ANOTHER RABBIT DRIVE.

PRINEVILLE, Or., Dec. 2.—Agency Plains farmers in large numbers will assemble early Monday morning, December 14, at A. Monner's ranch, in company with as many Indians as care to come from the Warm Springs reservation, for the first rabbit drive ever held on an extensive scale in Crook County. Starting from the north end of the plains, the rabbitchasers, without dogs or guns, will drive the rabbits ahead of them in a southerly direction to a point near the Matoles River, where the lines will converge upon a large corral, in which the rabbits will be slaughtered.

The drive will undoubtedly last for several days, as the farmers who have suffered from the rabbits' depredations are anxious to exterminate them as far as possible. The pests were almost exterminated several years ago by a disease which made great inroads in their ranks, and some persons held this contagion to be due to inoculation by Government experts, but if this was the fact the rabbits have completely recovered in the Agency Plains district, and a score can readily be jumped in a mile's walk at any point in the sagebrush.

During the past year farmers in the more sparsely settled sections have complained that their crops were almost totally destroyed by rabbits, while all farmers have complained of some damage from the furzy pests.

Similar drives will be held in various parts of Crook County, and each drive is expected to result in the death of several thousand of the rabbits.

NOT ENOUGH POLES
SO WILL BUILD JAIL.

Madras, in Crook County, which will probably be the first division point of the new Harriman railroad up the Deschutes River, and which is now the headquarters of numerous surveying crews, is building its first caboose. With the coming of the railroad comes also the usual apportionment of "drunks and disorderlies" of every railroad town. Heretofore, Madras has been content with handcuffing its "bad men" to the provincial telephone pole, but henceforth the town will have a regulation lockup.

The largest dredger in the world, the "Leviathan," recently launched for the Mersey Docks and Harbor Board, is 487 feet long, 69 feet in width, and 20 feet 7 inches in depth.
Her pumps are capable of dredging 10,000 tons of sand into her bunkers in 50 minutes from a maximum depth of 70 feet, and she can carry these 10,000 tons out to sea at a speed of 10 knots. The dredging plant consists of four sets of engines, driving four centrifugal pumps connected to two 42-inch suction tubes on each side of the vessel.

With the work on the Los Angeles-Owens River 240-mile aqueduct going forward at the accelerated speed of five miles per month, Chief Engineer William Mulholland this week submitted a report to the Board of Public Works, estimating the amount of the work to be completed in the year ending November 30, 1909, at fifty-eight miles, and the cost at $4,682,- 618. The most difficult part of the work is being performed now, the boring of the big tunnels through the mountains of rock having been in progress for several months. The whole aqueduct is being built by the municipality at a cost of about $25,- 000,000, and it is expected will be completed within five years.

Travel between New York and Brooklyn has seen a remarkable increase during the past year. The total travel in both directions for twenty-four hours was $16,000 as compared with 706,000 last year, an increase of about 16 per cent. The opening of the Subway tunnel and the growing traffic over the Williamsburg Bridge have caused a decrease of travel over the Brooklyn Bridge from 423,000 in 1907 to 310,000 in 1908. An analysis of the traffic across the East River shows that the ferries carried 165,000; the Subway, 160,- 000; Williamsburg Bridge, 182,000, and Brooklyn Bridge 310,000. Nothing could show more forcibly than do these figures the commanding position held by the famous Brooklyn Bridge among the transportation facilities between Manhattan Island and Long Island.

—THE—
KIAMATH IRRIGATION
PROJECT.
By W. H. Heitkemper,
U. S. Reclamation Service.

The Klamath Project has sufficiently progressed in the building of its irrigation system to invite settlement in a large way. The lands of this project were largely in private ownership before the time the Reclamation Service began its comprehensive scheme of irrigation development.
Previous to the entrance of the government into this field, two small private irrigation districts existed on the project and the nucleus for farm settlement and town building was already established. Upon the advent of the Reclamation Service, adjustment was made of existing water rights in the district, and land in private ownership was subscribed to the project, in accordance with the terms of the Reclamation Act. At the present time there is but little land in the project open to homestead entry, and establishing a home generally entails the purchase of land from the present owner. The purchase of land in private ownership under a government project may be considered by many settlers as having material advantage over homestead entries on public land, as, for instance, the more rapid requirement of title, though the water right obligations are the same in both cases. A person purchasing land from a private owner at once establishes sufficient title to obtain some credit at the local stores.
Such a condition is not possible in homesteading.

Klamath Falls is at present the principal town in the basin, and is the county seat of Klamath County.
It is a town of 2500 inhabitants, has a number of substantial homes, and is well located, having on one side the Link River with its water-power possibilities, and a lake frontage on both Ewauna and Upper Klamath lakes. Numerous additions have been platted to the older portion of the town. Several hot springs issue in or near the town limits, and an adequate water supply for municipal and domestic use is derived from pure cold springs located within the city limits.

AT SETH'S SERENADE.

When Seth got married we had a bee,
And went up to his house for a shiver.
Some took drums, and some took pans,
And some took whistles, and some tin cans With strings in the bottom and reum to rub,
And they yowled like wildcats at every scrub.
And the dearest noise that ever was made
Was the whooptedew at Seth's serenade.

But we carried something beside the noise To that little home, we girls and boys.
And after the bang, and fun, and din, Seth gave us an invite and we went in,
And under each arm was a bundle hid—We loaded them down, that's what we did!
Pounds of this and pounds of that—Bundles were big and bags were fat.
And then the squire a speech he made For the rest of the crowd at Seth's serenade.

"We're here to wish ye long life," said he,
"And a way that is smooth and as straight as can be.
Start every day as ye're startin' now With a smile on your face and a care-free brow.
So I bring ye to-night— friends Seth and May—
A can of the cheer that starts my day."
Then he crowned the heap— he's a knowin' man—
With a Chase & Sanborn coffee can.
And before we left we came coffee made—'Twas the best of the treat at Seth's serenade.
