KLAMATH FALLS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1909.

New York will erect a fine building on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle this year. More than $100,000 will probably be spent in participation on the part of the Empire State.

The Arctic Brotherhood building on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle is to remain a permanent structure. It will be a museum of natural history at the close of the fair, as well as a fraternity hall for students attending the University of Washington from Alaska.

Senator Thomas Kinney of St. Louis will probably again introduce his bill to tax bachelors. He introduced a similar bill two years ago. A Randolph county bachelor writes him as follows: "I am a bachelor. I believe it would be better to introduce a bill requiring the state to teach girls to keep house and cook and learn to save. The girls are to blame. A woman today thinks if she marries an she has to do is to sit in the parlor or go to a card party. That is the reason a bachelor is afraid to marry. I hope you don't blame a bachelor for being a bachelor."

Pennsylvania will be the possessor soon of the largest stationary engine in the world. It is now being erected at the Carnegie Steel Company's plant at Sharon. Without foundation plates or flywheel, the engine weighs 550 tons. Two of the castings weighed 118 tons each, and to transport them, special flat cars had to be built. The engine's capacity is 25,000 horse power, yet only one man will be required to operate it. As the engine will be used for operating the rolling machines it will be subject to great strain. At the end of each run it will have to be reversed quickly and the load will vary from nothing to its maximum power.

A Very Rich Man Says:

"The American people are prodigal, and our extravagance will have to be paid for by some one. People are taking advantage of prosperity, such as has never been excelled in this country, to be wasteful and extravagant. We are not saving up for the rainy day, for the future time of need."

Government Supervision

of National Banks, is every year becoming more rigid, the examination into every detail more careful. It is the purpose of the Government to make the word "National," in connection with a bank synonymous with "Safety."

In addition to the frequent and regular examinations of the books of THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF KLAMATH FALLS, by the National Bank Examiners under the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency, at least five, detail sworn reports are made out by officers of the Bank to the Department. This
