KLAMATH FALLS, THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1909.

Farm journals in different parts of the country seem to have taken up the question of free lumber, and congress and everybody else in Washington are being bombarded with literature and letters urging that the new tariff bill be amended to provide for the free admission of lumber. This may account for the fact that papers have from time to time stories on the opposite side. A Minneapolis lumberman has been interviewed there, and declares that there is enough standing timber to last one hundred years at the rate it is now being used. He asserts that the talk about the supply of timber being exhausted because the paper mills are taking it up is all bosh. He says that "after the supply is exhausted on the North American continent there are enough virgin forests in South America to supply the world for several centuries. If this country will enact wise conservation legislation and preserve trees that ought not to be cut down, it need never worry about the vanishing timber supply. There is a difference of opinion as to whether or not the tariff is going to affect the supply of timber, and even Gifford Pinchot is of the opinion that the tariff will have little effect upon forest preservation.

A great many senators, representatives and other public men, including nearly all of the members of the Missouri delegation in congress, attended a dinner given by the Southern Commercial congress at one of the big hotels in Washington the other evening. In speaking of the affair afterwards, Congressman Elvins of Missouri said: "From general conversation and from the speeches that were made after dinner, we learned a great deal about the resources of the south and of the methods it is proposed to employ in exploiting those resources. The speeches indicated a more cosmopolitan spirit on the part of the south than has heretofore prevailed. The south, undoubtedly, is cutting loose from the exclusiveness that it seemed to enjoy heretofore. It is less classish, is broadening out, and is becoming more national in scope. Southerners are inviting immigration from the north, both of people and of capital."

Out of the Ginger Jar.
 The tomato can but will it? The cheaper the shoes the louder the squeak. The wife of a henpecked husband is usually set in her ways. The men who persistently sit down are sure to be hard up. No matter how well mother may feel she is continually on the mend. It is important to have clear vision. Even the potato must have sound eyes. Neither a boil nor a cabbage amounts to anything unless it comes to a head. If young Spendthrift would settle down he might soon be able to settle up. One of the most insidious and unexpected forms of attack, is to tread upon a tack. You cannot always gauge the importance of a man by the angle at which he wears his hat. There is quite a difference between the deer-lamb and the jam that mother used to make. "There is the wreck of time!" exclaimed Jones, as his cook fell from the second-story window.

OLENE HAPPENINGS.

Friday evening the stage didn't get in until eleven o'clock.

A farewell dance was given at Mr. and Mrs. Randle's Friday evening. They have moved to Yonnu Valley.

Charles Andrews visited the Booth ranch Friday afternoon on business and spent the night with Budd and Oliver Kinney at their ranch on Lost River.

Don Williams was in Olene Saturday on business.

Hiram Roberts passed through our burg Saturday on his way to the Falls.

Willie Griffith passed through our burg Monday.

Budd and Oliver Kinney spent Sunday with their parents in Olene. Elsie Dixon was absent Thursday and Friday on account of sickness.

The Olene school did its spring cleaning last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Peterson, our former school teacher, and Miss Anna Conn visited friends in and around Olene Saturday. They spent Saturday afternoon and night with W. P. Arant, and Sunday with Mrs. James Grimes. Sunday evening with Mrs. Chas. Andrews.

Visit Oliver's big seed house.

Fair Play—It Pays.

No matter how much money a man may have, he does not like to be defrauded. If he buys a coat he wants the cloth to be just what the merchant says it is. If he buys a barrel of apples he is indignant if he discovers that the big apples have been put in the ends of the barrel and small or unsound ones between, and he decides not to deal again with the man from whom he bought them. No man wins permanent success who does not deal fairly with his customers. But he is not honest simply because he pays financially, for there is a better reason—it pays for peace of mind afforded and the true welfare of the soul.

Visit Oliver's big Seed House before buying your garden seeds. The biggest stock of flower and garden seeds ever handled in Klamath Falls. You do not need to send away for seeds as Oliver has every variety that will grow in this section.

Springtime is Here

Spring is here and right now is the time to make things grow. The trees and the bushes need pruning, the dead limbs should be taken off, and the garden and lawn will amply repay you for a little attention now. Good workmen use good tools, and those are the only kind we carry. Let us suggest GARDEN BARROWS, GARDEN AND LAWN RAKES, SPADES, SPADING FORKS, SHOVELS, TROWELS, PRUNING SHEARS, SAW AND SPRAY PUMPS. Briefly, everything to make the lawn, garden and shrubbery beautiful for the coming year.

MILLS ADDITION LOTS
 are Advancing in Value

When blocks in Mills Addition were offered at bargain prices a number of shrewd investors bought; since that time values have increased materially.

These lots are Bargain Lots at present prices, and there is every reason to anticipate an advance in prices. Remember these lots are FIFTY feet in width and ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY FEET deep—more than double the area of most town lots offered to investors.

More Bank Talks

Did it ever occur to you why all good business men keep a checking account with a bank? We'll tell you. It enables them to keep their funds in a more secure place than the office safe. It gives them a better standing in the business world. It enables them to pay their bills by check, the returned check being an undisputable receipt.

Individuals find a checking account very convenient and a source of saving. Money in one's pocket is often spent on the spur of the moment, while one is disposed to think twice before drawing on his balance in the bank. GET THE SAVINGS HABIT. Lay up for a rainy day. Start a bank account with
