KLAMATH FALLS, TUESDAY, JUNE 29, 1909.

ENCOURAGE YOUR HUSBAND.

Do not hesitate to remind him every few days that you have nothing decent to wear—never have had since you were married.

Ask him, every little while, "Why is it we never have anything like other people; never go anywhere?"

Do not fail to tell him now and then that he has been hard up for money ever since you were married.

Do not forget to remind your husband often that your children do not dress as other children do; that the girls should take music lessons from the best teachers and that they should have a first-class piano and other things to correspond.

Do not encourage your children to wear their clothes a long time; and never try to make them over. When a garment begins to show wear, to get a little out of date, just cast it aside and get a new one. New clothes look so much fresher and smarter than old ones, and one feels so much better in them.

Do not try to economize too much. You know it is the liberal soul that gets fat. Be generous with your husband's money.—Success Magazine.

HE PASSED.

Judge: "Are you a freeholder?"
Tolson: "Yes, sir; I am."
"Married or single?"
"Married three years last June."
"Have you formed or expressed any opinion?"
"Not for three years, your honor."

shown in their patents or deeds. It is difficult to understand how the validity of the title can be affected by these figures. It is recognized that on account of errors in survey the actual acreage may differ from the official acreage. One who received patent for 80 acres may without any legal objection on that account subdivide or sell off 100 acres from the tract, provided that it contains that amount of land.

"It is a well-settled rule that metes and bounds in the description of lands will control distances and quantities. The location of the boundaries of the tracts in question being definitely fixed on the ground, the actual area may properly be considered in a case of this kind.

"The amount of excess on this account is considerable, and it is to the interest of every water user that the charges be apportioned according to the actual benefit received by each, and no other just way of meeting this condition has been suggested."

CO-OPERATIVE WORK VETOED.

(Concluded From First Page.)
paying these settlers in cash, the association paid them in "scrip," issued under the direction of the Reclamation Service.

Later, when water was turned onto the project, the settler could make his payment for water in scrip rather than cash. The Reclamation Service having agreed to accept this scrip in lieu of cash. The service lost nothing by this practice, for the work was actually performed and the cost of the labor was shown on the books. When scrip came in, cash was transferred from the building fund to the reclamation fund, and the accounts balanced, just as if the settler had been paid in cash, and later turned his cash back into the reclamation fund.

Law Does Not Allow It.

But there is no law for any such system. No more agreements will be entered into with water users' associations, and no more scrip will be paid out, save in those instances where projects built on the co-operative plan are nearing completion. However, all outstanding scrip will be honored, and settlers who have been paid in scrip will lose nothing. Scrip now in their possession is as good as the day it was issued, and will be accepted, because the secretary does not intend to discredit any agreements entered into with the sanction of his predecessor. It is only as to future works that his order applies.

In taking the position he does, Mr. Ballinger has the backing of the Attorney-General, who reported that there was no warrant for this co-operative system of building government irrigation works. In the future, according to the ruling of the Attorney-General, no new project or unit of a project can be undertaken until there is available in the reclamation fund enough actual cash to defray the entire cost of building that project or unit. This, too, is an innovation, for under the late administration, projects were undertaken on the assumption that the fund would be on hand before any adopted project was completed. The effect of this ruling will be to retard somewhat work.

Rapidly, the working of the Reclamation Service is being made to conform strictly to the word and intent of the law, and practices and customs not authorized or contemplated by the law are being set aside.

BALLINGER STARTS WEST.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Secretary Ballinger arrived yesterday on his way to the Far West, where he will pass the summer in the study of government irrigation projects and other works of the Interior Department.

"The President has sent me West that I might become more fully acquainted with the necessities of the Reclamation Service," said Mr. Ballinger, "and that I might be able to make such modifications in its administration as may be necessary."

"In view of the great number of projects under construction and the limited amount of funds, it is necessary to make the apportionment carry on work where the greatest necessity or emergencies exist. For this reason some projects cannot be completed as rapidly as might be desired."

LADIES, ATTENTION.

Helping the Town . . .

By banking your money in a bank in your own community you increase the community's power to do business. If substantial farmers want to borrow money there is more to loan them. If you bank your money away from home it is loaned to other farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Help your home people. Money hidden at home helps no one. Placed in a bank it is put to work in ways that help all.

A Savings Account . . .

In a rainy day fund, a life insurance policy, a sick benefit, a funeral benefit, and an old age pension. There is no forfeiture clause in the passbook, and it is under the owner's control at all times. It will tide him over sickness; it will care for his family when he must go; it will see him through old age, and bury him when he dies. It is a simple business proposition. Begin early, and keep it up, and, like money in the desert, it will supply him as he journeys.
