ASSOCIATIONS ARE ILLEGAL?

tion Act authorizing their creation on the basis upon which they have been organized heretofore. The Reclamation Act contains this clause:

"When the payments required by this act are made for a major portion of the lands irrigated from the waters of any of the works herein provided for, then the management and operation of such irrigation works shall pass to the owners of the lands irrigated thereby, to be maintained at their expense under such form of organization and under such rules and regulations as may be acceptable to the Secretary of the Interior."

This is the only sort of water users' association provided for in the Reclamation Act, and Mr. Ballinger has been unable to reconcile the associations heretofore built up, particularly those on unfinished projects, with the sanction of the present heads of the Reclamation Service. It is understood that the abolition of premature water users' associations may follow when the reorganization of the service takes place, if not before.

It is not charged that the various acts of the Reclamation Service have caused the government loss of money, or have resulted in corruption or wrong-doing, but they have not been sanctioned by law, and Mr. Ballinger holds his powers are fixed by law and that it is neither his function nor his privilege to go beyond the law. For these reasons, it is understood, the Secretary in no small degree blames Morris Bien, the legal adviser of the Reclamation Service, and Mr. Bien is one of the officials slated to go with Mr. Newell. While his successor has not definitely been chosen, it is known that A. C. Campbell, now an attorney in the Department of Justice, and a man of large practical experience with irrigation and public land problems, is under consideration for the place. Mr. Campbell hails from New Mexico. He is well and widely known as a lawyer especially equipped for such work as this, but his appointment is not looked for until the general overhauling begins in the fall.

How many other officials are slated for removal or transfer is not known. Nor is it known how the service will be affected by the modifications contemplated by Mr. Ballinger. It has been rumored in Washington that if Mr. Newell is forced out of the service some of his subordinate engineers will leave with him. The charge has gone forth that the effort is being made to convert the Reclamation Service into a political machine, providing offices for politicians rather than engineers. Mr. Ballinger, however, maintains that his reorganization is intended to transform the Reclamation Service into a practical business organization, operating along strictly legal lines, for the promotion of public business with expedition and economy. There may be an effort to prevent the carrying out of the reforms proposed by Mr. Ballinger; indeed, it is only natural that friends and supporters of Mr. Newell should interpose objections to the Ballinger program. However, Mr. Ballinger, like other Cabinet officers, has been given to understand that he is the actual head of the entire Interior Department, charged with the administration of the affairs of all its bureaus, and if the President should deny him the right to work reforms in the Reclamation Service when he believed those reforms were necessary, he would be very quick to tender his resignation. It is, therefore, very probable that the Ballinger program will be carried through on schedule time.

UPPER LAKE NOTES.

Frank McCornack has pumped the water out of the big dyked marsh lying adjacent to his house. Drying up the land has caused this vast field of tufts to turn yellow, looking for all the world like a ripe grain field when seen from a distance.

Willard J. Willett and Arthur Hilliard have sole charge of the steamer Harriet at present writing, they having bought Mr. Hoffman's interest in the boat.

About all the piling for the new box factory are driven, and the building will be rushed to completion as rapidly as material can be had.

Hampton, the Goose gardener of Buck Island, has a little of everything growing and will supply much 'garden stuff' to those desiring it.

If there's snow on Klamath Sundays that you do not feel like staying at home all day, but would rather take your lunch basket and go out for a small picnic, remember St. Cloud on Steam Vista Heights is the place where you can look around a circle of three hundred miles—look over forty square miles of blue waters, green mountains, hazy hills and snow-capped peaks of Crater Lake. It will cost you nothing for the use of our present limited appointments, and we will get acquainted free of charge.

U. S. Reclamation Service now expending four and a half million dollars here reclaiming 250,000 acres of finest farm land in the world. Climatic conditions just right; 11 billion feet of yellow and sugar pine adjacent to 90 miles navigable rivers and lakes; hot springs galore; fishing and hunting unexcelled; unlimited water power, as well as all other good things and very little, if any, of the bad.—From Enterprise, Montrose, Colo. June 28th.

P. S.—I am carrying same ad in county papers at Grand Junction and Delta, Colo., three counties that in many respects are similar to our Klamath county. It is there that the highest prices are obtained for lands. Want to bring some of the fellows who sell there to this country.
