standard of municipal far-sightedness. Lake Ewauna and the river from here to Keno and Ady is one of the beauty assets of this city, playing even now, an important part in the pleasure side of the life of our people, and are destined in the future to contribute more to the reputation and attractiveness of the city than most any other factor. In those waters feed large quantities of fish, the catching of which on the rapids above town affords magnificent sport to almost every stranger visiting our city, and food and sport unlimited to our own people.

WILL TAFT STOP AT EUGENE?
The following from the Eugene Register seems to indicate that Eugene would like to have the President stop in that town while on his trip to Seattle, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Taft will arrange to at least bow from the observation car as it whirls along. We may as well mention in this connection that President Taft has many ardent admirers in Klamath Falls and Medford who will be delighted to be honored with a side trip on the President's way to visit Crater Lake should he decide to do so.

If we mistake not, his country will learn in time that it could not have made a wiser choice than it did in electing William H. Taft as president of the United States. He is the embodiment of wisdom and judgment, and speaks to the country only when occasion demands, and stands for the highest principles of self government for the nation. His statement to Congress that the tariff revision incorporated in the national platform and upon which he was elected must be carried out. There was no covert threat accompanying this declaration, but Congress understood, fully, that he meant just what he said. That is the kind of a president to have. When his administration draws to a close this government will have attained a still higher standard of excellence and stability than it even now possesses, and history will record that his was the best administration so far in the life of the nation.—Eugene Register.
