IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

The latest chimney in the world was recently put into service at the large smelting works at Great Falls, Mont., where it will serve to carry off the gases from the greater part of the large plant. The chimney, which is built of brick, is 506 feet in height above the ground. It is 50 feet in diameter at the top, and increases gradually in diameter to the base. The flue includes a dust chamber in which the vertically hung wires serve to take out the dust from the smoke. The dust is removed from the wires by slaking mechanism and falls in ladders in the floor, from which it is loaded into cars in a pit below.

Electrification of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway from the St. Lawrence river to Moncton is being considered. A water power site capable of generating upward of 100,000 horsepower, greatly in excess of the requirements, has been selected at Grand Falls on the St. Johns river, nearly equidistant from the two points between which electrification is proposed.

A new use for balloons is proposed by W. D. Boyce of Chicago, who sailed recently for East Africa in pursuit of natives and big game, which he will hunt not with the rifle but the camera. His idea is to attract wild animals in their native haunts by a light suspended from a balloon, and photograph them in such natural surroundings by flashlights.

The generation of electricity by aeromotors or "wind turbines," as they call them, is making great progress in England, as shown by an exhibit at the seventieth annual show of the Royal Agricultural Society at Gloucester. The exhibit included a 24-foot turbine on a 60-foot steel tower driving a variable-speed generator, with considerable excess storage-battery capacity to provide for calm. Current was supplied for an electric grill, kettles, irons and fans, as well as a butter churn, a cream separator, circular saw and a deep-well pump. A division of the storage battery into two parts it is possible to use 50-volt current for driving the machines and 25-volt current for lighting, the latter permitting the use of metal filament lamps.

A SUNNY DAY ON YUKON AVENUE, A-Y-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

Yukon Avenue is one of the many ways leading to the Court of Honor of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. It leads from the Cascades down to one of the many entrances to the Pay Streak and directly to the "caf  center" of the Fair Grounds.

On the left of the picture a facade of the European Exhibits Building shows. On the right is a corner of the Palace of Agriculture. In the distance, and across the Cascades, is to be seen the Oriental Building.

All of these structures were completed before December 1, 1908. They are of the conventional exposition type of construction—plaster over heavy wooden framework.

THE TONGUE.

It Appears That This Organ Can Be Eloquent Even When Silent.

From the observations made by a physiologist it appears that the tongue when quite still can be as eloquent in giving its owner away as when it is wagging sixteen to the dozen. This is a hard fact for a silent man to swallow—in silence. His only remedy is to keep well so as to obviate the necessary intimation of the doctor to put his tongue out, for by this thrust out sign the doctor shall know him.

The tongue of the talker when obtruded inclines to the right side of the mouth, we are asked to believe, whereas the seldom used tongue gravitates to the left side. Orators, preachers and barristers are endowed with right sided tongues. Verbally parsimonious persons have left sided tongues.

Furthermore, "the tongue that shoots out straight without turning or wavering indicates a solid, reliable man of affairs." Tongues that turn up indicate impractical natures. A downward, drooping tongue belongs to a person born to poverty and a ready eye for the hopeless side of things.

The cruel tongue flattens and broadens when extended. The delicate speaking organ with curled up edges is the property of an imaginative and artistic being. When the tongue issues forth as if gripped in a dental vise it signifies a love of life more than ordinary.

Finally we are warned that the individual who thrusts forth his tongue to its extreme verge is a person to whom no secret should ever be confided, for he is an irresponsible character.—London Chronicle.

A Sin of Omission.
 Knowing Child Mamma punished me for something I hadn't done yesterday. Auntie—that's rather unjust. Are you sure? Knowing Child Yes; she punished me because I hadn't done my lessons.—Illustrated Bits.

Advantages.
 "I suppose you are glad to be free again?"
 "The ex-convict sidestepped a trolley car, dodged an auto and looked nervously toward a clanging ambulance."
 "Oh, of course, of course," he said. "But let me tell you a man in prison feels mighty safe."—Philadelphia Ledger.

HE WANTED A PARROT.

The Use to Which the Old Man Would Put the Green Bird.

We are all striving for two things—success and happiness. To get those many of us are struggling for a third—fortune. In striving to attain our desires many of us need a green parrot. In a little town in Iowa, in the midst of a great stretch of timber and meadow, a man built a castle. Something over $25,000 he spent in building a home. It was finished within with the finest polished woods. The foundation was of brownstone, the windows of French plate, and every detail was carried out in the best manner. He had grown to be an old man. He had always lived in a modest cottage of six rooms. This mansion had fifteen. On one side there was a magnificent stone porch over the paved drive that led up to the house. He had just completed showing a friend over the place and reached this point when the visitor exclaimed:

"Well, John, you ought to be happy. This is a magnificent home. Here is everything one could wish for."

"Wasn't," replied the old man, who was a cattle buyer, "a fellow always wants something else."

"What on earth could you want?" was the query.

"A green parrot to hang up thar in the drive."

"Why a green parrot?"
 "So every morning afore I drive out he would say, 'John, you're a darn fool.'"—Cleveland Press.

THE CALIFORNIA BUILDING AT A-Y-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

California's handsome building is one of the very striking structures on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. It is in the old Spanish Mission type of architecture encountered so frequently in Southern California, and the detail of its front has attracted the attention of artists and architects from all over the country.

In the building every county of the golden state will have an exhibit. California, from Siskiyou to San Diego, has shown as much enthusiasm for the Exposition as has Washington itself.

said action is now due thereon; and by virtue of an execution issued by the Clerk of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Klamath, on said judgment, commanding me to collect said judgment, interest and costs of the said process, I have, in pursuance of said judgment, and in compliance with said command, sold the property of the said defendant, to-wit: the sum of Seventy-five dollars ($75) with interest thereon at the rate of six (6) per cent per annum from the 26th day of April, 1909, and the further sum of Thirteen and Twenty-five One-hundredths dollars ($13.25) costs and disbursements; and whereas a transcript of said judgment and proceedings had before said Justice of the Peace in said case has been filed in the office of the County Clerk of Klamath County, Oregon, and which said judgment was duly docketed in the judgment docket of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Klamath, on the 13th day of May, 1909, and the sum of Seventy-five dollars ($75), with interest thereon at the rate of six (6) per cent per annum from the 26th day of April, 1909, and Thirteen and Twenty-five One-hundredths dollars ($13.25) costs and disbursements of
