POULTRY POINTERS

A cellar cave is the best place for the incubator if it is operated in hot weather.

Even with but a few birds it is worth while to use trap nests and bugs which once are paying their board.

Both water in abundance is as good for ducks as dust bath for hens. Brooding ducks especially should be amply provided.

Encourage the fowls to follow the plow when breaking the sod. They will pick up many worms and bugs that would otherwise injure the crop planted and convert them into eggs.

More careful attention should be given to the dressing, pecking and shipping of poultry on the farm than is generally done. Uniformity is one great thing with market poultry, and generally the most salable is the medium sized bird having a plump and shapely body.

Young turkeys are very delicate and must be handled very carefully in order to raise a good percentage of the brood. They are better cared for while away from the older birds than with them, since the older ones are such inveterate wanderers that many of the little ones are lost.

Plenty of exercise is necessary for little chicks, but it is not best to allow them to run in the tall grass before the dew has dried away. They should be kept in the coop until after 8 a.m.; then they can be turned out and allowed to run. If it is not desirable to allow the hen to run, stretch a long wire and tie the hen to a ring, so she can pass from one end of the wire to the other.

Not more than forty hens should be kept in run. Thirty would do much better. The larger the flock is the sooner they clear off the surface food. During the spring and summer where fowls have the free range of the farm there is plenty of room for a large flock; but in winter the flocks must be smaller.

Unless other conditions are supplied a large flock will eat up the profits. Flock, but when fowls are limited in

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office at Lakeview, Oregon, August 7, 1909.

NOTICE is hereby given that James H. Huphry, whose postoffice address is Klamath Falls, Oregon, did, on the 23d day of April, 1909, file in this office sworn statement and application, No. 61827, to purchase the W 1/4 of SE 1/4, Section 23, Township 37 South, Range 9 East, Willamette meridian, and the timber thereon, under the provisions of the act of June 3, 1878, and acts amendatory, known as the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised, June 14, 1909, the timber estimated 545 board feet at $0.75 per M, and the land $190.50; that said applicant will offer final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 31st day of October, 1909, before R. M. Richardson, United States Commissioner, at Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office, alleging facts which would defeat the entry.

Helping the Town . . .

By banking your money in a bank in your own community you increase the community's power to do business. If substantial farmers want to borrow money there is more to loan them. If you bank your money away from home it is loaned to other farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Help your home people. Money hidden at home helps no one. Placed in a bank it is put to work in ways that help all.

The First National Bank of Klamath Falls

A Savings Account . . .

Is a saving day fund, a life insurance policy, a sick benefit, a funeral benefit, and an old age pension. There is no forfeiture clause in the planbook, and it is under the owner's control at all times. It will take him over whenever it will care for his family when he must go; it will see him through old age, and buy him when he dies. It is a simple business proposition. Single cents, and keep it up, and, like money in the dirt, it will multiply like magic.
