

CENTER FOR BOX SHOOKS

GREAT NORTHERN BOX FACTORY ONLY A BEGINNING

UNLIMITED SUPPLY OF WOOD

In Advantageous Location Will Bring Other Plants and Make This City Center of Industry on Coast

With a capacity of 40,000 box shooks a day this city starts its career as the center of the box-making industry of the Pacific coast. The Great Northern Box company is the first company to engage exclusively in this business in this city. It has established a plant on the Upper lake that is the most complete on the coast. The machines installed are of the very latest pattern, and the plant is operated entirely by electricity.

When nearly two years ago the Long Lake company started to manufacture box shooks the wisecracks in the city shook their heads and willingly volunteered the information that box shooks could not be manufactured in this city in competition with other places. The work went on quietly, and it was soon seen that someone was buying them. Then it became known that a factory was to be erected, devoted exclusively to the manufacture of box shooks. This was deemed the utmost folly. But the time is changing, and those who saw nothing but disaster in the undertaking have come to the conclusion that there are other wise heads in this old world aside from their own.

Only soft pine shooks will be manufactured here. They will be marketed throughout the fruit packing districts of California, and are destined to play an important part in the war that is now being waged in the Golden State between the trust and the independent manufacturers. When this city is on the main line will be in an excellent position for the supply of box lumber, as the almost unlimited supply in this section is practically untouched. This will mean but one thing—that Klamath Falls will be the center of the box-making industry of the Pacific coast. The value of this is evident when it is remembered the Great Northern company will employ close to 100 men and boys in their plant. It will require no great amount of flattery to convince any skeptic that it will not take many such establishments to make a good showing in the payroll line.

Arrangements have been made for the erection of cottages for the accommodation of the employees of the factory. Already a number has been built, and the new ones contracted for will meet all requirements for the present. These are modern in style and construction, and are superior to similar structures to be found in proximity to the box factories throughout the coast region.

Ackley Bros. are going to engage quite extensively in the manufacture of shooks this fall and winter, and will add another link in the chain that will strengthen the business welfare of the city.

The saw mill of C. S. & R. S. Moore on the west side of the river, will make its final run for this season commencing Monday, August 29. They have about 1,000,000 feet of choice fir and pine logs on hand, which will keep them busy until October 1. All orders for lumber should be placed at an early date. Special orders for fir will be given prompt attention.

IDEAL TROUT FISHING HERE

PROMINENT SAN FRANCISCANS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

NO PLACE LIKE KLAMATH

Sure to Be the Objective Point of the California Sportsmen, Who Will Be Sure to Come.

C. K. McIntosh of the San Francisco National bank and Wm. Berg, one of the leading business men of San Francisco, returned last night from a week's fishing trip to Williamson and Spring creeks.

Mr. McIntosh is an ardent sportsman, especially in the line of rod and reel, and is very enthusiastic over the magnificent streams of water which he has just visited. To use his own language, he said:

"In all my travels over this coast I have never run across such ideal trout streams as these, and when these places are improved so that tourists can be properly accommodated this region will be swarming with California sportsmen who are looking for just such places."

In speaking of the Upper lake country he stated: "It is no wonder that Mr. Harriman located in that section, for there is no place on earth where anything like it can be found, and if he needs rest and quiet, as the papers state, you can depend on it that he will be wending his way back here very shortly, for nowhere can he find these two conditions under more beautiful surroundings."

When told of the report that Hill's engineers were heading this way he said: "From what I have seen of your resources here in the way of timber alone, it seems strange that the railroads have not found their way in here before, and with the vast agricultural resources I am told you possess, it strikes me there is revenue enough in this section to warrant the building of several railroads."

Mr. McIntosh and Mr. Berg left for San Francisco this morning, and expressed their intention of returning next summer on another outing.

LAND FRAUD CASES WILL SOON BE ENDED

Many of the Indictments Secured by Heney Will Be Dropped; Others Will Be Brought to Trial

Dismissal of many of the remaining indictments brought by Francis Joseph Heney will take place in the fall term of the United States court, opening in October. It is even possible that the indictment against Binger Hermann, ex-commissioner general of the land office, and ex-representative from the first congressional district, may be dismissed. In short the indications are that Portland has probably seen the last of the Oregon land fraud cases which have been dragging on now for a number of years.

Whether or not Hermann will be tried depends on Attorney General Wickersham. The matter is now in his hands, and he can dispose of it as he sees fit. Mr. Heney, on his arrival in Portland, announced that he would not prosecute Hermann, and did not know whether Hermann would be placed on trial. Heney explained that he would be too occupied with other matters to devote his attention to the ex-congressman, who is under indictment for alleged attempt to defraud the government of public lands.

This is the first positive assurance from Heney that he will not busy himself further with the case of Hermann. A few weeks ago he expressed himself as undecided as to his course, but since his hunting and fishing trip he appears to have reached a conclusion, and this conclusion is that his presence is more necessary in San Francisco than in Oregon prodding Hermann.

If Heney does not prosecute Hermann, and he says he will not, then there is nothing further to bring Heney to this state. There is a large and choice assortment of indictments over a collection of citizens, all brought about by Heney when he was special prosecutor in the land fraud cases, but the only indictment in which Heney took especial interest was that of Hermann. Also, the Hermann case is the only important one in the lot, and if Heney is not sufficiently interested to try this particular case, then he will not return to attend to the others.

United States District Attorney John McCourt has been examining the papers in the various cases which have been hanging fire for so many years, and he says that he wants to clear the docket of them at the fall term just as fast as he can do so.

A SERIOUS RUNAWAY

Mrs. E. E. Kirkendall Has a Narrow Escape.

A serious runaway accident occurred on the Altamont road last evening, between the Melhase place and Altamont, in which Mrs. E. E. Kirkendall sustained a broken arm and other injuries more or less severe. Mr. Kirkendall was driving home with his family when the iron which fastens the tongue to the main body of the wagon broke, letting the tongue drop, frightening the horses and they became unmanageable. Mrs. Kirkendall was thrown from the vehicle. She was taken to the American hotel, where she is under the care of Dr. Hamilton, who reports she has no serious injuries outside of the broken arm. The two children had a miraculous escape, for they were found under the seat unharmed. One of the horses had to be shot on account of the injuries it received. Mr. Kirkendall was unhurt.

HILL ROAD MAY COME DOWN WEST SIDE OF LAKE.

BUILD FROM HERE TO EUREKA

A Feasible Line on Every Grade and Curvature Can Be Located Along the Klamath River.

A gentleman who has had a large experience in railroad matters, and who is well posted on the present outlook for further railroad building into this country, commenting upon the article in yesterday's Herald as to the coming of Hill's engineers into this section, stated:

"I have been looking for just some such news as contained in yesterday's paper for some time, and this verifies the statement made by Colonel Holabird some time since that 'railroads these days are built on the line of least resistance,' and a glance at the map of Oregon and California will show that a line from Bend down through this country will fulfill that requirement to the letter. It would not surprise me in the least to see Hill's road running down the western side of Upper lake, being thereby enabled to tap the immense body of timber there, a great deal of which belongs to the Weyerhaeuser Timber company.

"It is common knowledge that James J. Hill and Mr. Weyerhaeuser are acting in concert on several large ventures. It would be a very easy matter for Mr. Hill to locate a line on the western side of the lake, for he has ample data to work from in the shape of field notes of the Weyerhaeuser Timber company, which show every creek, road, mountain and grade in all of their vast holdings. As to an outlet for the Hill road, should it come down on the western side of the lake, it should be taken into consideration that the Klamath river is one of the outlets from this country, which has not been gobbled up, and that for quite a distance on the river the Weyerhaeuser's control the situation by the Klamath Lake railroad. It is also known that immense electric power is available all the way down the Klamath river from here to the coast, which is being figured on in connection with operating a line down that stream, and it would be a very feasible matter for Mr. Hill to use this route to the coast, thereby opening up an immense timber and mining country, as well as connecting with the Santa Fe at Eureka, thereby securing an entrance into San Francisco."

BRICK STORE IN THE HANDS OF RECEIVER

Entire Stock Will Be Sold and Company Will Retire From Business

By mutual agreement of the parties interested, the Brick Store Company has gone into the hands of a receiver and closed its doors today. Arthur Shipper has been appointed receiver and he is now engaged in arranging for the sale of the merchandise. He estimates that there is merchandise to the value of about $25,000 in stock. He proposes to dispose of this, together with the fixtures, at wholesale and retail and now has a force of employees engaged in marking the goods.

The Brick Store has been known to this community almost as far back as the memory of the oldest oldtimer can reach. Four years ago E. R. Reames decided that he had served his time in the mercantile business and would retire. When he had practically disposed of all the stock, having left but a few odds and ends, he entered into a new arrangement whereby he became a silent partner with Mr. and Mrs. Van Sickle. Mrs. Van Sickle had for years been one of the valued employees of the establishment, and it was through his desire to see her started well on the road to prosperity that he consented to become nominally active again in the mercantile business. The demands of a business career, however, were too great for Mrs. Van Sickle, and her health gave way under the strain, and when it became evident some time ago that she could no longer continue in the active participation in the management of the store it was decided to dispose of the entire stock.

Since the decision has been reached the only desire remaining is the one of closing it out as quickly as possible, and it was this wish that prompted the appointment of a receiver. The store will be re-opened in the near future, when every effort will be put forth to wind up the business in the shortest possible time.

IN FAVOR OF HOLDING FAIR

STRONG SENTIMENT MANIFESTED FOR ANNUAL EVENT.

MAY BE INTER-STATE AFFAIR

If Not, County Fair Will Be Held This Year—Business Men All Desire It.

The meeting of the business men of the city, held last night at the courthouse, when the question of holding an inter-state fair was considered, settled beyond all doubt about the holding of a fair this fall. Whether it will be inter-state in character or not remains to be seen, for a committee has been appointed to confer with the fair association and a report of the conference will be made next Monday. It was evident, however, that the business men were ready and willing to stand back of the holding of a county fair, and the spirit of the meeting indicated that an effort will be made to make it the biggest in the history of the county.

Skepticism seems to prevail that it is too late now to undertake to hold an inter-state fair, the time being too short to interest the people in the adjoining counties. While this may be true of some of the more distant communities, it is not true of Lake county and Modoc and Siskiyou counties in California. They are right at our door. A large attendance will be naturally expected from them if only the county fair is held, while if they can be interested in coming here with exhibits the number attending will be greatly increased. South of this city is a vast territory naturally tributary to Klamath Falls. All their interests are more closely identified with this city than with their own county seat, and if any encouragement is given all that trade will gravitate to Klamath Falls.

BEAT OUT, BEAT UP; HE'S IN

Fred Myers was arrested this morning on a charge of gambling, and remanded to jail in lieu of $50 bail. Myers claims that he was beaten out of $12 in a poker game, over which an altercation arose, in which he was beaten up. The case will be heard before Mayor Sanderson tonight at 7 o'clock, who is officiating as police judge during the absence of Recorder Leavitt.
