OREGON TIMBERS TO MAKE GREAT TEMPLE IN CHINA

Steamer Emma S. Dollar Loading Mammoth Logs for Oriental House of Worship.

Wanting the biggest timbers available in the world for the rebuilding of a famous temple, the Chinese government has come to Oregon for them. These timbers, or rather trees, for they are great logs with the bark still on, are now being loaded on board the steamship Emma S. Dollar at Linton.

The logs, 150 feet long and 40 feet in circumference at the butt, after reaching China must be towed 200 miles up the Grand Canal and then transported overland six miles to the Temple Ling Yen, the most famous house of worship in all the Celestial empire.

The only possible way to go the twenty-four timbers over the six miles of land is for coolies to carry them.

Robert Dollar of San Francisco, head of the Dollar Steamship line, who is at Portland, tells an interesting story concerning these timbers.

"When I told them on the ship today," said Mr. Dollar last evening, "that coolies were to carry the timbers six miles, lumbermen were incredulous. But in my office in San Francisco I have a photograph of coolies carrying timbers that squared 24 feet and were 50 feet long. They were unloaded from one of our ships and a snapshot was taken on the spot. "When I was in China about three years ago I was a guest at a banquet given by Sheng Kung Poa, minister of communication, and was honored with a seat next to him. In the course of the banquet he remarked that I was shipping some enormous timbers to Kan Chow to be used in the construction of a Christian college for the education of Chinese youth. I was astonished, as I had not even mentioned that fact to my own family.

"How did you find that out?" I asked.

"Oh, you can't conceal anything from us over here," he replied. "You know of the temple there, do you not?" he asked, and I replied that I did.

"Well," he said, "I have decided to rebuild it, and I want the largest timbers that can be procured in the world, and I want you to get them for me."

"How long do you want them?" I asked.

"One hundred and fifty feet," he replied.

"That is impossible," I said. "We could not find a ship big enough to carry them, and they would have to be towed to get them here."

"I want them as big as I can get them," he said, and those are the timbers we are now loading.

"The timbers have been loaded on the main deck, and the bark has been left on, so that the logs themselves will not be chafed. When they reach China the bark will be peeled off and they will be smooth and clean."

"When in China I visited the Ling Yen temple. The only way to get there is to ride in a sedan chair or walk. The narrow road of rock has been worn by the feet of countless thousands of pilgrims to the temple shrine until it is hollowed out in the middle. We met and passed thousands of persons on the way. Over this road the timbers now at Linton will be carried by coolies, a distance of six miles."

Mr. Dollar is in Portland en route to Seattle, where he is one of a committee to welcome a delegation of Japanese business men. Last February Mr. Dollar visited the Philippines with the view of looking into the possibilities of building up commerce between the Pacific Coast and the islands.

"The admission free of duty of Philippine exports should have a tendency to build up commercial relations with the islands," said Mr. Dollar, "but the main thing is to induce these Filipinos over there to go to work and develop their resources."

The rain is about through for the present, from all appearances. There will be no damage to crops, according to the knowing ones, for they say it will take a good deal more than we have had to do any material damage. It is just a matter of inconvenience, and while it may knock down some of the standing grain, still with the modern harvesting machinery which is used now, this is no serious matter. Outside of the inconvenience, the rain will do good to the second crop of alfalfa, besides clearing the atmosphere of smoke, which has been prevalent for some time past.

E. C. Greeley has just returned from Pelican Lodge on the Upper lake, where he has been for the past ten days, installing plumbing and overhauling the water system of Harriman's home. Mr. Greeley does all the plumbing work there, and says the "Lodge" has the finest equipped private water system in Southern Oregon, no expense being spared.

ALL THE NEWS

The Official Paper of Klamath County

THE REPUBLICAN

The Best Weekly in the Best Town in the Best County in the Best State

$2.00 per year

$2.00 per year

IN ADVANCE

What would you say if some man living in Klamath Falls made it his business to drive out to your place, no matter what part of the county you are living in, and spent several hours telling you all the news? And what else would you think if he said he would be glad to come out the following week and do the same thing again, and promised to come every week in the year? Wouldn't you inquire as to his mental condition? Well, I guess you would want to know what business he was engaged in that he had so much spare time for disseminating news, or had some ultimate object in cultivating your acquaintance.

We'll bring the news. Well, here's the point: The editor of the Weekly Republican has a better proposition to make you than the man who peddles news from house to house. It is not worth your while to ask what our business is; it's to peddle news, and peddle them in the best manner and shape possible. It is an impossibility to propose to make a personal visit to do this news-telling act; we simply concentrate our time and save buggy wear and horse feed (your horse feed) by staying right in Klamath Falls and gathering every bit of news that's going and printing it in The Republican. We are not a nephew of Uncle Sam, and consequently we have to pay the postage to send the paper to you, but even then that's easier than to get out to your place and hand you the paper personally.

Oh, yes; you may as well know, too, that we have an axe to grind by coming out to see you every week in the year. Mother says father came to see her twice a week for four years before she found out what he was coming for, but The Republican will make you understand in less time than that. You will get to know all the news of the county, and lots of things besides—things that go to make you as snappy and up-to-date as any other man in the township, or county, either; you won't get wise to things that occurred three months ago—you'll know them the week they happen. If you don't it's your own fault. Tie a string on your little finger when you start to the Falls next time and subscribe for The Weekly Republican to come and tell you the news every week in the year.

Watch the Ads, Too. Read the ads—all of them. Look them over each week as carefully as you do the news matter. It costs the merchants good hard-earned money to put those ads in the paper, and they mean them to be read. If you miss getting the full worth of your subscription money it's because you fail to read The Republican ads. You know where to trade when you come to the city; or at least you can't blame it all onto your wife if you make bad bargains.

Helping the Town . . .

By banking your money in a bank in your own community you increase the community's power to do business. If substantial farmers want to borrow money, there is more to loan them. If you bank your money away from home it is loaned to other farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Help your home people. Money hidden at home helps no one. I've had in a bank it is put to work in ways that help all.

The First National Bank of Klamath Falls

Is a good bank to put your money in—safe and reliable.

A Savings Account . . .

In a rainy day fund, a life insurance policy, a sick benefit, a funeral fund, and an old age pension. There is no fortune closer in the pocket, and it is under the owner's control at all times. It will take him over sickness; it will care for his family when he must go; it will see him through old age, and buy him when he dies. It is a simple business proposition. Start early, and keep it up, and the money in the bank, it will supply him as he journeys.
