KLAMATH FALLS, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1909.

NEWELL TO HELP OREGON

(Concluded From First Page.)

Leaving a burden. So far there have been very few suggestions for amending the act beyond that of allowing non-residents to invest in the land. This suggestion does not seem to meet with the approval of the committee. Were the act amended in this manner the burden of paying for the schools and roads would fall upon a few residents. The committee has been very active, and has traveled every day from fifty to a hundred miles in automobiles or hired cars, and has listened to suggestions almost every evening.

Senator Chamberlain Arrives

Senator George Chamberlain arrived in advance of the committee Thursday afternoon over the Northern Pacific. He expressed his delight at returning to Oregon, which, he declared, had the finest climate on earth. He stated that he would return here in about ten days after the Senate committee had completed its trip. He said:

"Concerning the Oregon projects, I do not know whether there are available funds or not. We are not working on any new projects at present. All are the old and uncompleted projects. I have been working to induce the taking up of the Malheur project. I have devoted many hours with the secretary of the interior, and while he seems to favor it the question of money enters. There is about $55,000,000 in the reclamation fund, all except about $7,000,000 expended, and it is estimated that $27,000,000 will be required to complete the work now started. There will be an appropriation of about $11,000,000 from the fund for this, and this will leave a deficit. I have asked them to go ahead and make a start with the Malheur project and leave its completion until money comes into the fund. I urged with the secretary of the interior that the fund should be equally apportioned, and Oregon has not received its share, there being a deficiency in the money apportioned to Oregon of about $2,000,000. I feel that the secretary understands the situation, and is sorry for the people of the Malheur country, and is willing to help them. In reference to my action in the Senate in voting against the tariff bill after voting for certain provisions in it I want to state that if those measures favorable to Oregon had been voted upon separately I would have voted for them, but I could not vote for the whole bill if it would wreck every industry in the state. When the bill came, linked with that nefarious corporation tax law, the increased tariff on cotton and other equally bad features, I could not vote for the bill, even when I knew that by so doing I would be voting against the tariff on lumber so well suited to Oregon."

"It makes no difference to me," said Senator Chamberlain. "I do not feel hurt that I am not to welcome him as a first, second or third party, but I will pay my respects like any other citizen. There should be no trouble in these matters. I do not care to mix into it in any way, shape or form. President Taft should be the people's guest, and that is all there is to it."

Helping the Town . . .

By banking your money in a bank in your own community you increase the community's power to do business. If substantial farmers want to borrow money there is more to loan them. If you bank your money away from home it is loaned to other farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Help your home people. Money hidden at home helps no one. Placed in a bank it is put to work in ways that help all.

The First National Bank of Klamath Falls

Is a good bank to put your money in—safe and reliable.

A Savings Account . . .

In a rainy day fund, a life insurance policy, a sick benefit, a funeral benefit, and an old age pension. There is no forfeiture clause in the plan, and it is under the owner's control at all times. It will take him over sickness; it will care for his family when he must go; it will see him through old age, and pay him when he dies. It is a simple business proposition. Begin early, and keep it up, and the money is in the bank, it will grow big as he grows.
