such as the Montana Bloom, and the growing of alfalfa seed here as an industry will not only be highly profitable in itself, but would greatly improve both the quality and quantity of the crop as grown for feeding purposes. In connection with alfalfa growing, since this is a crop of long life, it is of immense importance that the land should be made thoroughly clean in preparation for seeding, and the greatest care taken to secure a close and even stand to avoid the soddy fields which year after year deduct from growers' profits because of the lack of a little initial care in collecting seed and the method of sowing. Other legumes, such as field peas and the vetches, are of great feeding value, and of particular importance in short rotation for maintaining soil fertility, should be widely grown here, as they are peculiarly adapted to the climatic and soil conditions. Of the possibilities in vegetable and fruit production I will not speak, but these special industries promise to be some of the greatest features of the future development of the country.

Given the best crop seed obtainable, production finally depends most largely in this section upon the methods of culture related to the best utilization of the water. To both the irrigation and dry farmer there is no subject so worthy of careful attention as that of culture for the conservation of moisture. To the man above the ditch this is at once apparent, but to the man below the ditch it is equally important, for, in the one case, the rainfall is scanty, and in the other case, the water is costly, and the profit in farming for both depend upon moisture conservation.

I cannot speak here in the limited space of the principles and practices upon which the conservation of moisture depends, but there is no doubt that in the near future this one subject will become of paramount importance and of vital interest both to the dry farmer and the irrigation farmer. As farming in this area becomes more intensive and the immense possibilities of the soil and climate are realized, upon the best utilization of the water, either from the canal or the rainfall will hinge the future prosperity of the entire region.
When the methods related to these subjects are fully worked out and practiced here the value of lands and the density of population and the wealth of this great inland territory will be a matter of surprise to the whole coast.

Harry Stiltis and wife, John Stiltis, Eliza Stiltis, Phillip Stiltis and Mrs.
Flora Brownell returned from Crater lake yesterday, where they have been on an outing for the past week. John reports a splendid trip, and the only excuse he could offer for returning dearless and bearless was that the size of their bowie knives made them too conspicuous.

The saw mill of C. S. & R. S. Moore on the west side of the river, will make its final run for this season commencing Monday, August 30. They have about 1,000,000 feet of choice fir and pine logs on hand, which will keep them busy until October 1.
All orders for lumber should be placed at an early date. Special orders for fir will be given prompt attention.

MRS. DAN MALLOY

Mrs. Dan Malloy died at her home in Lakeview at 4:30 Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Malloy was a daughter of Mrs. Heidrich of this city. Otto and Curt Heidrich chartered an automobile and left for Lakeview at 11:20 o'clock Sunday night, arriving there at 10 o'clock this morning, when they will attend the funeral services of their sister.

The Monarch Mercantile company closed its store at 1 o'clock this afternoon as a mark of respect. It will remain closed until 6 o'clock tomorrow morning.

WEALTHIEST IN THE STATE

farms as he should. Failures exist everywhere, but it is not the fault of the country, but the lazy, shiftless.

worthless fellow, who spends more time finding fault with his luck than he does improving his farm.

"This year I planted 70 acres to peas and oats. The work was done between May 20th and 23d. I sowed 45 pounds to the acre. They stand today on an average of six feet high, and will go 75 bushels to the acre.
I sowed 100 acres of wheat between May 15th and 20th, and it will average 35 bushels to the acre. Land that I paid $50 an acre for will earn enough this year to pay for itself. I could go on into details and surprise even the most optimistic on what the lands here will do.

"It is my opinion that this will be an ideal sugar beet country. I planted beets, and the indications that they will be perfect. I believe that berries and vines would do here and would furnish a source revenue to the farmer that would prize him. Klamath county is right. It is going to be the wealthiest section of the State and the farmers here will be surprised at their prosperity. There will be some fail, perhaps, but that will not be fault of the land; simply the making of the individual."

Week's Doings AT THE BIG STORE

We didn't do quite as well as we expected last week. One man phoned in he couldn't come Saturday; his mother-in-law fell down stairs and run a knothole in her eye. But he said she could still talk some. So we lost about three dollars and four bits on last week.

Anyhow, one man bought a good bed, spring and mattress for $30; another man got away with a fine Mc-Roskey mattress worth about $18; a lady bought a wagon load of dishes for about $40; another man carried off an armload of window shades at $40 apiece; another lady got a nice set of dining chairs for $34; another lady bought a fine rug for $17.50 and a dandy little one for a dollar and two bits. We knocked off some on a carpet deal, and made another lady happy. One man got a frying pan for 15c and a rolling pin for 10c. One man looked at a $65 range, but didn't buy, he said he could buy a range elsewhere for half the money that would last him a year or so. A man paid 40c for a yard of real good carpet for his dog to sleep on. We are awfully thankful for the patronage received last week, and we hope there are others that will need a few things to cook and sleep with. Don't forget the place.
