RUGS RUGS A reply involving quite as great an RUGS RUGS absurdity as that was made by Cecil RUGS RUGS Rhodes in answer to a lady who, seeking to draw him out, suggested RUGS RUGS that he owed his phenomenal rise to the Impetus of noble sentiments. "Madam," returned Mr. Rhodes, "I owe my fortune simply and solely to

"Cold mutton!" gasped the lady.
"Oh, Mr. Rhodes, what do you mean?" "When I was young," continued the South African millionaire, "I was so doned with cold mutton and I hated it so cordially that I resolved to grow rich in order to put it on one side for the rost of my life. Yes, madam, cold mutton was at the root of my success. Noble sentiments had nothing to do

One of the most remarkable documents that have ever come under our observation, says a law journal, is to be found in the case of ex parte Scog-gin, 6 Tex. App., 546. Mr. Scoggin was under indictment for the murder of one William Gerrard, and an extract from a memorandum book in defendant's handwriting and found near the body ran as follows:

body ran as follows:

Johnson Co., Tz., Jan. 24, 1873.

As it may bee the last penciling that I may ever do on earth May heven Hiess me and the man that I am going to fite, for we have been traviling to geather some time and have fell out a bought the sum of 25 and have agreed to fight a dewel this Butiful night of our lord, and as one of us has to die May heven biess us, as this is the last half hour on earth with one of us. heveb Preserve me how and forever.
