

KLAMATH BEATS 'EM ALL

JOHN E. PHILLIPS, A COLORADO MILLIONAIRE, VISITS CITY

HAS UNEQUALLED RESOURCES

Its Diversified Interests of Agriculture, Timber and pleasure Resorts Make It Famous

John E. Phillips, a millionaire mining man of Denver, Colo., has been paying this section a visit, and through here but a short time, the possibilities of this section have made a lasting impression on him, as brought out in an interview, in which he stated:

"Colonel Allison of your city for the past six months has been writing me about this country, and stating some of its possibilities. I can say now, after looking around a little, that I was not prepared to grasp even from his optimistic letters anything like a full conception of the wonderful possibilities here. I doubt if I am prepared now to say how much I am impressed with this country. However, I will say that the agricultural section here is much vaster than I had any idea of, and the soil cannot be beat. Nowhere in any new country have I seen such crops and such fat grass, sheep and cattle fresh from the range. There is no country that I know of that has such a diversified combination of agriculture, timber, stock ranges and health and pleasure resorts as this has. Combined with these advantages you have an abundant supply of pure water for domestic purposes, unlimited water for irrigation, and vast natural water power. Another striking feature is that these possibilities are connected together with eighty or ninety miles of navigable rivers and lakes. I very much doubt if many of your citizens, who are accustomed to these conditions, appreciate what it means to this section in the way of assisting in the development of this country, which is sure to come. Nature has done more for you than any country has ever seen."

PREMIUMS AWARDED AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT

Day Consumed in Judging the Display at the Portland Store.

W. S. Slough, B. E. Hayden and J. McCoy were engaged all day in awarding the premiums to be paid by the Portland Store for the best exhibit of Klamath county products, and are deserving of the thanks of the public for the enterprise they display in so cheerfully giving their time. The task of selecting the winners was no small one, for the display was far larger than anyone expected, and would have done credit to a county fair. In taking this step Mr. Sugarman has proven again his enterprise and his desire to see that proper recognition is accorded to the pioneers who are doing so much to make Klamath county the great attraction for the homeseeker and homebuilder.

In judging the exhibits the committee based their decision on the ground that the article entered was in competition with the best in the country. As a result some second prizes were awarded where only one entry was made. This was due to the fact that while the exhibit was the best on display, it would not have been the best if entered in competition with products elsewhere.

CONGRESSMAN HAWLEY HERE

SURPRISED WITH THE GREAT GROWTH OF CITY

DISCUSSES LOCAL ISSUES

Will Look After the Interests of the Land Owners and Work for Early Opening of Reservation

Hon. W. C. Hawley, congressman for the First district, arrived in the city last evening, and was met at the train by Capt. J. W. Siemens and a number of other leading Republicans and a reception committee from the local lodge of Woodmen. He was escorted to the Gem restaurant, where he was entertained by his fellow lodgemen.

One of the great surprises to Mr. Hawley is the great growth of the city since his last visit here. Commenting on it he said:

"I have heard a great deal about Klamath Falls, and often in the east have had inquiries about this country, but I was not prepared for the change that has taken place since my last visit here. One of the agreeable changes is the railroad. The stage ride was a drawback to the development of the country, and the best proof of that is the great strides that have been made here in the past two years.

"The great surprise to me, however, is the growth of the city. Everywhere I see evidences of development and the investment of money. The barren hills are being covered with beautiful homes and your business streets are taking on a metropolitan air through the erection of modern mercantile structures. I am more convinced than ever that this city will grow to be one of the chief trade centers of the state, and the next few years will see greater changes than have ever been dreamed of. It gives me considerable satisfaction to see this great, undeveloped section of our state forging ahead so rapidly, for it furnishes a good example of what the future holds in store for Oregon. Oregon is one of the most-talked-of states throughout the East. The people back there are intensely interested in everything pertaining to the Pacific coast, but more particularly in the development of our own state, and the emigration to Oregon during the next five years will eclipse anything of the kind in the history of the coast."

Relative to the reclamation project and other matters of local interest Mr. Hawley said:

"I am deeply interested in the proposition to amend the reclamation act. This may be undertaken at the next session of congress. It goes without saying that I will do everything in my power to secure for this section of the country every favorable consideration. However, I look with a great deal of suspicion on any tampering with the reclamation act. There is considerable opposition to the entire reclamation program on the part of many eastern congressmen, and if an amending is undertaken it will result in a strenuous effort to either destroy it entirely or to bring about a diversion of a portion of the funds for eastern and southern enterprises. Therein lies danger, and it is something that all western congressmen look on with apprehension. I am heartily in favor of making first payments of the settlers merely nominal, and I can assure the people here that they need have no apprehension about the severity of the government. If no amendment providing for this change in the payments is passed, the secretary of the interior will make provision for the protection of settlers who will be unable to meet the payments to the government.

"Another amendment that I will push with all possible vigor is the opening of the Klamath reservation and the deepening of Wood river. To my mind these are two matters absolutely necessary to the rapid development of the northern part of the county, and the people here may be assured that I will do all I can to bring about an early and favorable decision in these matters."

Mr. Hawley will speak at the courthouse this evening, when he will discuss matters of interest to the people in this county. At 10 o'clock he will be entertained at a banquet at the Lakeside Inn.

NEW DEPOT FOR MIDLAND

Other Improvements to Be Inaugurated at an Early Date.

J. W. Dyer, superintendent of the Shasta division; S. H. Barry, chief traveling agent; E. C. Morrison, resident engineer, and W. J. McInery arrived in the city Friday night. The party left again in the morning.

D. B. Campbell reports the town of Midland in a very flourishing condition these days. Information was received from Superintendent Dyer while here last night that his company will at once commence the construction of a depot at Midland, and will also put in an industrial track at that point. Arrangements are also under way for the construction of a hotel there. Mr. Campbell reports the sale of Abner Wood's house and two lots at that place; also two lots to William Barks.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

A beautiful scenic series, showing the sun setting behind the hills, and the river and the boats is the first film tonight.

Two very amusing comedy skits, "Book-Taught Hypnotism" and "A Determined Wooer," rank with the best.

Every school child and, in fact, every American interested in the Father of his country, should see the film "Washington." It is a short, concise biography of their president, and shows in several beautiful pictures the leading events of the War of Independence.

A unique and beautifully colored film, "Amazons of Different Periods," shows the evolution of the Amazon from the time of Joan d'Arc to the present time.

"The Barber's Revenge," an amusing comedy, shows the vengeance of a barber upon the long-haired musician whom he finds embracing his wife. He changes the musician so that his wife does not know him.

AT THE IRIS

"They Would Elope." An extremely funny farce comedy, showing how a young couple, misconstruing the attitude of papa, participate in one of the most strenuous elopements to be married, while the folks at home, having read the note left behind, are preparing to give them a royal welcome.

"Jones' Burglar." Our friend, returning late from the club, finds a burglar trying to effect an entrance into his house. Jones helps the burglar in and then holds him up, posing as a hero—saving himself from Mrs. Jones' ire.

"A Georgia Wedding." A film that does not fail to amuse.

"The Artist's Revenge." A drama that is well acted.

"The Kind-Hearted Tough." A good story and shown in a pleasing way.

"The Invisible Thief." A laughable comedy.

"Only a dream." A magic picture and a sure cure; a good come-ry.

This is a program well worth seeing. Come and bring your friends.

EXHIBIT BOOTH TO BE ERECTED

COUNTY COURT GRANTS PERMISSION ASKED FOR ON COURTHOUSE GROUNDS

Products Now on Display in Business Houses Are to Be Preserved in This Booth

The Chamber of Commerce will construct immediately a display booth for Klamath county products in the courthouse yard on Main street, between the Public Library and the courthouse. Permission has been granted by the County Court for the erection of this building. The structure will be of the bungalow type, 12x18 feet, with a three-foot extension roof and a four-foot walk around it. All four sides are to be glass panels so that the display can be readily seen. The building will cost $250, and contract for the erection of the same has been let to James Cunningham, who, by the way, is the only carpenter in town that is a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

"This building when completed, will be used exclusively for Klamath county products. The Chamber of Commerce is very anxious to secure for this building the displays that are now on exhibition in several stores here. They also desire the cooperation of every resident of the section in keeping this booth supplied with samples of our products, so they can be shown to the best advantage, and at a place where they can be seen by all. A man will be put in charge of the exhibit booth, so that the exhibits can be received at any time when offered."
