CENSUS CLERICAL FORCE

The Civil Service Commission Wants Western People to Apply.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 11.—

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that a very small proportion of the applications thus far filed for the examination to be held on October 23d for positions in the Census bureau, are from the residents of the more distant states.

As the census act provides for the apportionment of appointments among the states and territories in accordance with the law of apportionment, the commission calls attention to the fact that present indications are that these distant states will probably fail to receive their full share of the appointments, unless more residents of such states apply for the examination.

It is expected that about 3,000 appointments will be made for the examination which is scheduled to be held on October 23d, in all the states and territories. These appointments will be for terms of six months to two years, and will average about a year in length. The entrance salary will be $600 per annum and promotion to at least $900 per annum will be reasonably rapid for those who render satisfactory service.

Under the census law selections from the eligible register will be made in the order of rating and in accordance with the law of apportionment, so that all persons will have an equal chance of appointment.

Applicants must be between the age of 18 and 50 years, except that persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service, by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty, may be examined without regard to age, and except that boys who have reached the age of 16 years and have not reached the age of 18 years, will be permitted to take the examination, and if they pass, will be eligible for appointment as messenger boys only.

It is understood that the Census bureau will make some appointments for this examination about January 1, 1910, but the majority of such appointments will be made between September and August, 1910.

Application forms and further information may be obtained by addressing the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.; the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C.; or the secretary of the board of United States Civil Service Examiners at the following named places: Boston, Mass.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Atlanta, Ga.; Cincinnati, O.; Chicago, Ill.; St. Paul, Minn.; Denver, Colo.; San Francisco, Cal.; Customs House, N. Y.; New Orleans, La.; Old Customs House, St. Louis, Mo.

MINUTE WHALES.

A Million and a Half Could Rest on the Head of a Pin.

The completest and most perfect of whales is a whale so small that 1,500,000 such whales could find room in a space not larger than an ordinary pin's head. But in that vanishing speck of matter there is already determined just how all the innumerable cells of the future whale's body are to grow, how many of them are to be and where the bone cells, the muscle cells, the nerve cells and all its other bodily cells are to find their proper places in its body to the end of that whale's life.

But much more than that. In that one primordial cell, scarcely imaginable for its minuteness, are stored the physical memories, so to speak, of that whale's ancestors back to the first whale. Therefore as he grows he will show that whales used to walk, for legs complete to the last leg bone will be found in the adult whale in the proper place for legs, but now tucked under his skin because they are no longer usable, much as an English nobleman hangs in his hall his ancestors' coats of mail as mementos of days now gone by since the coming of rifle bullets.

Moreover, such a minute whale is not only a whale, because he cannot possibly grow into a fish any more than he can grow into a bird, for whales are mammals and therefore separated by an impassable biological gulf from all fishes. Lastly, in that primal cell not only does there reside the whole ancestral heritage of former whales, but there is ample provision for an indefinite number of future whales.—Dr. William Hanna Thomson in Everybody's.

A POWERFUL PRAYER.

It Brought the Judge's Kind of Light to the Farmer.

The late Judge Underhill, said F. D. Browne of the engineering department of the Southern Pacific, "was perhaps one of the greatest characters that ever entered the service of a railroad. It was his facile disposition that led to his being appointed right of way agent by the Southern Pacific."

"Underhill was all things to all men. The rival called him a reckless blade, the learned called him one of the elect, and the good character declared that the pulpit would have had one of its brightest ornaments if he had only heard the call.

"He was the most successful right of way getter that the company ever had. "Underhill was sent up against a tough proposition. There was a farmer whose land lay right in the path of the road, and he was coy about selling. Underhill was sent to see him. They were out driving when the farmer turned to Underhill and said: "I want to do the right thing, judge. I have prayed all night for guidance in this matter, and I have not been given light."

"We will pray for light right now," said Underhill, and, getting on his knees, he made a fervent prayer for the farmer to sell his land to the Southern Pacific.

"Awestruck, the farmer listened on his knees to the powerful invocation of the judge, and when Underhill resumed his seat in the buggy he said: "I have been given light, judge. I'll sell the land at the figure you name."—San Francisco Call.

The Chestnut Horse.

There is an ancient tale of a land of Arala being pursued by their enemies which sums up their theory about a horse's color. Among the fleeing band was a man with unusually keen eyesight, and from time to time he would describe to his leader the horses ridden by the enemy.

"What manner of horses do they ride?" "Black horses." "Then there is no need of haste." At the noon halt the leader again asked, "What manner of horses do they ride now?" "Bay horses." "Then we must ride harder." A few hours later the leader asked, "Are they horsed again?" "They ride chestnuts." "Then we ride for our lives."

Italy's Rest Days.

Under a law which went into effect Feb. 8, 1908, all industrial and commercial concerns throughout Italy must grant their employees a weekly rest of not less than twenty-four consecutive hours. It does not apply to public utilities, transportation lines or places of amusement. The general sense of the law is that Sunday shall be the rest day, but it is provided that freedom from work may be given on a day other than Sunday in the case of restaurants, photograph galleries, pharmacists, etc.
