KLAMATH FALLS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1909.

The Sixteenth Century Carver.
 At the formal banquet of the sixteenth century the man who carved the meat was bound with the red tape of precedent. When carving for distinguished guests he had to remember that certain parts of the birds or meat must be set aside. In carving for his lord and lady he was expected to exercise great discretion in the size of the pieces he sent round, for ladies will be soon angry, and their thoughts soon changed, and some lords are soon pleased and some not, as they are of complexion." He was expected to have the rules both of the kitchen and the paragon at his knife's end. A pig, for instance, must be sliced up whole for a lord and in slices for commoner folk. The rank of his diners, too, determined whether a pig was to be served up whole, sliced, plain or with gold leaf or whether new bread or bread three days old should be eaten.

A Hungry Rabbit.
 "I do not think I was ever so nonplussed in my life," said a conjurer, "as once when performing my card and rabbit trick. I ask a member of the audience to tear a card into small pieces and give them all to me except one. Later in the trick I produce a rabbit from a box, and tied round its neck is a card with a piece missing. It is then found that the piece which the member of the audience holds exactly fits and completes the second card. On this particular occasion I allowed the rabbit to remain in the box too long and when I produced him found that he had chewed the card round his neck to bits. Needless to say, the laughter when the audience craved the trick the animal had played on me was loud and long."

Academy was a wealthy Greek of Athens who lived several hundred years before the birth of Christ. Among his possessions was a beautiful grove, where young men used to congregate and listen to the teachings of wise men, such as Plato and Socrates. This developed into the school of modern times, and these modern schools take their name "academy" from the old Greek, Academia. The real meaning of the word academy is a school for boys.

Good Looking Brides Wanted.
 Shortly after an angry looking couple bounced out of the chapel the pastor of an uptown church presented a perplexed countenance before the busy sexton.
 "As you know," said he, "I am new in this parish and new in the city. Perhaps there are a few things I ought to know. Why, for instance, do so many people who never attend service in this church wish to be married here?"
 "Because our church," said the sexton, "has the name of turning out the youngest and handsomest brides in New York. Our reputation for good works is dwarfed by our reputation for beautiful brides. To say that a woman is married here is equivalent to saying that she is a 'good looking.' We are not supposed to deal in brides of any other description."
 "No wonder," groaned the pastor, "that that plain looking woman went away in a huff. I earnestly advised her to be married in her own parish."
 —New York Globe.

Wonders of a Japanese Hamlet.
 Perhaps the most astonishing presentation of "Hamlet" ever seen on any stage was a Japanese version given by native actors at Kobe. The Kobe Herald describes it as "a wonderful mixture of the beautiful and the grotesque. With an Ophelia sometimes in graceful kimono and sometimes in western evening costume and a king who at one time appears in the picturesque costume of a Japanese nobleman and at others dons a silk hat and a swallowtail coat, the effect is so kaleidoscopic that a spectator has the sensation of being perpetually transferred from one phase of civilization to another. The climax is reached in Hamlet himself, who in the earlier scenes wears the uniform of a student of the Imperial university. In the third act makes his appearance on a bicycle, clad in a bright blue cycling suit and striped stockings, and at the finish is seen in conventional evening dress with a flower in his buttonhole."

The morose man takes both narrow and selfish views of life and the world. He is either envious of the happiness of others or denies its existence.

He Dodged Cold Mutton
 Green, the English historian, one day asked a friend which of all the inventions of their day had done the most for the people as a whole. His friend guessed this and that, but the answer was:
 "Beyond doubt, sixpenny photographs."
 A reply involving quite as great an absurdity as that was made by Cecil Rhodes in answer to a lady who, seeking to draw him out, suggested that he owed his phenomenal rise to the impetus of noble sentiments.
 "Madam," returned Mr. Rhodes, "I owe my fortune simply and solely to cold mutton."
 "Cold mutton?" gasped the lady.
 "Oh, Mr. Rhodes, what do you mean?"
 "When I was young," continued the South African millionaire, "I was so dosed with cold mutton and I hated it so cordially that I resolved to grow rich in order to put it on one side for the rest of my life. Yes, madam, cold mutton was at the root of my success. Noble sentiments had nothing to do with it."

Preparing For a "Dewel."
 One of the most remarkable documents that have ever come under our observation, says a law journal, is to be found in the case of ex-jurist Scoggins, 8 Tex. App. 546. Mr. Scoggins was under indictment for the murder of one William Gerrard, and an extract from a memorandum book in defendant's handwriting and found near the body ran as follows:
 Johnson Co. Tex. Jan. 24 1875.
 As it may be the last pending that I may ever do on earth May heaven bless me and the man that I am going to file for we have been traveling to gather some "dewel" and have left out a bought the sum of $2 and have agreed to fight a dewel this Butifol night of our lord, and as one of us has to die May heaven bless us, as this is the last half hour on earth with one of us, heaven Preserve me now and forever. Written by Jesse Scoggins, Born and raised in Tex. Sined by William Jirod, Born in Illinois.

A Substitute.
 The young lawyer, having been nominated for the office of county attorney, thought to surprise an eccentric genius of the name of Sl who was working as a hired man on the young lawyer's father's farm.
 "Well, Sl, what do you think?" the young man began.
 "Sometimes one thing, Lony, an' sometimes 'nothin'."
 "But, Sl, they have nominated me for county attorney."
 "They might 'a' done worse, Lony. Howsomer, don't holler till you're out of the woods."
 The young attorney was duly elected and on his next visit to the farm announced the fact unctuously to Sl, who was at the wood pile, saw in hand.
 "Well, Sl, I am elected by a large majority. What do you think of that?"
 "Well, Lony, down in our parts, where I was raised, when we wanted a stopper an' hadn't any cork we generally took a corn-cob." —Exchange.

Practicing on Wooden Legs.
 Of the five cases in the accident ward that were pronounced cured at the same time three remained in the hospital more than a week after the other two had gone home.
 "They had to stay," said an interne, "to get used to their wooden legs. It takes some time to learn to manage them, and most men who will have to peg along with them for the rest of their natural lives stay in the hospital several days after they get well to practice stumping around on their new legs. Of course they can learn outside, but the man who has just acquired a wooden leg feels so awkward and is so likely to fall down and break the other leg or an arm or maybe his neck that we prefer to keep him here so he can take his first lessons under our supervision." —New York Press.

Thousand Islands.
 The Lake of the Thousand Islands is forty miles long and varies from four to seven miles in width. It is both a continuation of Lake Ontario and the beginning of the St. Lawrence river. The Thousand Islands are really about 1,700 in number, big and little. Many of them are favorite summer resorts, with hotels and boarding houses of rich Americans and Canadians. The voyage through them is picturesque, and many of the islands are illuminated at night.

Who Voted?
 Benjamin Franklin once discussed the property qualification for voting in Pennsylvania. A man owned a donkey of sufficient value to enable him to vote, but before the next election the donkey died, and the man's vote was refused. "Now," asked Franklin, "who voted at the previous election, the man or the donkey?"

More in His Line.
 "Do you think I will make a player?" asked a sluggish applicant for football.
 "You may make a chess player," said the coach. "You are slow enough in moving."

Helping the Town . . .
 By banking your money in a bank in your own community you increase the community's power to do business. If substantial farmers want to borrow money there is more to loan them. If you bank your money away from home it is loaned to other farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Help your home people. Money hidden at home helps no one. Placed in a bank it is put to work in ways that help all.

There is no forfeiture clause in the passbook, and it is under the owner's control at all times. It will tide him over sickness; it will care for his family when he must go; it will see him through old age, and bury him when he dies. It is a simple business proposition. Begin early, and keep it up, and, like manna in the desert, it will supply him as he journeys.
