STANDARD OIL COMING HERE

WILL ERECT MAMMOTH WAREHOUSE HERE THIS FALL.

TO BE DISTRIBUTING POINT

Klamath and Lake Counties Will Be Supplied from Here—Will Erect Two Large Storage Tanks

The strategic importance of Klamath Falls has been recognized by the Standard Oil company, and orders have been issued from its San Francisco office to make Klamath Falls the distributing point for Klamath and Lake counties. In order to provide for this business a plot of land has been secured from the Hot Springs company, located along the county road, on which will at once be erected a warehouse, to be completed before the snow flies. This warehouse will have a capacity for storing 20,000 gallons of gasoline and an equal amount of kerosene oil.

In addition there are to be erected two mammoth storage tanks, having a capacity in the neighborhood of 100,000 gallons, to be used for storing oil. Such other improvements are to be made to make this city complete as the supply point of this great corporation.

That this city is to become the great distributing point of this great inland empire is as certain as is the beating here of a branch of the Standard Oil company. This corporation has never gone into any city for the purpose of making it a distributing point unless it was thoroughly familiar with the conditions, and its coming here indicates that they have had such information as assures them that Klamath Falls will have ample facilities for the distribution of its wares.

Mrs. Gambell has no mannerisms while singing, but simplicity and kindness dominate her life. TO REPAIR ROAD

Monday morning the Klamath Land and Transportation company will start their rock crusher and will fill in their track and two feet of the street on either side of the track with crushed rock, and so do away with most of the mud and water.

Mayor Sanderson said that the city will do nothing on the streets just now, as the intention is to pave the street as soon as the sewer system is completed.

On account of the cave-in on the Southern Pacific the train will not arrive in this city until 10 o'clock in the evening. The leaving time has been changed to 12:05 p. m., this schedule remaining in force until normal traffic conditions on the main line are resumed.

FIRST LEASE IN JACOBS' BLOCK

MONARCH MERCANTILE SECURES TWO OF BEST STOREHOUSES

FOR A TERM OF FIVE YEARS

Phenomenal Growth of This Firm, Which Was a Small Fruit Stand, Proves Advertising Value

A lease was signed today between the Monarch Mercantile company and L. Jacobs, covering a period of five years, for the big store room at the corner of Main and Sixth streets and the store room facing on Sixth street. These two rooms will give the Monarch company the largest floor space in the city, and is indicative of the rapid growth of a firm that started with a few baskets of fruit a little over a year ago. No more phenomenal development has marked the progress of any other firm in the city, and demonstrates more effectively than anything else the fact that Klamath Falls is rapidly merging into its place among the full-fledged cities of Oregon.

The Monarch proposes to have the finest store in the state when it moves into its new home. The same progressive spirit that has dragged it from the fruit stand period to the firm doing the greatest volume of business in its line in the county is going to force it into the ranks of the largest mercantile houses in Southern Oregon. Already has it commenced to reach out after the great volume of trade that has for years been going to other cities, and the effectiveness of its work has brought to this city thousands of dollars this year that would otherwise have gone to Medford, Ashland, Prineville, Lakeview, Shaniko and other points.

In its new home the Monarch will carry the same complete line of groceries and staples, together with fish, poultry and game, and also all farm products usually found in up-to-date stores. It is also proposed to add a meat market, and such other lines as will enable the housewife to purchase within its walls everything necessary for the preparation of a meal.

No one other agency has played such an important part in the growth of this firm as has the use to which they have put printers' ink. They stand as an example of what advertising will do, especially when it is backed up by the quality of the goods advertised. When selling nothing but fruits and vegetables it was no uncommon occurrence for them to use half a page of this paper to call the attention of the housekeepers of the city to the fact that they were in business. Only one result could follow such methods—that of placing the Monarch in the front rank of the business institutions of the city.

SURVEYORS BURY IN NORTH-EAST PART OF THE COUNTY

James Cantral and his son have recently returned from a trip through Central Oregon. Mr. Cantral reported that there was considerable activity along the proposed railroad lines through the northern part of this county. There is a camp of surveyors, employed by the Oregon Trunk railroad, at Beaver marsh and another at Odell, where one of the Harriman crews is also working. The crews are running their lines parallel and working in harmony with each other. He also stated that Chas. Graves has laid out a townsite on his ranch at Odell, and that Ed Rouk, formerly of Rosland, has begun the erection of a building which will be used as a store when it is completed. Both the Oregon Trunk and Harriman surveys run through Mr. Graves' ranch, which is situated at the junction of the proposed road over the mountains from Eugene.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

"The Bewitched Manor House" is a spooky place where the chairs and tables do all sorts of funny stunts. "The Little Busybody" gets into the laboratory and just raises particular Cain before the owner gets him out of there.

"Pompey's Dream" is a horrible nightmare, and after it he promises to try and be better.

"The Sacrifice" is a noble, inspiring drama, based on the theory that "greater love than this hath no man, that a man lay down his life for his friend."

An ingenious old conjurer with a wave on his wand brings before us "The Different Rulers of the World." They are interesting rulers, too.

After the show there will be a dance and the Baldwin orchestra will play concert selections.

ELECTRIC METERS

Patrons desiring to use electric meters may now place their orders at our office as we will have a stock on hand in a very few days, either to rent at 25 cents per month or to sell at cost.

PLANS TO AID IRRIGATION

BONDS MAY BE ISSUED OR A GRAZING LAW PASSED

MONEY NEEDED IMMEDIATELY

Measures Are Said to Be Offered at the Coming Session of Congress

In a recent special dispatch to the Oregonian Harry J. Brown gives the following:

It will be up to congress to determine next winter whether or not bonds shall be issued by the government to raise $10,000,000 or more to hasten the completion of Federal irrigation projects now under way. It has become evident that without some such assistance work on many of the projects will drag along indefinitely. There is only $10,000,000 available, and there is immediate demand for $25,000,000. Unless some method is provided for increasing the amount to be expended next season the work of the reclamation service will be seriously crippled, and many settlers now residing on unfinished projects will be subjected to more or less hardships.

When Secretary Ballinger was in Spokane attending the irrigation congress, Senator Borah discussed with him the advisability of a bond issue to raise $10,000,000, or as much more as might be deemed necessary.

The secretary did not commit himself then, and since his return from Spokane has not been willing to make any public statement with regard to the proposition. But it is known that he appreciates the importance of augmenting the reclamation fund in some practical manner, for he realizes the desirability of hastening the completion of the unfinished projects, and it is assumed that if congress calls upon him for his views he will cordially indorse any proper legislation to this end.

Whether or not there shall be a bond issue is purely a congressional question. Beyond pointing out the condition of the reclamation work, and the urgent need for more money, it is not the function of the secretary of the interior to act.

If congress is unwilling to authorize a bond issue in order to raise additional funds with which to hasten the completion of government irrigation projects now under way, there are other means of raising revenue which may prove less objectionable. Foremost among them is to adopt a practical system of leasing the public grazing lands of the West. Such a reform not only would benefit the reclamation fund, into which the grazing fees would be turned, but it would bring about numerous changes of policy and practice for which there is a rapidly growing demand.

It is roughly estimated that there are 250,000,000 acres of public grazing land in the West, which today yields no revenue. Presuming that this estimate is too great, and that only 1,000,000 acres of grazing land could be leased under government supervision, if that land could be leased to stockmen at an average cost of 10 cents per acre per annum, the yield to the reclamation fund would be $10,000,000 more than it now receives from the sale of public lands.

Practical Western men who have discussed the leasing problem with government officials during the past summer report that sentiment in favor of the change has developed rapidly in the past year, especially among the smaller stock men. Others not interested in stock raising, but interested in the upbuilding of the West, are favoring it because it means an increased population for the range states. A vast range occupied by a single cattle baron is now destitute of settlers. That same country placed under administration, leased at a reasonable rental for a term of years, and in moderate areas, will invite settlement and afford protection to the small stockmen.

Most of the Western states are now clamoring for settlers; yet their greatest areas now destitute of homes are those given over to the livestock industry. Only recently vast areas in the grazing states have been set apart for entry under the dry farming act, under which 320-acre homesteads may be taken.

By building up communities in this country and controlling the range under a leasing system, the advocates of this advanced idea see ahead great development for the states wherein dry farm possibilities are found. Eastern Oregon and Washington, many parts of Idaho, much of Montana, Wyoming and Colorado and Northern Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico would be developed by such a system, and in like manner the states now most in need of money for irrigation would receive the necessary funds from grazing fees.

Whether or not a leasing law will be passed at the coming session depends largely upon the amount of effort put forth to secure its passage. It is a part of the Administration's conservation program, just as it was a part of the Roosevelt program. But President Roosevelt could not induce congress to pass a leasing law, any more than he could secure other modifications in the public land laws that have become obsolete. Perhaps President Taft, with his persuasive force, backed by a changing sentiment in the West, will be able to accomplish what his predecessor failed to attain. If he succeeds the entire West will benefit.

ANOTHER SAWMILL

F. T. Higgins and Frank McCormack of Klamath Falls and John T. Getty of Minneapolis, with others, have incorporated and will put up a sawmill five miles east of town on the Swan Lake road. The mill's capacity will be 25,000 feet. Mr. Higgins was one of the incorporators of the old Long Lake mill. He has rented his farm, one mile east of town, to O. Webb.

ROOSEVELT IS NOT DEAD

REPORT THAT HE WAS KILLED A PURE FABRICATION

NONE OF THE PARTY INJURED

Slumor Supposed to Have Been Started for Purpose of Producing a Temporary Panic in Stocks

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—(Special)—The state department is in receipt of advices from Nairobi, Africa, denying the statement that ex-President Theodore Roosevelt had been killed while hunting in the wilds of Africa. When the rumor first became public the entire city was thrown into turmoil, and the state department and newspaper offices were besieged with inquirers anxious to learn if there were any truth in the report. The dispatch from Africa states that the members of the party are enjoying the best of health and meeting with great success in their search for game.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special)—Denial of the report that ex-President Roosevelt had been killed in the wilds of Africa has been received here with delight by everyone. It is believed that the report originated among certain stock gamblers, who believed that it would have a temporary demoralizing effect on the stock market, but in this they were mistaken, as there was no material change in the prices of stocks.

WHAT ONE MAN THINKS

One of the traveling men who occasionally visits this city, and has traveled considerably in the different states, said this morning while speaking of the general attractiveness of the country:

"In my opinion it will be but a few years before some ten thousand people will be passing through this city every year on their way to visit Crater lake and the lava beds. I have seen Niagara and the Grand canyon, but I believe that Crater lake is absolutely unique. There are other falls and other canyons, but there is nowhere on this old earth another crater lake. The lava beds, too, are worth coming a long way to see, and before a great many years there will be people coming from every part of the globe to see the wonderful scenic beauties of this little valley."
