HERALD CONTEST OPENS

NAME OF YOUNG LADIES TO BE PUBLISHED TOMORROW

GOING TO OLD MONTEREY

They will include a visit to Famous Old Mission Town and Former Capital of California.

Tomorrow the names of the young ladies who have entered The Herald's great popularity contest will be published for the first time. A large number of nominations have been received and it has been decided to publish only the names of the young ladies who have signified their intention of actively entering the contest. Several of the young ladies mentioned desired to have their names withdrawn in order to help some friend who had already decided to enter the race. While the list of candidates will not be very large, each name will mean an active contestant—everyone of them are going in with the intention of winning. You can pick your favorite tomorrow, with the assurance that she will stay in the race until the finish. If your favorite's name isn't in the list, call her up and ask her if she desires to enter; if she does, fill out the contest blank and mail it at once.

Remember, the contest will close in less than a month. The young ladies entering now will have a great advantage over those entering at a later date. An early start is a prime factor in a short contest of this kind. Do not hesitate; make up your mind to win this grand trip. Enter

BASKETBALL GAMES

The basketball season in Klamath Falls opened yesterday. The game was played between the Cardinals, a local city team, and the first team of the Klamath County High School. From the moment the referee first blew his whistle for the game to commence there was not a dull period, and the interest of the spectators did not wane at any time. There was rather a constant increase of interest and it seemed that the referee's whistle sounded only too soon for the game to cease.

The High School boys had been working out steadily each day, showing excellent form, which promised that their opponents would have to work hard if they would win. The High School boys, moreover, averaged very much less in weight than their opponents, and this, too, meant that only fast and consistent playing would win for them the game. Though the gymnasium at the High School is extremely inadequate in which to practice, owing to the fact that it is much too small and has three massive leaning pillars in the center of the room, the boys nevertheless, were able to secure enough practice even in such a place to show what they can do if only they have a proper gymnasium in which to practice. There can be no doubt in the minds of those who were spectators in yesterday's game that the High School boys will develop into the best High School basketball team in the state.

The game yesterday opened with High School lineup as follows: George Stephenson, center; George DuFaut and Marion Barnes, forwards, and Ernest Jacobson and Roy Fouch, guards. The first basket was thrown by the High School within the first minute of play. Astonishingly they continued to throw baskets at very regular intervals of time. DuFaut and Barnes each did some wonderful basket throwing, which won great applause. Stephenson distinguished himself at center, apparently being able to land the ball just where he desired to have it go. Jacobson and Fouch each did some snappy work, making it difficult for the Cardinals to keep the ball on the High School's territory even for a short time. All in all, there was consistent playing and commendable team work, which alone are the criterions for judging a team's strength. During the first half the Cardinals succeeded in making but two baskets, while the High School made seven baskets and one free throw from the foul line; the score at the close of the half being Cardinals 4, High School 15.

In the second half there was considerable change in the lineup of both teams. Vern Motschenbacher replaced Fouch at guard on the High School lineup. Motschenbacher showed up excellently, and promises to add much strength to the High School team. However, to show that the High School has still other valuable resources, Motschenbacher was called in after about eight minutes of play and John Siemens replaced him. Siemens is only a light man, but he demonstrated what agility and a clear head can do when in a responsible position. During this half the boys continued the class of work they had started out to do in the first half. Each player rendered his quota in winning the game. Had any player even now been injured in the least, there were Telford and Boggs on the bench ready to play if needed. The game ended with the score of 8 to 29 in favor of the High School.

One thing regarding the game especially merits considerable comment, and that is the clean playing of both sides. There was not the slightest sign of any quarreling or dissatisfaction of any kind. The Cardinals fought on bravely till the very end. Frequently it occurs that when a team sees it is being defeated it resorts to rough playing. But this can not be said of those who opposed the High School boys in yesterday's game even though the defeat meant much to them.

The High School boys will continue their practice, and if supported, they will furnish Klamath Falls with the highest class of amusement and sport.

The boys hope to have several of the best High School teams in the state here some time during the season, and expect also to make one or more trips going as far north as Portland. This will call for support from the citizens of Klamath county and especially Klamath Falls. It has been proven beyond all question or doubt, time after time, that such meetings between different schools is of the highest educational value to the participating schools and therefore most assuredly merits the support of each community concerned.

If, then, citizens, you wish to be loyal and help on a good cause, give your support to the Klamath County High School basketball team and let the boys win the championship of this state.

Following are the positions played by the two teams:

High School	Position	Cardinals

Dufault	forward	DeLap
Stephenson	center	Cliff, W.
Jacobson	guard	Lavenie
Fouch	guard	Cliff, F.

The dinner at the Livermore Thanksgiving night was indeed worthy of one of the metropolitan hotels. The dining room was very beautifully decorated, the orchestra played several lovely concert selections, the service was splendid, and the feast such as they set before potentates over in the Old World. The citizens of this city are indeed very fortunate to have such a hotel as the Livermore in their midst.

The ball Thanksgiving night given by the Baldwin orchestra was a great success. Young and old were present and danced and chatted till the wee sma' hours.

NEW SCHOOL FOR INDIANS

PLANS COMPLETE FOR $10,000 GYMNASIUM

WILL HAVE ALL CONTENTENCES

Four Day Schools Will Be Built, Work Commencing in the Early Spring.

The Indian school being built by the government at the Agency is rapidly nearing completion, the work of the carpenters being now almost finished and the whole about ready to be turned over to the plasterers.

The school is a substantial frame structure, 80x120 feet, the price named in the contract being $10,000. The building contains four large schoolrooms, a commodious assembly hall, and all necessary cloak and ante rooms. When completed it will be supplied with all the most modern conveniences, including a steam heating plant, electric lights and complete sewer system. It will probably be the most modern, most convenient and best equipped government school on the Coast.

Contractor Lovell of Minneapolis, Minn., who has been in charge of the construction work, has also been awarded the contract for the erection of four day schools to be built in those districts where there are the largest number of Indian children of school age.

Superintendent H. G. Wilson has completed plans for the erection of a $10,000 gymnasium, work to be completed in the early spring. Owing to the difficulties attendant upon working in the winter weather, all construction work at the Agency will probably be discontinued in the near future and the men laid off until the spring.

Superintendent Wilson has met and ably overcome a great number of unforeseen difficulties which have arisen during the course of the work, and he is to be congratulated on his wonderful success.

A meeting of the Daughters of Pioneers will be held this evening, at which nomination of officers for the ensuing term will be made. Every member is requested to be present.
