

ARRESTED FOR SELLING BOOZE

MEMBERS OF THE LOCAL OPTION LAW SITTING UNKAS

JURY TO INVESTIGATE

Larsen is Arrested for Selling Whisky and Breeds Out a War with Fred Paquet.

It is reported that a number of individuals who have been arrested for selling whisky in the city are filled with indignation over the manner in which the case is being handled. It is all due to "Dish" Larsen. He is one of the stool pigeons who has been buying the stuff from the joints and re-selling it to the sheriff's office, making a profit of twenty-five cents a bottle. He has told the whole story of his iniquity, implicating those who furnished the whisky.

The grand jury has already been made up and the members of the local option law are sitting in the city hall. They are waiting for the grand jury to investigate the case. It is reported that the grand jury will be held on Friday. Larsen was arrested on Friday. He was arrested by some enthusiasts and he would be skinned alive.

If he did not make himself scarce around these parts, Larsen was pretty badly scared, and for fear that his fear might have some effect on his legs, the sheriff's office placed him in jail, where he will remain until after he has given his evidence to the grand jury.

And it is that grand jury evidence that is raising all the trouble with a number of gentlemen in the city. Larsen has committed himself sufficiently to insure his telling the entire story when he is called upon to do so. He realizes that if he does not that there would be a charge of perjury, and it is not likely that he would care to stand before Judge Noland for sentence if he should be convicted on such a charge.

If the grand jury takes the matter up and returns indictments and those indicted should be convicted, it is certain that the county jail will have some new boarders, for Judge Noland has promised such a present to the next man that comes before him on the charge of violation of the local option law. The manner in which he had handled violations of this law in the past leaves no hopes for those who may come up for sentence.

So it would seem that notwithstanding that no effort has been made to gather evidence by the local option forces, destiny has taken a hand and furnished the weapon with which to smote those who have had the temerity to transgress. And the next term of court may be filled with a greater interest than even the most optimistic local optionist had ever hoped for.

Owing to lack of space, Engineer Davis' statement in answer to the charges of graft in the Klamath project had to go over until tomorrow.

BROWN HERE TO SEE REAMES

COMPLETING PLANS FOR ELECTRIFICATION OF CARLINE

TO START WORK IN SPRING

City Will Have One of the Best Electric Car Systems on the Coast. Brown Indicates Reason.

W. K. Brown arrived in the city last evening from Hollister. He is here for the purpose of consulting with President Reames about plans under way for the conversion of the street car line into an electric system. Mr. Brown stated today:

"My visit at this time has no special significance. I came only for the purpose of further consultation with our local associates. We are going to begin the work of electrifying our carline just as early next spring as it is possible for us to begin work. There are many details that must necessarily be arranged in advance, and that is why I am here now.

"It has been a greater disappointment to us than to the people of this city that the change in motive power has not been made before, but such matters take a great deal of time. When we get through with our work Klamath Falls will be well repaid for its patience. We appreciate the good will manifested in the premises, and we intend to reciprocate by installing a system that will be second to none on the Coast.

"Business conditions are improving all along the line, and I look for great prosperity in this city during the coming year. Large capitalists will come here and make investments of such a nature as will make the city an important factor in the affairs of Southern Oregon. Some have already been here and are well satisfied with what they have found. Everything points to Klamath Falls being a large city and it is this fact that is going to bring money here.

"I am greatly interested in the proposition advanced by Judge Benson relative to the sale of the lake beds when they are reclaimed by the government. This, to my mind, is the most sensible idea that has been advanced since the government entered this field. I would like to see the people of this county get the water at a low figure, and if the plan suggested by Judge Benson can be carried into effect, it will accomplish the object aimed at. It will be necessary, however, for the people to get together on this question. If they split on this as they have on so many other propositions, they will lose everything and in the end have to pay the actual cost of the project, no matter what that cost may be."

James Moore, a prominent rancher from Olena, is in the city today.

George Blomberg and John Wells of Bly are in the city for a few days' visit.

PHENOMENAL GROWTH OF THE FIRST TRUST

Gain of Over Four Hundred Per Cent in One Year.

In this issue of The Herald appears the report of the First Trust and Savings bank of this city, and it is worthy of perusal inasmuch as it shows a most phenomenal growth of this institution since the issuance of the last official statement. This bank had on November 16, 1909, deposits amounting to $16,892.28. One year from that date, or November 16, 1908, the deposits had reached the phenomenal figure of $82,546.11, making it the third banking institution in point of size, notwithstanding that it is the youngest of the financial institutions of the county. This shows a gain of 490 per cent.

At the time of the issuance of the last state bank examiners' report—September 1, 1909—the deposits amounted to $24,861.28. The last statement, issued November 16, shows that the deposits had increased to $82,546.11, or an increase during the month of 136 per cent.

Under the provisions of the state banking law, banks doing business in towns and cities having a population of less than 50,000 must have on hand 15 per cent of its demand liabilities and 10 per cent of its time deposits. At least one-third of the reserve percentages required under the act must be actual cash on hand. The First Trust has on hand and in reserve banks approved by the state bank examiner, cash to the amount of $57,121.45, or 69 per cent of the deposits. The difference between the two amounts—the 69 per cent which is on hand and the 10 and 15 per cent required by law—means that much extra margin of security for the depositors.

In addition to making a statement to the state bank examiner five times a year, the board of directors of this institution examine and audit all of the books and papers and count the cash on hand quarterly.

B. O. Johnson, president of the Hot Springs and the Klamath Development companies, arrived in the city last evening for the purpose of looking over his interests here. Mr. Johnson had nothing to say for publication, confining himself to the statement that he was pushing with all possible vigor his publicity plans, and that they would be completed in the near future. These are of a most extensive character, and will no doubt be productive of big results both for Mr. Johnson and this city.

Thomas Wilson came in from his homestead this afternoon. He has engaged in the trapping business for the winter and is meeting with pretty good success.

CONTESTANTS VERY BUSY

INCREASING INTEREST GROWN THROUGHOUT THE CITY

NEW CANDIDATES TO ENTER

Their Names Will Be Announced Tomorrow, and Will Show Considerable Strength.

The past few days have been busy ones for the young ladies who are trying for the free trip to Los Angeles, and the vote when published tomorrow night will show a marked increase for each. That the race will be close and hard fought is an assured fact. The friends of the various candidates are determined that to their favorite shall fall the honor of representing this community in the Sunny Southland.

Several new nominations have been received, and will be included in the list tomorrow night. While it might seem as though the young ladies entering so late would be handicapped, such is not the case, as their friends have been quietly working for them for the past few days and probably have enough votes pledged to take the lead.

The contest will close in a very few weeks now, and it behooves the candidates to align their friends as rapidly as possible. If you have friends in the nearby towns, drop a line and ask them to help you. Don't forget the great reduction sale of coats, suits and millinery at Stitts Dry Goods company. The new Southern Pacific branch on the Upper lake is nearing completion and will be launched shortly. Mr. and Mrs. Myron Dronner leave in the morning for Portland.
