

TOPOGRAPHIC MAP ARRIVES

HOT SPRINGS COMPANY STARTS ITS PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN

COAST TO COAST INCLUSIVE

How to Be Productive of Much Revenue to the Entire Klamath Country.

The first step in the campaign that is going to make Klamath county known from coast to coast has been taken by the Hot Springs company, and in the nature of a topographic map of the section lying between Mt. Shasta and Crater lake and between this city and Medford. It covers a territory approximately 150 miles long and nearly 100 miles wide. It is the work of Gibson Catlett, the scenic artist of Portland, and cost $100.

The map was received this morning and has been on exhibition at the office of the company, where it has been viewed by a large number of people. It will be taken to San Francisco in the morning by President R. O. Johnson, where it will be placed on exhibition. Several similar maps are to be made by Mr. Catlett, and these will be sent throughout the United States. Accompanying them will be a pamphlet on the Klamath country now being prepared by the Hot Springs company. This publication will be the finest ever issued by any company or city on the Coast.

The topographical map, which will be the leading feature in the publicity campaign, is remarkable for its detail and accuracy. Those familiar with the territory will have no difficulty in finding many points of interest prominently portrayed on the canvas, and farmers throughout the Basin will have little difficulty in locating their ranches and most of the prominent buildings. It gives the homeseeker a comprehensive idea of the greatness of this section, at the same time carrying with it the impress that the future must hold in store for the Klamath country a development that means wealth for those taking advantage of the opportunities now offered.

In discussing the proposed advertising campaign to be conducted by his company, he said:

"We came to the conclusion some time ago that instead of doing so much talking, the thing most needed was to get this country before the investor and the homeseeker in a manner that would bring them here to investigate. Accordingly, we employed the best talent obtainable to prepare for use reading matter, maps and photographs of the Klamath country, and are now at work compiling this data into a pamphlet of which everyone here will have reason to feel proud. The one dominating factor in all of the work has been accuracy. Wherever figures are given they can be absolutely relied upon. The facts about this country are good enough, and no exaggeration is needed.

"This publicity plan of ours will take in all of the Klamath country, and one section will be benefited as well as another. I believe that it will result in bringing more people here during the coming summer than have ever been here before, and if Klamath county does not grow it will be the fault of the people here.

"We are willing to go ahead and do all of the heavy work. All we ask is that the people here put their shoulder to the wheel and tell the homeseeker and investor what a fine country this is. There should be no knocking, fault-finding or sectionalism. There will be ample opportunities for all if they only take advantage of them."

ATTENTION, ELKS

All Elks are requested to meet at the Antlers club before 2:30 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 5th, 1909, before going to the Opera House.

The newly-organized Grange will hold an open meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Workmen hall. All the farmers and ranchers in this vicinity are invited. There will be special music and a general good time is expected.

CONTRACT LET FOR 12 MILES

ANDREW ERICKSON TO BUILD TO SPRAGUE

100 MEN ALREADY EMPLOYED

Will Rush Work—Spur and Three Miles of the Main Line Now Completed.

Andrew Erickson, a big California railroad contractor, has taken a sub-contract to build the last twelve miles of the twenty-five miles of track to be built from the depot to Sprague river by Erickson & Peterson. Subcontractor Erickson has already established his camp on the Indian reservation and has, at present, about 100 men employed, and intends to start a steam shovel in the near future.

There are now over 300 men employed in the railroad camps from here to Sprague river, and this end of the work is being rushed as fast as possible.

The track is laid on the main line from the depot to the old Hanks place, a distance of about three miles. The industrial spur from the main line to the lake is completed and the railroad can now take the material to be used in their construction work to the lake and then by water to the different points along the lake shore where the men are working.

At the waterfront the Southern Pacific is building a large wharf and warehouse. These waterfront improvements will be used in connection with the railroad construction work, and when the work is completed will be used as freight houses, etc., in connection with shipping on the Upper lake by the Southern Pacific in connection with their railroad.

HEAVY VOTE IN CONTEST

MISS HARRIS STILL LEADS, WITH MISS MANTEN CLOSE SECOND

ANOTHER CANDIDATE ENTERS

Unusual Interest Manifested in The Herald's Big Contest for Trip to California.

Once more the votes in The Herald's big popularity contest have been counted and the result shows a large increase for each of the candidates. The young ladies who have already entered to try for the free trip to Los Angeles are reporting the greatest success, beyond even their most sanguine expectations.

The contest, of course, as yet is but in its beginning, and there is plenty of time for any young lady who desires a splendid vacation trip absolutely free this winter to enter. Every one has her friends who will be more than glad to aid her in her effort to visit California. It is something worth striving for, and striving hard. It does not require much time, either—only a little of your spare time each day. The candidates who have entered are reporting themselves as surprised at the ease with which they are enabled to get votes for themselves. Said one young lady only yesterday:

"Actually it has surprised me. I really didn't know I had so many friends until I started out on this contest. Hardly a person of my acquaintance whom I have seen thus far has refused to aid me. It costs them so little and means so much to me. The experience I have gained, too, in the few days I have been out is worth much to me."

There are a number of subscribers who have received voting ballots to be voted for some particular candidate they desire. They probably have no favorite, and are simply waiting for some young lady to ask them for their support. Devote as much of your time as possible to the contest and you will find that it is an easy matter to secure votes. No one will know how really successful they can be until they have tried.

The standing of the candidates will be published again next Monday. If you are a few votes behind now, work hard for the next few days and take the lead. Following is the standing of the candidates:

Helen Harris	20,000
Flora Masten	18,000
Golda Barnes	9,000
Hazel Livermore	8,000

At the Opera House tonight there will be several new pictures. A charming Biograph comedy film, "The Valet's Wife, or Deceiving His Uncle," "The Little Father," a sterling dramatic film, and "The Wealthy Rival," an unusual comedy of life in the East. "When Woman Hates," a stirring melodrama, and "The Alexandria Quadrille," a clever and interesting series of pictures.

An Eastern deaf-mute wife has been given a divorce from her deaf-mute husband, who called her names on his fingers. She was not obliged to "listen," but possibly curiosity got the better of her. She had less case than the similarly afflicted man whose deaf-mute wife kept him awake nights by "talking." If this divorce had continued, decrees will yet be given for simple suggestion.

TRAPPING SEASON BEGINS

FUR-BEARING ANIMALS QUITE NUMEROUS IN KLAMATH

HIDES BRING GOOD PRICES

Several Hundred Dollars' Worth of Hides Already Brought in This Early in the Season.

Now that the trapping season has started in earnest, it is in order to note that the variety of fur-bearing animals to be found in this section is extremely large. Otter and mink are every year trapped around the various lakes in large numbers, and as their furs bring good prices, the time and effort expended in catching these little fellows bring excellent returns. Then through the marshes the traps set out catch skunk and racoon, both having hides highly valued by the furrier.

Those who hunt in the mountains bring back as a result of their winter's work fishers and marten, silver-tipped—though these are very rare—and cross fox, coyotes, black bear, bobcats, panther and lynx in abundance. There are still left up on the higher ridges a few of those timber wolves which formerly hunted in this vicinity in large bands, killing the deer and cattle. In the fall these old marauders follow the deer across the hills to the lowlands near the coast, coming back in the spring as the deer again turn toward the mountains. On this side of the Cascades the deer are mostly blacktail, while east of the mountains the mule deer roam and feed up through the ravines and in the forks of the rivers. A few mountain sheep are still left, but these are now protected by law, as are the great bands of antelope which range across the plains. These deer are swift of foot, and can outdistance the old cowhorse and leave the swift coyote hound far behind. Restless and wary, they still have that terrible curiosity peculiar to all deer, and if you happen to be riding on one of the plains where they are feeding, will circle around and around, ever getting nearer and nearer in an effort to see what you are and why you came.

All hides are prime at this season of the year, with the perfect prime about February, and as hides of all kinds are bringing a good price, those engaged in the fascinating sport of ensnaring the unwary wood folk find that they are amply repaid for all their work.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Boys' and Girls' Literary societies will hold a joint meeting in the High School auditorium December 17th, and a very interesting program is expected.

The Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs have been practicing regularly and a marked improvement is shown.

The Freshmen Chorus class has been singing together, and it is known that it will soon appear in public.

The High School feels quite proud of the fact that the basketball game which was played on Thanksgiving afternoon was won. This encouragement has no doubt inspired the boys with fresh enthusiasm, so that they will practice all the more.

Among the new pupils of the High School are: Misses Roma Shivers, Maude Martin, Aimee Wing and Pearl Davidson.

Miss Myrta Carter is soon expected to be with us again, as she is over her long illness.

New magazines are being ordered for the different rooms in the High School, and the new ones added to those that we already have will make an abundance of magazines.

The monthly grades are being given out today and each month improvement is noted.

This month's Boomer will soon be out, and as there will be cartoons, it will no doubt be more interesting.

The pupils are looking forward to the Christmas vacation with pleasure and say to one another that half of the school term is nearly gone. Vacation this year will begin on December 17th and school will convene again on Monday, January 24.

The High School has just received a beautiful and valuable collection of mineral specimens from Mr. Geo. T. Kline. These, added to what we already had mounted, will make our collection quite complete. The H. S. feels very grateful to Mr. Kline for this kindness.

DAVIS REPLIES TO CHARGES

ANSWERS IN DETAIL THE STATEMENTS MADE TO CORRECTOR

"FACTS COUNT"—BALLINGER

Secretary of the Interior Apparently Gives His Indorsement to Davis' Answer.

Following is the statement issued by Chief Engineer Davis in answer to the charges made before the United States senatorial committee on irrigation during its session here. The charges were published in a Chicago paper and were brought to the attention of Secretary Ballinger, who, in submitting Mr. Davis' answer, stated: "There are the facts. Facts are ample answer to any and all charges."

"A Chicago paper in its issue of November 16 prints an article headed 'Graft Suspected by Senate Committee,' in which the correspondent makes statements that are calculated to reflect upon the business sagacity and official probity of the late Secretary Hitchcock, Director Charles D. Walcott and Supervising Engineer J. B. Lippincott, who were responsible for the acts called in question, and some of whom are now in the service or in possession of the official documents which would disprove these charges.

"While I have had nothing to do with the particular transactions in question, I am in position to give the facts shown by the records which entirely exonerate the reclamation service from the charges implied by the correspondent.

"The charges concern the purchasing of lands for right of way, reservoir sites and water rights necessary to the construction of the project, and the contracts for purchases in question were all approved by the board of directors representing the water users, who are required to pay the cost of the work.

"All these negotiations were in progress for a long time. The particulars were a matter of public discussion at various meetings. They were outlined in a pamphlet issued by the directors, and the purchases were finally recommended by a board of engineers, consisting of Messrs. Lippincott, Sanders, Winner, Jacobs and Emsign, and approved by the officials of the water users' association before being approved by the secretary of the interior.

"This man, Abel Ady, afterwards made these charges and the supervising engineer, J. B. Lippincott, demanded an investigation. The accused was called before the board of directors and questioned regarding his proofs. Whereupon, as shown by a copy of the minutes of the board, Mr. Ady stated that, 'So far as any
