KLAMATH FALLS, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1909.

DAIRY DEVELOPMENTS

John S. Shook and family have returned to their Bonanza home.

Charles and Theo. W. Flackus have recently invested in a power wood-sawing machine.

At this date the ground is frozen about four inches deep and the roads are about as rough as one could imagine.

Farmers of Pine Flat haven't given up the idea of boring for artesian water, and it is probable that another effort will be made to that end next summer.

Chas. Flackus has been hauling lumber from the Falls to complete the new house he is building, the local sawmill not being able to furnish dry lumber.

The potato crop of several people in the valley is still in the ground, they having put off the digging until too late. They may come out in the spring all right, however.

Mrs. G. G. Anderson has been quite ill for some days from an attack of tonsillitis, but is now happily improving. Mrs. J. A. Jones has been acting as landlady during her illness.

With about half a foot of snow on the ground and the roads blown full of drifts—and more coming—this looks very much like winter. The nursery stood at 10 above Monday morning, and it stood at 28 above at noon.

Jerry Pearson, Ivan Welch and some other boys, took a team and went rabbit hunting recently, routing out the rodents as they drove through the brush and shooting them from the wagon. They got eighteen in a short time—when they ran out of ammunition. It's not a new plan, but it's about the best one I have seen tried.

"This practice of committing perjury in court is becoming entirely too prevalent lately," said a prominent citizen in my hearing the other day. "It must be stopped. The community owes it to itself to send somebody over the road as an example for others. Unless this is done our courts will be made a mockery and justice a sham. Let the grand jury do its duty and the lawyers theirs, and the practice will cease."

Dancing parties are all the vogue as social functions in the valley thus far this season. First, there was one at Manuel Vierra's, next at George Smyth's, and last Friday evening a surprise was given at H. J. O'Brien's, and now another is announced to be given at George Smyth's on Christmas eve. All have been well attended by the young people—and many of the older ones—of the valley with not a jar to mar the general enjoyment, the pool orchestra and others furnishing the music.

Arrangements are in course of preparation for a Christmas tree and celebration at the Dairy schoolhouse on Christmas eve. At a preliminary meeting held last Friday afternoon the following committees were appointed: Program, Miss Kittle Wells and B. M. Hall; decorations, Walter Welch, Mrs. John Jones, Miss Maude Norridge, B. M. Hall and Miss Wells; Santa Claus, Mrs. A. L. Mitchell, Mrs. J. A. Jones and Mrs. Mary Sedge; Snance, Misses Maude Norridge, Jessie Anderson, Elsie Oden and Selma Sedge. This is a good start, and promise success.

The plan of asking congress to provide for the sale of the reclaimed lands in the beds of the Tule and Lower Klamath lakes, as suggested by Judge Benson, meets with general approval among members of the Water Users' association, so far as I have been able to learn. To permit those lands to be taken up by homesteaders at no cost to themselves beyond the cost of the water right would be manifestly unjust to those who must pay for reclaiming those lands. And it would likewise be unjust to those holding excess lands, as it would lessen their chances of making sales. This proposal comes to the landholders of the Upper project with especial emphasis, because they are to be charged with the cost of building the Clear lake dam and the reservoir site which makes possible the reclamation of Tule lake. In a letter to Mr. Hopsen, the supervising engineer, written last summer, the writer suggested this plan of disposing of the lands reclaimed in Tule lake. That gentleman replied by saying it could not be done, because there was no provision of law therefor. It was then suggested that, possibly, the same end might be secured by assessing these reclaimed lands with a drainage tax equal to their probable market value—the proceeds to be credited against the cost of the other parts of the project. This plan was endorsed by the water users of Yonka valley and made a part of their answer to the circular letter of Chairman Carter of the senate committee, but was ignored in the general answer, prepared by the directors, which was presented to the senate committee at its Klamath Falls meeting. This suggestion of Judge Benson ought to be pushed for all it is worth by the unanimous action of all who are interested in the project—and it ought to be done AT ONCE! Congress is now in session, and an appeal should be prepared and presented before any other action is taken by that body. I would suggest that everybody ought to take to writing letters to congressmen and senators whom they may know in person, urging this action. If carried out, it would mean a considerable reduction in the acreage cost of the water right—an accomplishment well worthy of our supreme effort. Backed up by a big petition, these personal letters would be very effective, and I think I know what I am saying. NOW is the time for action! It might put the cost of our water right down to less than $20 an acre.

FACTS FROM THE FORT

PORT KLAMATH, Dec. 11—Twenty inches of snow on the level, and the big flakes are still coming down. Anna creek has broken its banks and is pouring its waters over the valley and flooding the Fort. Able-bodied men have gone to the ocean, but it is doubtful if immediate repairs can be made. The break in the creek's banks was caused by accumulated snow forming a dam. The washout is quite extensive, and much work will be required before the water can be turned back into its natural channel. A curious fact, but nevertheless true, Anna creek's banks, like Wood river, are considerably higher than the valley below. During the irrigation season in many places all that is required to flood the land is to make a cut in the bank of either stream and the water easily flows as it may be directed.

J. F. Loosly has gone to San Francisco to purchase heavier machinery for the Uter & Burns saw mill. The same will be installed early in the spring.

Helping the Town . . .

By banking your money in a bank in your own community you increase the community's power to do business. If substantial farmers want to borrow money there is more to loan them. If you bank your money away from home it is loaned to other farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Help your home people. Money hidden at home helps no one. Placed in a bank it is put to work in ways that help all.

The First National Bank of Klamath Falls is a good bank to put your money in—safe and reliable.

A Savings Account . . .

In a rainy day fund, a life insurance policy, a sick benefit, a funeral benefit, and an old age pension. There is no forfeiture clause in the passbook, and it is under the owner's control at all times. It will take him over sickness; it will care for his family when he must go; it will see him through old age, and buy him when he dies. It is a simple business proposition. Single entry, and keep it up, and, like money in the street, it will multiply him as he journeys.
