KLAMATH FALLS, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1909.

MONEY IN JUNK.

The Stuff is Always in Demand, and the Profits Are Large.

Up and down the dirty back alleys driven the junkmen, singing his mournful, nasal cry, leading his rickety wagon with broken wheels and pieces of old iron, an object of pity or of ridicule to most of the unfortunates who see him. Let him be admired or envied, rather, for if he is admired, at least his employees, he is probably making more money than any of the professional men.

Five things are more depressing and demoralizing than a little pile of junk as high as a two-story building. One may see such piles in every city, and, so far as the casual observer can determine, some of the stuff is ever moved. The piles increase apparently from month to month and grow rustier and rustier, but the men in the business keep on buying.

Now are they able to keep so much money tied up? Where do they get the large amount of capital which seems to be necessary?

They borrow from the banks, like any other business man, on the security of their stock in trade.

"No better security," the president of almost any bank will declare. "It can neither burn nor blow away. It can't be damaged by water or smoke. Where is there a collateral like that? It is absolutely safe. The foundries and the steel and cast iron works and the stove factories can't get along without it. It pays the largest profits of any business to which we lend money, and these profits decrease very little. Junk is always in demand. The men in that business are excellent customers."—Technical World Magazine.

Sweet Revenge.
"It must be fine to be under contract to write exclusively for a big magazine."

"And to have all the other magazines clamoring for your work, eh?"
"Just so. Think of the satisfaction of sending 'em a printed refusal slip."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

No Nitch.
"That wealthy young broker has given his motor to a well known actress."
"Yes. He says his father taught him to hitch his wagon to a star."—Life.

An Intelligent Cow.

A few nights ago a citizen went home and found a cow in his yard. He drove her out. He then went into the house and later heard the animal in the yard again. He drove her out the second and third times. The citizen's son came home later and found the animal in the yard and drove her out. The citizen then made an investigation and found the cow got in by wading around the fence on the river side. He hung up a lantern to deceive the cow as she came in, and the next morning, so he says, he found the cow in the yard with the lantern hung on her horns, using the same to hunt out the best grapefruit in his grove. Say what you please, but that was an intelligent cow. And the story is true of course it is.—Fort Myer Press.

Small Stock.

"Could I sell you an imported Persian cat for $1,000?" ventured the cat and dog fancier.

"What?" exclaimed the multimillionaire in surprise. "Why, I just bought a $5,000 building from you the other day."

"Yes, but I thought you'd want a $1,000 cat for that swell building to chase. You surely wouldn't allow a $5,000 building to chase a common cat, would you?"—Pittsburg Press.

That it is a very unfortunate thing for a man to meet early in the morning an ill-favored man or woman, a rough footed Hen, a shag-haired Dog, or a black Cat. That it is a sign of death to come in that house, where Crickets have been many years, if on a sudden they forsake the Chimney Corner. That if a man dream of eggs or fire he shall have of anger. That to dream of gold good luck, but of silver ill. That if a man be born in the daytime he shall be unfortunate. That if a child shall be born with a caul on his head he shall be very fortunate. That when the palm of the right hand itches it is a shrewd sign he shall receive money. That it is a great sign of ill luck if a rat gnaw a man's clothes. That it is naught for any man to give a pair of knives to his sweetheart, for fear it cuts away all love that is between them. That it is ill luck to have the saltwater fall toward you.

SIRE AND SONS.

The president has declined many invitations to take rides in airships. Charley Chech of the Cleveland is a baseball freak. Chech pitches right handed, but does everything else left handed. He writes, eats and ties his necktie with his left hand.

Frank P. Gary, the new United States senator from South Carolina, claims among his ancestors Robert Bruce, king of Scotland; John Knox, the founder of the Presbyterian church; John Witherspoon and other Scotch worthies.

The richest Indian in the world is Lon Hill of Harrington, Tex. His wealth is conservatively estimated at $3,500,000. He is forty-nine years old, devoted to his wife and children, and graduated in the law department of the University of Virginia.

James A. Hogsett, who has been appointed public printer of the Philippines to succeed John S. Leech, is only thirty-two years of age and a Nebraska by birth. Prior to going to Manila he was employed in the government printing office in Washington.

Henry Clarke, seventy years old, of Providence, R. I., has cured many of his bodily ills by a steady diet of from four to six ounces of sand daily. He has taken this medicine for four months and says he has eaten in all 700 pounds of the latest "health cereal."

Dr. James C. Monaghan has been chosen as the recipient for 1908 of the Laetare medal awarded by Notre Dame university to some prominent Roman Catholic layman as a mark of honor. Dr. Monaghan was born in Boston in 1857, worked in the cotton mills at Salem, graduated at Brown university, campaigned twice for Grover Cleveland, was consul at Mannheim, Germany, and Chemnitz, studied at Heidelberg and is now lecturing.

Gleanings.

The council of empire at St. Petersburg has raised the Russian legation at Tokyo to an embassy.

A Chicago child before a police magistrate said that she had never heard of the Bible, "but we got an almanac," she added eagerly.

The Quebec legislature has refused to allow the city of Three Rivers to take land belonging to one of the cemeteries, an act that will prevent the removal of the bones of St. Didace, now lying under the Episcopal church.

All persons who have crossed from America to Europe are familiar with the Fastnet rock, the first spot of Erin that they see on the eastward voyage. Thereon has been erected a new lighthouse, which has cost the record sum of $403,200.

The chief criminal court in Vienna sat until 4 a. m. recently in order to finish a case. One jurymen asked the judge for a certificate that the trial had lasted until that hour. "Otherwise," he said, "my wife will never believe me." The judge granted the certificate.

Industrial Items.

There are 300 paint factories in this country making over 100,000,000 gallons of paint per year, and the business demand is increasing faster than the facilities.

Australian mining men rejoice in the possession of a new diamond drill weighing only 400 pounds, while the weight of the machine now in use is three or four tons.

English trades unions will not allow a workman to carry a load of more than fourteen pounds. If his tools or the material weighs more than that, he must have a helper.

Large quantities of machinery are being ordered by Japan from Great Britain. Among the latest orders is an immense heating plant for a group of manufacturing and a complete outfit for a new sugar making industry.

State Lines.

Southern California yields 2,000 tons of salt per year.

Many important drainage projects are under way in the marsh land of Louisiana, which will ultimately make it a great agricultural country.

Statistics gathered recently for a report to the national conference on charities and corrections show that Nebraska has the smallest number of criminals and dependents in proportion to the population of any state in the Union.

Bridge Spans.

In the Forth bridge there is a horizontal pull of 10,000 tons on the chief spans and a weight of 100,000 tons on their bases.

Engineers say that the Brooklyn bridge has improved with age and that it is now stronger than it was when it was built.

A bridge recently built for the Cape to Cairo railway over the Kafue river is the longest bridge in Africa. It measures 1,400 feet.

While the emperor of Korea went through the motions of resigning his job, he undoubtedly felt just like the average hired man when informed that his services are no longer required.

Even though he has been shot at twice, it is not believed that the president of France will hereafter lag around a six shooter under his coat.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Sarah Rowe Hodgkins will soon be a hundred years old, and she has lived all that time in Bath, Me.

Mrs. W. S. Peabody of Colorado is called the mother of Mesa Verde national park because of the interest she has taken in the preservation of the relics of the mysterious cliff dwellers of Colorado.

Miss Susie Stonesifer of Hanover, Pa., has just finished a patchwork quilt after fifty years of sewing. The quilt is a nine square design, 6 by 7 feet in size, and contains patches of fabrics made scores of years ago.

The most famous cat fancier in the east is Miss Pollard of Elizabeth, N. J., whose white Persian Purity is valued at $1,500. It has won innumerable prizes and cups, being beaten but twice, once in England and once in this country by its own daughter Puritana.

Miss Christabel Pankhurst, the English suffragette leader, has visited a famous London waxwork exhibition and set for a portrait model which will form a part of a woman's suffrage group shortly to be placed on view Mrs. Pethick Lawrence and Mrs. Pankhurst have also agreed to sit for their models.

Miss Helen E. Haines of Brooklyn has received notice that she is to get a pension of $100 a month from Andrew Carnegie in recognition of her services as managing editor of the Liberty Journal of New York. She has been editor of the magazine for fifteen years, but has been forced to resign on account of poor health.

Church and Clergy.

The American Bible society has sent men to work among the foreigners around Indianapolis.

The diamond jubilee of the first church built in Chicago, that of St. Mary's Roman Catholic congregation, will be celebrated June 14.

The Woodlands Road Wesleyan chapel, Middlesbrough, England, which has just been opened, is provided with "tip up" seats similar to those in use in theaters.

A congregation of over a thousand at the First Methodist church of Syracuse, N. Y., only fourteen admitted having been converted after reaching the age of twenty-one.

Grace Methodist church at Dallas, Tex., has a band of twelve uniformed boys who are doing a unique work as messengers in bringing to Sunday school careless and indifferent scholars.

College and School.

Harrow, one of the four greatest public schools of England, was founded in 1571.

The operating expenses of Columbia university for the present year are $1,532,563.

Dr. Robert C. Brooks, Joseph Wharton professor of economics at Swarthmore college, has resigned to accept the chair of political science at the University of Cincinnati.

Professor John H. Niemeyer, Street professor of drawing in the Yale Art school, will retire on a pension at the end of the present college year as professor emeritus. The only other professor at Yale to retire as emeritus at the end of this year is Professor Tracy Peck of the Latin department.

Sporting Notes.

Frank Walker has been engaged to start the horses at Readville this year. Springfield (Mass.) board of trade directors voted $100 for the national rowing regatta.

With Burch doing the work he is, Lumley is not missed to any serious extent by the Brooklyn Nationals.

In St. Louis plain clothes men are seeing to it that there is no gambling in the stands during the baseball games.

Bob Blake, the great Vanderbilt university football star, has been awarded a Rhodes scholarship. He will enter Oxford as soon as he gets his commission.

Law Points.

Compelling one to pay a sum of money which the assessor claims the other owes him, which claim is disputed by the latter, is held in Faulin versus State (Tex. Crim. App.), 10 L. R. A. (N. S.), 714, to be robbery.

The right of the owner of a dog to maintain an action against one who wantonly and maliciously kills or injures it is sustained in Columbus Railroad company versus Woolfolk (Ga.), 10 L. R. A. (N. S.), 1136.

Animal Oddities.

A rat can go without water for three or four days.

If a beetle were one-third the size of a horse it could pull against twelve horses.

The smallest known insect, a parasite of the lizard, is but one-ninetieth of an inch in length.

The gray buzzard is believed to be the heaviest bird that flies, the young males weighing forty pounds when food is plentiful.

Intrinsically, Constituent—What do you suppose Graphier is worth? Senator Lotman—I don't know what he's worth now. I bought him once when he was just starting out for $75 and a railway ticket.

PURE, CLEAN, MILK—NOT CHEAP MILK

We have the best and most healthy cows we can buy. We feed the best of hay and grain. We employ only the most experienced men to be had, and pay them the best of wages.

Our cows are kept on a clean board floor that is swept daily and kept clean and sanitary.

We invite the public to inspect our premises.

Our motto is pure, clean milk at a reasonable price.

We can't give you pure milk in winter at summer prices, and we sell only pure milk, as it comes from the cow.

Our winter prices are $3.00 per quart or $1.50 per pint per month, or 30 cents per gallon.

When you want milk to please you call up Straw's Dairy, phone 823.

FACTS FROM FRANCE.

Paris derives a huge revenue from the sale of dolls' dresses.

Three hundred and fifty Hebrews are officers in the French army.

From Puy de Dome, an extinct volcano in France, carbonic acid is produced for commercial purposes.

Sixty persons in France annually die of snake bite. Six cents is paid for the head of a viper, and there are men who make their living by killing snakes. In a single department 300,000 vipers were killed in twenty-seven years.

Captain Humbert, a French deputy, complains of the excessive number of officers attached to colonial troops. He says that the artillery of the colonial corps could on mobilization turn out eight four-gun batteries, which would be commanded by eight generals, eighteen colonels, twenty-six lieutenant colonels and eighty-five commandants, to say nothing of mere captains and lieutenants.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

There is apparent a decided tendency toward the semitailored rather than the strictly tailored costume.

Lingerie waists are showing a great deal of better colored lace in their construction, and very often it is used in connection with pure white.

The fancy for wash gowns, strong as it is, does not seem to have diminished the vogue of the separate blouse, which has taken unto itself new scope and new beauty.

For morning wear there is nothing prettier or more generally satisfactory than percale. It has all of the wearing and laundering qualities of linen and is much less expensive.

Indications of the return of the tunic grow daily more significant, and, although as yet it is only suggested by the decoration, the suggestions are strong enough to insure a more pronounced effect in the fall, when heavier fabrics come into use.—New York Post.

Helping the Town . . .

By banking your money in a bank in your own community you increase the community's power to do business. If substantial farmers want to borrow money there is more to loan them. If you bank your money away from home it is loaned to other farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Help your home people. Money hidden at home helps no one. Placed in a bank it is put to work in ways that help all.

The First National Bank of Klamath Falls

Is a good bank to put your money in—safe and reliable.

A Savings Account . . .

In a rainy day fund, a life insurance policy, a sick benefit, a funeral benefit, and an old age pension. There is no forfeiture clause in the passbook, and it is under the owner's control at all times. It will tide him over sickness; it will care for his family when he must go; it will see him through old age; and bury him when he dies. It is a simple business proposition. Begin early, and keep it up, and, like money in the desert, it will supply him as he journeys.

Now is the time to open an account with the
