COMING TO KLAMATH FALLS

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR WILL VISIT THIS PROJECT

Combining Business With Pleasure, the Cabinet Officer Makes This Inspection Tour

Secretary of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger will arrive in Portland next Monday. The secretary will remain in Portland until Tuesday evening, when he will start for Klamath Falls on his southern tour of inspection.

The itinerary of the secretary was so arranged as to give Portland two days of his time at the special request of prominent citizens.

Secretary Ballinger is in the West to escape the hot weather at Washington, as well as to recuperate from the strenuous days and nights spent in routing the Glavis-Pinchot forces in the investigation of the charges concerning the Cunningham coal land claims of Alaska. He is now in Seattle.

Mr. Ballinger will utilize the remainder of the summer months in an examination of the various reclamation projects now building in the West.

At Klamath Falls it is expected that he will look over the project in view of ascertaining what effort has been made to satisfy the complaints of the water users, who were complaining bitterly of mismanagement of the scheme. It has been charged that the expense of securing water for the lands has largely exceeded the estimates. Evidence was submitted last year upon the occasion of the visit of the senatorial committee.

Chief Engineer A. P. Davis of the reclamation service and E. G. Hopson, in charge of the Oregon work, are at this time making an inspection of the Klamath project, and had intended going on to Hazen, Nev., on a similar mission. It is probable that they will alter their plans and return to Portland to accompany Mr. Ballinger.

Chief of the Field Service Sharp, who was recently appointed to the Portland division as the successor of A. Christensen, had not been advised that Secretary Ballinger contemplated a visit to Portland, and said that he did not believe that Mr. Ballinger was in the West for any other purpose than to visit the big irrigation schemes.

BABE PLUNGES THREE STORIES AND SMILES

LONG BEACH, July 28.—Little Margaret Porchere fell out of a third story window of a hotel, turned several somersaults and landed on the lawn.

She got up and brushed her mussed up frock, smiled sweetly to persons rushing to her aid. She was apparently not injured in the slightest. The child, who is the daughter of Lieutenant Porchere of the revenue cutter Manning, is 4 years old. She had climbed upon the window sill when the screen gave way, and she fell out backwards.

The watch of modern times. Ever good; better now. I have it; the new 21-jwls., 16 size. The price is $75. I'd be pleased to show it's merits.

WILL REBUKE FOR GIRL

SENATOR GORMAN'S DAUGHTER PUNISHED FOR ELOPEMENT

Wife of Marine, Who Displeased Family, Gets Only Income From Estate of Maryland Statesman

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Because she eloped with a marine, Ada Gorman Magness, eldest and favorite daughter of the late Senator Arthur Pue Gorman, of Maryland, is cut off with only an income interest in the million-dollar estate of the family, through the will of the senator's widow, Mrs. Hannah D. Gorman, filed in the probate court yesterday.

The realty, situated in Washington, is left in trust, to be managed by the executors for ten years, during which period each of the six children, including Mrs. Magness, is to receive a sixth of the income. Ten years hence the estate is to be sold and the proceeds divided into six parts, five of which go to the other children absolutely, but the other sixth is left in trust to the National Savings and Trust company of this city, and tied up so tightly that Charles J. Magness, with whom Miss Gorman eloped, cannot share in it.

Twice every year until her death Mrs. Magness is to receive the net income from the trust company, or it may be used at the company's discretion for the maintenance and support of Mrs. Magness. The will provides that she may not assign any of it to her husband. If she leaves any children the principal and income go absolutely to her children, but if she dies without issue, the principal is to go to the other five children, so as to keep it away from the sailor husband.

As to the estate in Maryland and the $612,000 block of stocks and bonds belonging to the senator's estate, the seventh left to Mrs. Magness is to be held in trust upon the same conditions as her sixth of the senator's Washington realty.

Ada Gorman met Magness, who was a marine on the president's yacht Mayflower, while he was a cornetist at the fashionable Garfield memorial church on Vermont avenue. First he was a sort of protege, then her fondness became platonic, and finally he deserted from the navy to elope with her.

They were discovered in Kentucky. Magness was arrested and shipped off to Boston for trial. His young wife pleaded with President Roosevelt and Secretary Newberry to pardon Magness, but they refused, and the sailor sweetheart served out his time at Portsmouth, being released about a year ago for good behavior. Since then they have been living in Washington. The Gorman family never forgave her.

Every Oxford in the store reduced.

Youth

I was started on a train of reflection when I saw him devouring her with his eyes.

"If he knew how she disagrees with people," I mused, "would he Fletcherize her more?"

Probably not. I had to confess that deliberation is not the character of unthinking youth.—Puck.

EXCURSION SUNDAY

A number of former citizens of Colorado have made arrangements for an excursion to Rocky Point on the steamer Winema next Sunday, and it is expected that a large number will be on hand to take the trip. It will be an old fashioned basket picnic, and if everyone who goes does not have a jolly time it will be because he is too ill-natured to be happy anywhere.
