FOR A MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE

COMMITTEE FROM SPRAGUE POST
G. A. R. EXTENDS AN INVITA-TION TO ALL TO TAKE PART IN THE EXERCISES

To the Good People of Klamath County—The undersigned, committee of arrangements appointed by F. B.
Sprague Post No. 26, Grand Army of the Republic, in view of the near approach of the day annually set apart for a suitable commemoration of the struggles and sacrifices of the soldiers of the Republic in saving the nation from impending dissolution, and in memory of those who lost their lives in that awful conflict, beg leave to address a few words to you regarding what we deem a fit observance of that solemn service.

While it has been a well established custom of the Grand Army to yearly pay a tribute of respect and fraternal regard to the memory of our comrades who have preceded us to the Great Beyond, by formally decorating their graves with flowers, it is no less true that the great body of citizens, regardless of party or condition, imbued with a love of country which only awaits the country's necessities for proof of its existence, are ready to join with us in commemoration of these hallowed ceremonies. It therefore affords us great pleasure and profound satisfaction to extend a heartily invitation to one and all to stingily observe this occasion on the 30th of the present month, and we venture to extend a special invitation to all of those who have borne arms in behalf of their country, including the soldiers of Indian Wars, veterans of the Spanish-American War, and, if there be any in the country, of the Mexican War, and in a spirit of broad patriotism, and in recognition of a complete restoration of the Union for which we fought, we also invite the veteran members of the late Confederate army who live in our midst, and whose daily life gives evidence of devotion to the welfare of our beloved country. We hope, too, that the members of the rising generation—the children of the public schools—the future hope of the nation—will without exception take zealous pleasure in participating in these ceremonies.

In extending this invitation to the public it is a great pleasure to be assured that our sisters, wives and daughters of the Relief Corps, who are in hearty accord with us, and are rendering every possible assistance in promoting the success of the movement now on foot to make the observance of the custom memorable.
Respectfully submitted,
O. A. STARNES,
E. B. RAMSBY,
C. W. SHERMAN, Jr.,
Committee.

CURING CATARRH.

Accept Our Advice and Try This Remedy at Our Risk.
Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membrane. The mucous membrane in one may say, the interior lining of the body. Catarrh therefore may exist in any part of the system.
When the catarrhal poison attacks the mucous membrane, inflammation and congestion are produced and nature fails to throw off the accumulated poisons. The organs which have been afflicted cease to perform their proper function as nature intended it should.
The result is, complication upon complication, which may lead to other even more serious afflictions.
We honestly believe Rosall Muri-Tone will do wonders toward overcoming catarrh. It is made from the prescription of an eminent physician who made a long study of catarrh, and his great success with this remedy was an enviable one.
We want you if you are a sufferer from catarrh in any form, to give Rosall Muri-Tone a thorough trial.
Use it with regularity and persistently for a reasonable time, then if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every cent you paid us. This is certainly the safest offer that any one could make and should attract our attention of purpose. It costs in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at—The Rosall Store

AFTER SOLFERINO.

"The Gentleman in White" and the idea of the Red Cross.
During the Italian war of 1859 young Jean Dunant was traveling in that country. After the battle of Solferino he visited the field, and, seeing the terrible sufferings of the wounded soldiers who lay around unattended, he, with the assistance of several peasant women, formed an ambulance service, with its headquarters in a little church at Castiglione. He helped with his own hands to bind up the wounds of Frenchmen, Italians and Austrians alike.
"They are all brothers," he said. "A wounded enemy is an enemy no longer."
And he and his corps of helpers brought water and medicine and smoothed the pillows of straw and cheered the unfortunate and closed the eyes of the dead and performed the last kind offices for the dying.
Dunant was regarded by the hundreds of wounded as a miracle of goodness—little less than an angel. "The gentleman in white" was the way in which the officers spoke of him as he moved around among the sick, his light clothing making him conspicuous on the field.
His experiences at Solferino, where he saw that the willing hands of a few untrained helpers actually saved many lives and comforted hundreds of others, inspired him with the grand idea of an organization—the Red Cross.

COSTLY DROP CURTAIN.
The One Melonier Didn't Paint For a French Theater.
The enterprising manager of a theater called upon the famous French artist Jean Louis Ernest Melonier on one occasion and asked him to paint a drop scene for a certain theater and name his own terms.
"You have seen my pictures, then?" asked Melonier.
"Oh, yes," exclaimed the manager, "but it is your name I want! It will draw crowds to my theater."
"And how large do you wish this curtain to be?" inquired the artist.
"Ah, well, we will say 15 by 18 meters."
Melonier took up a pencil and proceeded to make a calculation. At last he looked up and said, with imperturable gravity:
"I have calculated and find that my pictures are valued at 80,000 francs per meter. Your curtain, therefore, will cost you just 21,600,000 francs.
But that is not all. It takes me twelve months to paint twenty-five centimeters of canvas. It will therefore take me just 120 years to finish your curtain. You should have come to me earlier, monsieur. I am too old for the undertaking now. Good morning."

Arabic Numerals.
An illustration of what mankind owes to the labor saving Arabic numerals compared with preceding forms of notation is shown in adding 1948 to 1264, the sum of which is expressed in only four figures, or 3212. Meanwhile in Roman characters we would have to denote 1264 with the capital letter: MDCCCLXIV. Repeating these letters explains why Cicero complained of the sweating toil of all addition.
On that account Homer's total of Agamemnon's fleet is not the correct sum of the different contingents to it which he gives of the Grecian sates.
Horatius is worse yet when he gives the total figure of Kerzer's army after enumerating the quota of the various nationalities which composed it. Likewise what a life insurance company would now do without Arabic numerals may be imagined.—Dr. William Hanna Thomson is Designer.

How Machinery Breathers.
An English writer on engineering subjects, Morry O'Gorman, calls attention to the fact that a piece of machinery, such as an automobile, laid aside after being used in a dangerous internal rusting through a kind of respiration which affects cylinders, gear boxes, clutch chambers, intercooler in hull bearings, and so forth. Every inclosed air space "breathes" by drawing in air when a fall of temperature contracts its walls and expelling it when the walls expand through heat.
The moisture introduced with the air is deposited in the cavities and may produce serious damage through rust.
The popular belief that oil will prevent the inaccessible parts of unused machinery is fallacious, since nearly all oils take up about 5 per cent of water in solution.

Acts of the Apostles.
The weight of testimony is in favor of St. Luke as the author of the Acts of the Apostles, though some respectable critics claim that the authorship is quite unknown. There are no sure data for determining the date of the Acts. Various dates have been ascribed. Some think that it was written about the year 50, while others hold that it could not have been written before the second century, about

A Hard Stunt.
"A man can do almost anything when he discovers that he must."
"Have you ever felt that you must get upstairs at 2 a. m. without waking your wife?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Sensitive Child.
"Babe, Babe—do this is the baby, eh?
I want to look just like him at that age. What's he crying about now?"
"Babe, Babe—Oh, Babe, Babe, he heard what you said."—Chicago News.
