

FIGHT STILL RAGES OPPOSITE ELPASO

NEITHER SIDE WINS

WHILE REBELS HAVE ENTERED CITY, THEY HAVE NOT DRIVEN OUT ALL OF THE FEDERAL TROOPS UP TO THIS TIME

United Press Service
EL PASO, Texas, May 9.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon General Garibaldi made a final demand for the surrender of Jaures to Colonel Tolmbov. The rebels have surrounded the church and jail. Bullets are falling in El Paso this afternoon.

United Press Service
EL PASO, Texas, May 9.—At 5 o'clock this morning the insurgents practically controlled Jaures. The attack continued without interruption from 4 o'clock. The federal cannons were silenced and the federal cavalry retired toward Rancho Flores, twelve miles from the city. Some of the federal infantry remain in Jaures, fighting desperately, but unequally, from behind barricades.

Reports that Madero is wounded are unfounded, as he is not on the list of the dead or wounded.

At 11 o'clock the result of the fighting at Jaures was still undecided. Hundreds of rebels swarmed the city, storming the barricades and digging trenches in the streets. The federalists still hold the jail, main custom house and cathedral. Some federal guns are mounted on the jail. The rebels are in the streets and Cowboy park, which the rebels captured this morning.

Final exodus from Jaures began this morning when it appeared that the city would be wrecked by cannon fire. Thousands of women and children, pale stricken, rushed to the international bridge and crossed the river. It is estimated semi-officially that from 300 to 400 are killed and wounded on both sides. The city's gambling rooms are filled with the wounded and the dead are lying in the streets.

General Garibaldi's forces, including many Americans, have exhausted their ammunition, and were forced to retreat until the stock could be replenished. Garibaldi declares that only one American in his force has been slain, a man named Kelly.

ROSEBURG PRISONER ALSO BOMB ARTIST

ROSEBURG, May 9.—That Joseph Corio, who is being held at the county jail on a charge of burglary, is a desperate character is the belief of Sheriff Quine and his deputies. Other than a number of saws, files and other implements known to "yeggmen" the others have unearthed a bomb, filled to its capacity with nitro-glycerine and in readiness for action.

The treacherous weapon belongs to Corio, who prides himself as being an experienced man in handling explosives.

Corio is being closely watched, and aside from being anchored with a ball and chain, has been warned

Wealthier Spaniards Are Becoming Alarmed Concerning Nation's Future

MADRID (via Hendayo), May 9.—Alarm concerning Spain's political future has reached a point where, after transferring as much of their investments as possible abroad, the wealthier class of people are getting their own persons and their families out of the country as fast as they can. In the larger cities, like Madrid, Barcelona and Seville, hardly any are left of the so-called "best people," and the effect of their disappearance is being severely felt in business circles.

against future attempts to gain his liberty. Notwithstanding this, however, he avers that he will break jail before he can be brought before the grand jury.

Sheriff Quine has decided to place a heavy guard over the prisoners until such time as their cases are called for trial, believing, no doubt, that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

SEEK BAIL FOR JOHN McNAMARA

ATTORNEYS FOR BOTH SIDES WILL CONFER WITH JUDGE BORDWELL ON THE MATTER—MUCH MYSTERY

United Press Service
LOS ANGELES, May 9.—No action will be taken in regard to the McNamara until tomorrow, when District Attorney Fredericks, Judge Bordwell and Attorney Harriman will confer to determine the amount of bail John McNamara will have to offer if freed of the Lewellyn dynamiting charge.

Much speculation as to why the defense wants bail set for the dynamiting while a murder charge also hangs over the prisoner. Attorneys for the defense refuse to explain this. Detective Burns, Attorney Darrow and Mrs. McNamara are expected this week.

MAN OF 58 SUES WIFE FOR "SPENDING MONEY"

SEATTLE, Wash., May 6.—Charging that his wife, aged 65, has squandered all their community property, collected the rent, keeps the money and has forced him to wear the same suit of clothes for four years, Joseph Cox, 58, has filed suit for living money and a division of property. Cox says he is penniless, while his wife has $258 in a bank and has the tenants of a $6,000 house so "hoodooed" that they will pay rent only to her. He says he put half of the original investment into the property.

EFFICIENT MAN NAMED AS MANAGER OF BAND

At a business meeting of the members of the Klamath Falls Military band held last night, Elmer E. Johnson of the Johnson-Collins realty company was chosen as manager of the musical organization. Hereafter the affairs of the band will rest in the hands of Mr. Johnson.

Johnson is the tall gentleman who manipulates the trombone in a manner that caused many persons attending the concert last Friday evening to inquire, "Who is the solo trombonist? Isn't he grand?" In addition to being an exceptionally good musician, Mr. Johnson is also a capable business man, and the members of the band have every confidence in his judgment. There is no man in the entire band who has its interests more at heart, and it is safe to say that he will put himself out greatly if necessary to further the band's interests.

M'NAMARA IS DENIED BAIL

JUDGE BORDWELL DENIES THE APPLICATION MADE BY ATTORNEY HARRIMAN FOR THE ACCUSED SECRETARY

United Press Service.
LOS ANGELES, May 9.—The attempts of Attorney Harriman for the defense to have John McNamara's bail fixed on the charge of dynamiting the Lewellyn iron works failed today. Harriman's bail application was disallowed with prejudice.

The proceedings were before Judge Bordwell, and District Attorney Fredericks represented the state. Attorney Harriman said that a bail admission is the inalienable right of every defendant who is not charged with an unbalable offense. It made no difference, he said, if the client was charged with murder and nineteen other counts in connection with the Times dynamiting. He asked that the bail be fixed at a reasonable amount, as there was small probability of McNamara's being released, owing to the murder charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kimball returned to Klamath Falls today from Lakeview, where for the past few weeks Mr. Kimball has been attending to the business interests of the Weyerhaeuser Timber company, which corporation he represents. The trip to this city was made on horseback, and neither Mr. or Mrs. Kimball seem a bit the worse for their long ride.

He was shot through the heart. Near the body was a pistol with one cartridge exploded. Italians here are much frightened, and say the Black Hand is responsible for the crime.

"HANDS-OFF" POLICY

United Press Service.
WASHINGTON, May 9.—The cabinet today discussed the Mexican situation. The White House gets duplicates of the telegrams received by the war department, and the administration is determined upon a "hands off" policy. The United States will continue its efforts to keep Americans away from the border.

FISH COMMISSION WILL VISIT HERE

STONE SAYS THE SPRING CREEK HATCHERY WILL THEN BE TAKEN UP IN EARNEST BY THE STATE GAME COMMISSION

Charles F. Stone, Southern Oregon's representative on the state fish and game commission, arrived here last night from Salem, where he went to attend the first meeting of the commission. While the law creating the commission does not go into effect just yet, the four commissioners already selected, chose the fifth member, and outlined some of their plans.

The member selected was George W. Kelly of Eugene, formerly of the Booth-Kelly Lumber company. Mr. Kelly is an ardent sportsman, and he will give particular attention to the interests of the China pheasants, quail and other game birds living in the territory between Medford and Salem.

The stories of the hunting prowess of our own Mr. Stone must have crept out of Klamath Falls, all right, for the other members of the commission were unanimously in favor of assigning to him the work of looking after the interests and protection of all the big game in the state. It is needless to say that this kind of sportsmanship will flourish under his supervision.

The question of how to handle the fishing interests was settled by naming two men; one to look after the sportsmen's end, the other to look after the commercial end. C. K. Cranston of Pendleton, who is well known in this city, will look after the trout and other game fish, and M. L. Kinney of Portland will look after salmon, halibut and other commercial fish. These two men were collared by Stone, who told them of the need for a hatchery here, and as a result the entire commission will be here either in June or July to confer with the members of the Rod and Gun Club in regard to the matter.

William L. Finley of Jennings Lodge, president of the Oregon Audubon society, and the state's foremost ornithologist, is the "scientific member" of the commission, and on account of his thorough knowledge of bird lore, he is the popular choice for president of the commission.

Will Take a Trip East
Mr. and Mrs. Burge W. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mason will leave Friday for an extended trip through the East. The former will visit friends at Kansas City, while the latter will stop some time in Chicago. During the absence of Burge Mason Donald Worden, son of County Judge

Worden, will have charge of the office and act as secretary for his grandfather, Major Worden.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Jacobs and family have returned to this city from Alameda and other California cities, where they spent the winter. They will remain here during the summer months.

LANE COUNTY BOYS STEAL HORSES; CAUGHT

MORO, Ore., May 9.—Two boys, aged about 18, whose parents are living in the Willamette Valley north of Eugene, stole two saddle horses from a barn near Dufur, where they slept the other night.

They were caught by Sheriff J. C. Freeman the next afternoon three miles west of Moro. They had ridden the horses over forty miles while in their possession.

PASTOR TRIES MOVING PICTURES ON CONGREGATION

SEATTLE, May 9.—Rev. Sidney Strong, pastor of Queen Anne Congregational church, believes the moving picture can be made a strong factor in religious education, and in carrying out this experiment will exhibit five films, showing the "Life of Moses."

"Come and See the Story" is the invitation announcement, and the pastor believes the innovation will prove very successful, in that pictures of biblical scenes will appeal more strongly than presentation by speech. Interest in the pictures is so great that the minister has decided to give two performances, the first for children and the later service for adults.

COMPELS FATHER TO SUPPORT SON

O. A. STEARNS APPOINTED GUARDIAN OVER JOHNNIE AMOS BY THE JUVENILE COURT OFFICER TODAY.

Upon complaint made by residents of the West Side that William Amos has failed to support his son, Johnnie, whose mother is dead, and that on account of his habits he was not the proper person to care for the youngster, Amos was brought before the juvenile court this afternoon.

Judge Worden, after hearing the case, awarded the custody of Johnnie to O. A. Stearns until further order of the court, and also ordered the father to contribute $25 a month toward the support of the lad.

John V. Houston has returned to this city from San Francisco, where he spent a week attending to business matters. While away Mr. Houston ordered some up-to-date pool and billiard supplies, and upon their arrival he will convert the place known as the Central bar into a first class billiard and pool parlor.

J. H. Korkan, a South Bend, Wash., resident, is here looking around, and he may decide to locate in Klamath county.

BULLETS INJURE MOTHER AND SON

United Press Service

It is being reported that Captain Linderfelt, commanding the Americans who attacked the Jaures bull ring last night, has been killed. Insurgent reinforcements are reported on route from Ojinaga. The federalists are also expecting reinforcements.

Promptly at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. They have purchased horses and clothing here.

Leaving here they will go north by way of Ashland, and it is the intention of the pair to call at the newspaper offices in every town they visit and report their progress. Their final report will be made at the Oregonian office in Portland.

TRACK LAYING ON NATRON END PROGRESSING NICELY

Work of laying track on the Natron extension has been resumed from a point two miles above Lowell to the Hills place about six miles farther up the line. It will probably take ten days or two weeks to finish up this ten miles, and the work will then have to stop until a big cut is completed, which is going on as fast as the contractors can get it done.

Freight shipments are now going up as far as Lowell on the construction train.—Eugene Register.

High Cost of Living Responsible For Much Rioting Around Rome

United Press Service
ROME, May 9.—"Dear food" demonstrations are becoming very serious in Rome. Hardly a day passes without one or more of them, and many are on a tremendous scale. They are also growing more violent. Clashes between the demonstrators and the police occur frequently and indications are that serious riots are likely to result soon. Conditions are more or less the same throughout Italy, but in Rome, where prices are at their highest, they are worst.

It is a fact that, following a 40 per cent rise in the cost of living in the last five years, the recently inaugurated Italian jubilee celebration has sent prices in the capital up another 20 per cent. To meet these higher prices there has been an average increase in wages in the same five years of only 5 per cent.

AFTER BLAZING AWAY ACROSS BULL RING, THE INSURRECTORS WALK IN AND TAKE CHARGE OF THE TOWN

United Press Service
SAN DIEGO, May 9.—The insurgents renewed their attack on Tia Juana at 4 o'clock this morning, and at 7 o'clock they had the city practically captured. Fierce fighting was then taking place in the city's bull ring, the rebels in one corner and the federalists in another, while the bullets were steadily singeing across the smoke-filled ring.

Several buildings, including the bull ring, were in flames when the rebels marched into Tia Juana. The federalists came out of their houses and surrendered, while some of them made their way through the brush in an effort to escape. A dozen dead were lying in the streets of Tia Juana.

General Bliss ordered fifty men and two officers from Lakeside to reinforce Wilcox in keeping order along the border. After the battle it was estimated that only about ten men were killed, and the number of wounded was placed at about twenty.

Go to the Iris theater tonight and enjoy a program of pictures that are not repeated—pictures that you have never seen before.

WOULD RAISE HALF A MILLION FOR DEFENSE

United Press Service
WASHINGTON, May 9.—The American Federation of Labor has appealed to the country's union men for a half million dollars for the defense of John McNamara. The appeal declares that behind the prosecution "stands a detective agency without scruples, which would unhesitatingly manufacture evidence at the behest of the National Erectors' association, a part of one of the greatest corporations of the country, with millions of wealth and power, all allied against the cause of labor."
