LOUISIANA WILL REGAIN TREASURE

THE ORDINANCE OF SECESSION DRAWN UP BY THAT STATE MAY BE RETURNED BY THE WAR DEPARTMENT

United Press Service WASHINGTON, May 27.—After nearly fifty years in the archives of the war department, it now seems probable that the ordinance of secession passed by the state of Louisiana will be returned to that state. A resolution introduced by Senator Foster providing for its return has been favorably reported to the senate, and its passage is expected.

The suggestion for its return was made by the war department officials. They saw no reason for its retention among the war department records, though they lacked authority to return it to Louisiana. Their suggestion was warmly received in Louisiana, and for several years efforts have been made to enact legislation for its return. Thus far Senator Heyburn, noted for waving the "bloody shirt" in the senate on similar questions, has blocked action upon the resolution by raising a point of order. There is reason to believe, however, that his opposition will be rendered ineffectual at this session.

The document was enacted in convention at Baton Rouge on January 25, 1862. It remained at the state capitol until the capture of the city by federal troops. At the war department there is now no one who is familiar with the history of its receipt in Washington. During the federal occupation of Louisiana there were many records shipped to Washington, and it is presumed that the ordinance of secession was among them.

The Louisiana ordinance is unusual in that it is done in both English and French, in parallel columns. Out of the 121 names signed to it, nearly half are plainly French in their derivation. The document has been kept rolled up in a metal case since its seizure, and as a result the parchment is showing signs of cracking. The signatures near the bottom are fast fading, and are scarcely legible. A curious feature is that the document is undated. The signatures include those of A. Mouton, president of the convention.

The whole argument upon which the Southern states based their claim of the right of a state to secede is found in one word in the Louisiana ordinance. This word is "compact," by which the document of secession characterizes the federal constitution. The Northern view, coming down from the old federal party, was that the constitution was a contract, from which no party could withdraw, rather than a temporary agreement, to be terminated upon the desire of any party to do so. The text of the ordinance was as follows:

"An ordinance to dissolve the union between the state of Louisiana and other states in the United States of America with her, under the compact entitled the Constitution of the United States of America. "We, the people of the state of Louisiana, in convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained "That the ordinance passed by us in convention of November 11, 1811, whereby the Constitution of the United States and the amendments to the Constitution were adopted, and all laws and ordinances by which the state of Louisiana became a member of the Federal Union, be and the same hereby are repealed and abrogated, and that the Union now subsisting between Louisiana and the other states under the name of the United States of America is hereby dissolved.

"We do further declare and ordain "That the state of Louisiana hereby resumes all rights and powers heretofore delegated to the government of the United States; that her citizens are absolved from all allegiance to said government; and that she is in full possession of all those rights of sovereignty which appertain to a free and independent state. "We do further declare and ordain "That all rights acquired and vested under the Constitution of the United States or any act of congress or treaty, or under any laws of this state and not incompatible with this ordinance shall remain in force and have the same effect as if this ordinance had not been passed."

Those who are expecting to enroll in Summer school should be on hand promptly at 8:30 o'clock next Monday morning. Enrollment will take place at that time, and a program will be arranged. Those who cannot possibly be on hand at that time will be enrolled later, but each will find it to his advantage at the time of the initial enrollment.

SAYS CEMETERY SHOULD BE CLEAN

GRAND ARMY COMMITTEE SUGGESTS THAT ALL GET OUT AND WORK WITH A WILL FOR THE IMPROVEMENT

Editor Herald: Decoration Day is near at hand, and nothing as yet done to make the cemetery at least decently clean, in order that the observance of the solemn ceremonies of the Grand Army of the Republic and Women's Relief Corps may be fittingly observed without shocking the sensibilities of all those who may not have become familiar with the lack of respect for the dead that characterizes this community.

That the condition of the public burial place is a shame and a reproach to a community that pretends to be civilized, goes without saying, and the only wonder is that any one consents to cast their lot with a people who treat their dead much like the savages.

Cannot the people of this town awake to a sense of shame, and resolve to make an honest effort to retrieve themselves from the odium of selfishness and neglect that the condition of our cemetery seems to warrant, and contribute either money or work, an amount they would spend almost any evening to see a picture show, a boxing bout, or a theatrical performance, to a fund to be applied to the cleaning up of the public cemetery?

DECORATION COMMITTEE.

SOME MAIL MAY BE SENT OUT BY EXPRESS

Since the discontinuance of the mail service on trains 39 and 40, it is probable that arrangements will be made by the department to have two sacks of mail, one for the north and one for the south, taken from here to Wood by express. The advice of Postmaster Emmitt has been asked on the matter, and he will recommend that it be done.

This would enable the mail arriving here in the evening from Lakeview, Merrill, Fort Klamath and the northern part of the county, to be sent out of here in the morning, instead of laying over until late in the afternoon. In addition to the county mail which arrives here by stage, after the evening train has departed, it is stated that the greater portion of the outgoing city mail is posted in the evening.

SHERWOOD AND CANNON NOW AT SWORDS' POINTS

United Press Service WASHINGTON, May 27.—Pointing to Cannon, Congressman Sherwood of Ohio in the house yesterday declared that he could prove that Cannon as speaker smothered Sherwood's dollar-a-day pension bill. Sherwood and Cannon sit close together, and Cannon leaped to his feet, shook his fist in Sherwood's face and shouted: "I now look you in the eye and say you tell an untruth in that statement."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The commencement exercises begin with the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning by Rev. Hilton. The services will be held in the high school auditorium. The Junior class has planned some beautiful decorations for the occasion.

School closed Friday with a long and enthusiastic assembly. Speeches were made by members of the faculty. Mr. Wirtz was called upon for a piano solo, and responded in his usual pleasing manner, and the "yell squad" gave voice to the enthusiasm of the student body.

The faculty has finished making out the grade cards, and will pass them out to the students Wednesday afternoon at the class day exercises.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

Secretary of War Dickinson, recently resigned, who is a close student of Civil War history, was commenting the other day on the fact that during the first year of the war no less than 40 per cent of the Confederate commanders were northern-born men.

One might say that the day of the "Tennis Cabinet" had returned, but for the fact that the sessions on the tennis court back of the executive offices lack the presence of the occupant of the White House. Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Assistant Secretary Beekman Winthrop and Ambassador Jusserand are the most regular attendants.

More callers are received each day by Major General Leonard Wood, the chief of staff, U. S. A., than by any man in the government service with the exception of the president. They keep the general so busy that he has formed the habit of doing without lunch, and contents himself with an apple or two eaten at his desk.

Representative Swagar Sherley (dem., Ky.) has the niftiest sume-outfit of any of the representatives. It is a white linen suit, which the Kentuckian wears with white shoes, white socks, white necktie and a white hat with a white band.

Governor Chase Osborn of Michigan, here recently, complained that congressional enactments showed "too much lawyer spirit." He said that nearly three-fourths of the members are lawyers, and asserted there would be better laws if the other professions were represented more adequately.
