OREGON STATE NEWS

Special to The Herald.

PORTLAND May 29.—Portland will be pretty much given up to its Rose Festival for the next ten days. Business affairs will be relegated to the background quite generally, and the queen flower will rule with undisputed sway.

This year's spectacle promises to set a new mark, with better displays, more gorgeous pageants and better decorations of city streets and buildings than ever before. Other Oregon cities will participate to a larger extent than formerly and out-of-town people have announced their intention of coming in large numbers.

The city delegation will distract attention to some extent from the Festival on June 5th, opening day, but with that out of the way the remainder of the week will be given up to enjoyment. Portland rose gardens promise to produce a wealth of perfect blooms next week.

Members of the Esperanto Association of the Pacific Northwest will gather at the Portland Commercial Club for a grand rally July 19-21. A big attendance is expected from Oregon and Washington particularly, while other states will be well represented. The association is now one year old. At least twenty-five of the leading cities of this state will have regular Esperanto classes. On June 4, local Esperantists will hold a picnic at Tualatin.

A systematic campaign for German immigrants has been outlined by the Commercial Club, acting with the German speaking societies of Oregon. A conference on the subject was held recently, and in future more attention will be paid to securing this immigration.

Dayton has been presented with historic Fort Sheridan by the government, and the old structure will be removed to the Dayton city park. The old blockhouse is an interesting relic of the days when the pioneers were subduing the wilderness.

Baker and Oregon City are two places that will have postal savings banks, such institutions already started in this state having proved highly successful. The postmaster general has designated these cities as depositories, and they will begin operations at once.

Oregon's importance as a fruit-growing state can be better understood from the figures in the biennial report of the Oregon State Board of Horticulture, lately issued. President W. K. Nevill places the total valuation of last year's fruit crop at $6,662,500. Apples lead the list with a value of $2,500,000, and dried prunes stand second in importance, with a value of $1,650,000.

An interurban railway from Baker through the Powder River Valley to Haines and North Powder is a project dear to the heart of the Baker Commercial Club, and efforts will be directed on work to bring about this scheme during the coming few months. The projected line would open up a remarkably fertile country, as well as give access to much timber wealth.
