

WICKERSHAM IS PRO PATRIA

ATTORNEY GENERAL HAS TIME TO DEVOTE TO PRESERVATION OF HISTORIC LANDMARK WHEN NOT TRUST-BUSTING

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—In addition to dissolving trusts and performing other stern acts, Attorney General Wickersham has activities inspired by sentiment. Through his initiative the Braddock Rock, one of the historic landmarks of Washington, will be preserved from vandals. The rock is on the bank of the Potomac, and in the grounds of the naval hospital. It has been hacked by souvenir senders, and though once on level ground, it is now in a depression six feet deep.

The rock gets its name from the fact that it marks the landing place of General Braddock and his colonial force, which started there in 1755 for Fort Duquesne, now Pittsburgh, and was defeated by the Indians and French. George Washington was a member of Braddock's staff.

It later years it was the base mark for important surveys in the laying out of Washington. Even now, the attorney general says, it is an important point in connection with certain investigations which may lead to litigation to determine the right of the United States to lands bordering on the Potomac.

Wickersham gave the navy department a history of the rock in great detail, and as the result of the interest he aroused steps will be taken to insure the lasting preservation of the rock by building a solid iron fence around its resting place.

more money and property per capita than any other Indians in the United States.

There are no blanket Indians on the reservation. Their buildings are neat and well kept up, their fields and fences are in good order, and the whole reservation presents a most attractive view to settlers.

In my opinion a public meeting of the citizens of Klamath county should be called at once to formulate plans for having this reservation opened to settlement after allotments have been completed to the Indians.

If that were done there would be an immediate rush of very desirable settlers to Klamath county.

"The immediate result would be to insure the extension of the Oregon trunk line south and completion of the Natron branch of the Southern Pacific. Wherever there is settlement on a large scale, as would naturally follow the opening of the Klamath Indian reservation, a large tonnage immediately follows, and railroads become a necessity. The people need and must have the railroads, and the railroads must have the tonnage.

"In my opinion we should begin our movement for the opening of the reservation at once. We can then go to both the Hill and Harriman systems with confidence that railroad extension will speedily follow our effort. This plan is practical, and will cost us only our effort, which should be a united one."

GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT BEING WELL SUPPORTED

Special to The Herald

LAKEVIEW, Oct. 7.—The good roads movement finds some warm supporters in Lake county, where despite the most rigid economy the roads have been kept in much better shape than other portions of the state, yet unless there is some system of state-aid the thousands of miles of roads covering an area as large as the combined states of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Delaware, in sparsely settled communities cannot be looked after in a proper manner.

The lack of railroads in the entire Eastern Oregon country necessitates a system of roads that will reach the heart of sections that now are practically inaccessible to full loads.

Lake county claims the best roads in the state, despite the many drawbacks and comparatively small population.

IT IS LIKE SUMMER WAS WITH US AGAIN

WEATHER YESTERDAY AND TODAY OF MILDEN BRAND, KEEPING UP KLAMATH REPUTATION FOR ELEMENTS

It was considerably warmer yesterday and today than the early part of the week. The sun today was genial and bright, with enough heat to remind one of summer, and the weather generally was pretty much of the desirable order, for which the Klamath county climate is noted.

The high mark of the thermometer yesterday was 73 at 4 p. m., against 60 Thursday and 49 Wednesday. At 8 o'clock p. m. yesterday it was 48, against 42 the day prior and 38 Wednesday. The low last night was 40, at 4 a. m., against 32 yesterday and 31 Thursday. At 8 this a. m. it was 48, against 42 yesterday and 38 on Thursday. While there was a white frost night before last that even encouraged some boys to climb up Sixth street with a pair of skis, evidently in search of a sliding place, no such hope was held out last night.

SQUIRREL HUNTERS BACK WITH GOOD BAG OF GAME

A party of hunters consisting of Barney Chambers, proprietor of the Gun Store; A. Hardenbrook and Geo. Rudolph, returned this afternoon from a week's camp near Parker's station, where they went after squirrels. The hunters brought back twenty-six silver gray squirrels and one fine specimen of gray fox. The fox and about twelve of the squirrels will be mounted by J. W. Frey, the taxidermist, and used for decorating the interior of the Gun Store. The latter are all fine looking animals, a large number of them measuring 26 and 27 inches from nose to tip of tail.

Mr. Chambers states that there are plenty of cougar, bear and deer in the vicinity where they were hunting, which was about four miles this side of Pockegama. They also had all the fish they could eat while in camp. Barney says, however, he only made the trip to get a nice bunch of squirrels for his store, and that they did not pay any attention to other animals.

EDITORS PASS BACKHAND BOQUETS TO EACH OTHER

Special to The Herald

LAKEVIEW, Oct. 7.—The people of Lakeview are having a laugh at the expense of two of the owners of newspapers in other portions of the county in their throwing mud at each other. One of the aforesaid owners is the proprietor of a store, likewise his loving friend in the other town. The two papers act like a couple of boys that want the same girl, and the smiling on them through the picket fence. Many things are happening, and those familiar with the circumstances wonder who is going to do the spanking.

County Judge Will S. Worden, who took the trip to Bend to celebrate the advancement of Central Oregon, is expected back today in his gray car. The judge was accompanied by Mrs. Worden and C. T. Oliver, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.
